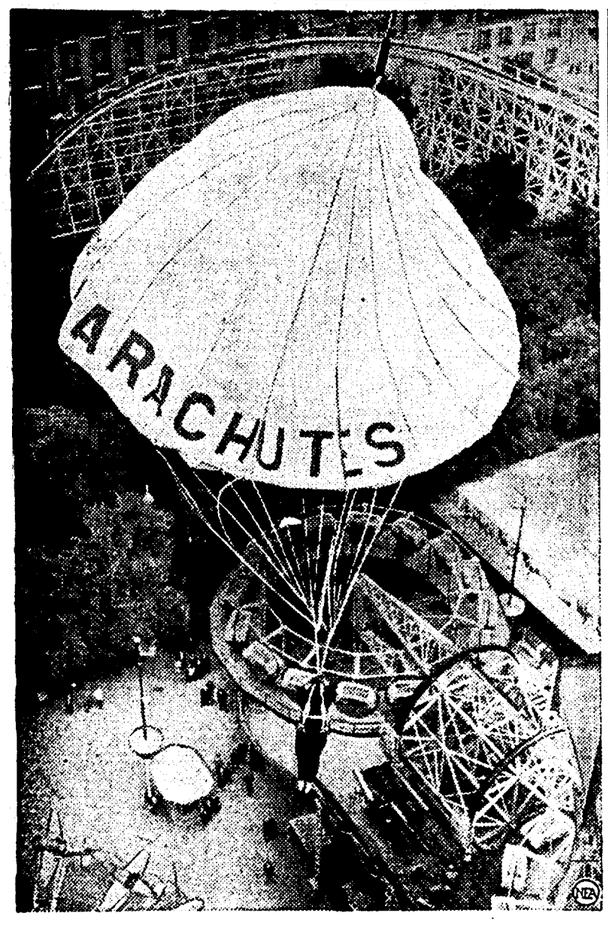
Plans Launched For Charity Hospital



Chute-the-chutes and roller coasters may hold few joys for bored thrill seekers, but they are certain to gasp in this latest ride-a-parachute jump at the Paris exposition. It's a long way down, as this photo from the tower shows, but it is perfectly safe—a cable slows descent and guarantees that the parachute will open.

BLOODY FIGHTING WAGES IN WIDELY SEPARATED AREAS IN SPANISH WAR

Thousands Of Casualties Reported In Communiques Of Conflicting Forces

LOYALIST DRIVE REPORTED TURNED BACK AT ZARAGOZA

Government Dispatches Claim Capture Of Zuera After Desperate Encounter

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Some of the bloodiest fighting of the Spanish war raged today on the widely separated Bay of Biscay and Aragon fronts. Communiques of both sides reported thousands of casualties.

An insurgent communique declared Franco's soldiers had thrown back a fierce attack by government infantry, aviation and artillery on Zaragoza, one of his most important bases, and nearby Zuera. It asserted the retreating government troops left 12,000 dead in Zuera alone.

Government dispatches, however, reported government troops had fought their way through the mountainous terrain and taken Zuera in spite of desperate resistance. Air and artillery bombardments took a terrible toll in insurgent ranks, they said.

Opening his drive to take Gijon, Bay of Biscay seaport in the small strip of government territory remaining in northern Spain, Franco's air force rained bombs on the city, government spokesmen announced.

They declared many civilians were killed and wounded. Gijon is about 90 miles west of Santander, which fell Wednesday after a 14-day insurgent offensive. The bombardment followed a government rejection of an insurgent ultimatum to surrender.

Four British freighters were struck in the attack on the Biscayan port.

The Stanbridge remained in port while the crew worked frantically to patch a hole along the waterline to enable her to proceed to France.

Three other freighters, the Stanwood, the African Trader and the Hilde Moler were also damaged by the bombardment. Under the escort of two British destroyers they were en route to La Plice, France.

The Hilde Moler was using her pumps to keep afloat. Bomb fragments injured two of her crew seriously.

With the situation apparently hopeless on the northern front, where more than 5,000 Basque militiamen laid down their arms, the Valencia government strove to drive insurgents back on the Aragon front at points south of Zaragoza and on the Teruel salient.

The offensive was particularly fierce as there were reports that Franco, with Santander taken, was preparing a drive against Valencia.

J. L. Keenan, Monroe Member Hospital Board, Makes Announcement

GROUP OF BUSINESS MEN ASKED TO GATHER DATA

Proposal Would Meet Demand For Needed Facilities In This Area

Assurance that Northeast Louisiana is to have a state charity hospital was given in an announcement made Saturday by J. L. Keenan, the Monroe member of the board, following a conference with J. E. Marx, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe, when the plans for the project were discussed.

Mr. Keenan, acting in his capacity as a member of the hospital board, asked President Marx to appoint a committee of chamber of commerce board members to investigate available sites for the hospital in this area and to submit a report as promptly as possible to the state hospital board. Instructions to the effect came from A. R. Johnson, chairman of the hospital board, who had expected to be present at the conference, but was detained on other imperative business.

President Marx immediately named a committee of leading business men to make the investigation of sites and

GUARANTY SOUGHT FOR COTTONSEED

Ellender Wires Delhi Mayor He Is Taking Matter Up With Commission

DELHI, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Senator Allen J. Ellender is working to secure a guarantee on the price of cottonseed, according to a telegram received today by Mayor J. B. Smith in which the senator stated that he has taken the proposition up with the federal trade commission and the department of agriculture.

The telegram, in response to a lengthy message signed by Mayor Smith asking that a guarantee be made which would break the cottonseed combine, said: "Am taking matter of seed price guaranty up with federal trade commission and department of agriculture to see what can be done on this years crop. It is our purpose to protect you in the next farm bill that is to be enacted by congress."

Mayor Smith has received several

Guy Alford Asks Authorities To Relieve Pollution Of Ouachita

COLUMBIA, La., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Guy Alford, a prominent business man of Columbia, appealed today to authorities to take steps to relieve a pollution of the Ouachita river in this section which he said is a cause of great annoyance.

He said the stench of dead fish and thick foam from poisonous chemical compound, due to the dynamiting of a huge pond dam at Monroe, La., several days ago was causing citizens in towns down the river to hold mass meetings of protest and to demand immediate action from the state department of conservation or other authorities.

A dam was dynamited by unidentified persons in the dead of night and chemical waste compound was released into the river at a premature stage.

Citizens expressed the opinion, Mr. Alford said, that these chemicals caused the death of marine life and created the objectionable situation.

"So many dead fish accumulated above the locks, six miles up the river from Columbia," Alford said, "that it was necessary to open the locks and let the fish into the river below.

"Below the locks, where the water is eddying, the surface of the river is covered with dead fish in front of Columbia. The Ouachita is as black as ink and the water is covered with a sheet of foam from six to eight inches thick."

Fortune Of Andrew Mellon Left To Charitable Trust

Huge Sum Will Be Used Exclusively 'To Promote Well-Being Of Man-Kind'

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon's personal fortune will go to a charitable trust under instructions that it be used exclusively "to promote the well-doing or well-being" of mankind.

Donald D. Shepard, the former secretary of treasury's attorney, disclosed the bequest tonight shortly after Mellon's funeral. He died Thursday night in Southampton, L. I.

Unofficial estimates of the estate vary from $75,000,000 upwards. Shepard said it was "extremely large." The Sun-Telegraph stated it might reach $200,000,000.

The brief summary of the will stated that with the exception of $180,000 for personal employes, and the household effects of the residence, the holdings of the late banker-industrialist would go to the A. W. Mellon educational and charitable trust.

"In explanation of his reason for making no bequests to his children, Mr. Mellon said they already had been adequately provided for," Shepard explained.

The hearing of Mellon's appeal from a $2,089,000 extra assessment on his income tax of 1931 disclosed the financier had given by 1934 more than $75,000,000 to a holding company owned by his son, Paul, and daughter, Mrs. David K. E. Bruce. These holdings, with additions, have market value today exceeding $300,000,000.

A spokesman for the family said the gift would mean there would be no federal inheritance tax. He said he believed the state law called for a 10 per cent levy. If the estate exceeded $50,000,000, inheritance taxes could

DANGEROUS POOL WILL BE DRAINED

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The DeSoto street pool, the scene of six drownings in recent years and also a breeding place for mosquitoes, will be drained and filled. This was announced at the city hall today following a conference between city and health officials a member of the jury, a representative of the fair grounds civic club and the owner of the property on which the pool is located.

The conference was held after Homer C. Bryant had pleaded guilty in the city court to charges of maintaining a nuisance and a mosquito breeding pool. A fine of $25 was imposed on Bryant but it was suspended upon the recommendation of Val Bird, acting assistant city attorney, with the understanding that Bryant cooperate in the movement to eliminate the menace to life and health.

ONE KILLED, SEVEN HURT IN HIGHWAY COLLISION

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Lonnie Moore King, about 65, Lewisville, Ark., was fatally injured, and seven other persons seriously hurt in a head-on collision between two automobiles on the Bradley highway two miles north of Plain Dealing about 4:30 p. m. today.

Mrs. King died en route to a hospital here. Her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Hearn, 30, of Lewisville, Ark., received a compound fracture of the left leg, a deep scalp wound and a laceration of the knee in the accident. Hospital attendants regarded her condition as serious. Both women were brought here by the Norton ambulance of Plain Dealing.

Nipponese Claim Smashing Victories In Campaign To Open N'west Highway

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Japan's great air bombers today carried the war into Nantao, old native city of Shanghai, and inflicted 600 civilian casualties in an area which had been relatively unscathed by the two-week battle for Shanghai.

Sixteen planes participated in a leisurely, thorough bombing of Nantao, strewing destruction through its narrow, crowded streets. Mayor O. K. Yui of greater Shanghai said 200 were killed, 400 wounded, all Chinese noncombatants.

Nantao is the old walled city that stood on the banks of the Whangpoo before the foreigners came 100 years ago to make Shanghai. Its walls were raised in the 16th century to keep out Japanese pirates. It lies just south of the French concession in which most Shanghai Americans have their homes.

The bombing of Nantao and renewal of savage fighting along the Whangpoo, Shanghai's outlet to the sea, brought the war and its perils to foreigners back to the gates of the international areas, which yesterday had enjoyed a day's respite.

Yesterday's lull was due to the fact that the bloodiest battle of the campaign was being fought along the southern banks of the Yangtze at least 12 miles from Shanghai, where the Chinese were battling desperately against the inland advance of new legions just landed from Japan.

But today Americans fleeing from Shanghai's perils again were under fire and the cruiser Augusta, flagship of the United States Asiatic fleet, had another narrow escape from shelling.

SIKES MAN DIES IN ROAD MISHAP

Three Others Seriously Hurt When Car Leaves Highway Near Chatham

One man was killed and three persons seriously injured late last night when an automobile in which they were riding plunged off a highway and crashed against a tree a short distance north of Chatham.

Charlie Lockwood, young Sikes man, was fatally injured.

Others in the car were W. R. Thompson of Sikes, Elizabeth Bertram and Eunice Cathey, both of Hodge.

The three survivors were brought here to the Riverside sanitarium, where the extent of their injuries was not immediately determined. It was possible that each of the three suffered grave internal injuries.

Miss Cathey suffered fractures of both legs and a deep scalp laceration; Mr. Thompson suffered deep lacerations of both legs, a possible fracture of both legs and severe head and face injuries, and Thompson suffered pretty bad injuries, including cuts and bruises.

Details of the accident were not available as the survivors were so badly injured that they were unable to give a clear account of the mishap.

BASTROP MAN APPOINTED EDUCATIONAL OFFICIAL

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Dr. Murphy P. Rogers will relinquish his place as assistant state high school supervisor in the state department of education to become dean of the Louisiana State Normal college at Natchitoches on September 1, according to an announcement by T. H. Harris, state superintendent of education. Dr. Rogers has been with the department for seven years.

Harris also announced the appointment of J. P. Causey of Bastrop, where he was a supervisor, as assistant in the elementary school division, and of W. P. Arnette, for 25 years superintendent of Jefferson Davis parish schools, as assistant state high school supervisor to take the place of John S. Robson who will be on leave of absence this winter to study for a graduate degree.

STATE TO OBSERVE BIRTHDAY OF LONG

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Louisiana will observe the birthday of the late governor and Senator Huey P. Long Monday as a legal holiday.

A public ceremony has been set at the late senator's grave on the capitol grounds at Baton Rouge at 3 p.m.

Lewis L. Morgan of Covington will deliver the eulogy at the memorial services. H. F. Brunot, former associate justice of the Louisiana supreme court, will be master of ceremonies.

The services are being sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. A salute will be fired by a squad of national guardsmen under command of Adjutant-General Raymond H. Fleming and L. S. U. cadets will sound "taps."

Mayor Robert S. Maestri will head a special delegation from New Orleans by rail. Banks, the New Orleans cotton exchange, the stock exchange, state and city offices will be closed for the day.

POSSIBLE PURGE OF PARTY SEEN

Tour In Behalf Of Defeated Bill Would Indicate That, Senator Declares

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Senator Burke, Democrat, Nebraska, declared today that if President Roosevelt tours the country in behalf of his defeated court bill it will be a final indication that he plans to purge the Democratic party of those unwilling to support "anything the president wants."

A leader of the opposition to the court reorganization measure, Burke said in a statement that recent utterances of the president and of James A. Farley, the democratic national chairman, have led him to believe there is truth in "rumors" that the issue will be carried to the people.

If Senator Guffey, Democrat, Pennsylvania, Mr. Farley or the president go into Nebraska to defend the original or substitute court proposals or to criticize me for opposing them," he said, "I shall welcome the occasion to let my people know just how outrageous and vicious a proposition it was.

"And I shall mince no words in describing it."

Burke's statement came shortly after well informed persons at Hyde Park, N. Y., where the president now is staying, had let it be known there is a good chance he will make a western trip this fall.

The tone of recent statements by the president has convinced many observers that he intends to press at the next session of congress for enactment of many of the administration measures shelved in the session just ended.

HOMELESS IN SHANGHAI WAR SEEK SAFETY AFLOAT

Among the many pathetic pictures of the Sino-Japanese battle for possession of Shanghai, this one is outstanding in telling a grim, stark story of the tragedy inflicted on non-combatants in the war-torn city. Driven from their homes in the Chapei district, these men, women and children are seeking safety aboard a small boat alongside the Shanghai customs jetty. M. Harris of New York made the picture with a camera belonging to Mrs. James B. Murphy, New York society matron, who fled from Shanghai after the fighting started, and brought the photo to the United States aboard a fast steamer.

between Japanese bombing planes and Chinese land forces near Woosung, at the confluence of the Whangpoo and the Yangtze. But the thrills involved risks.

The Americans saw two big Japanese bombers shot down in flames, the most decisive blow struck at Japan's air forces in the warfare immediately around Shanghai.

Showers of shrapnel and shell fragments from Chinese and Japanese guns alike fell on the President Lincoln's decks, causing passengers to seek safety below, but none was hurt.

The Augusta was endangered when a Chinese battery in Chapei, northern native district of Shanghai, went into action against Japanese shore positions in Hongkew. A projectile fell into the Whangpoo close to the cruiser, moored off the international settlement.

The detonation and shower of fragments caused the Augusta's crew to take refuge below decks, but neither the ship nor her crew suffered hurt. Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, ordered stricter precautionary measues to prevent repetition of the shelling of August 20, in which one of the Augusta's seamen was killed and 17 wounded.

Chinese authorities estimated that the toll taken in Nantao raised the list of civilian casualties in Shanghai's two weeks of war to 6,000, nearly all Chinese.

Independent observers said they knew of no military objectives in Nantao, but Japanese had charged it harbored Chinese artillery and had threatened to bomb it as they previous had punished Chapei and other Chinese sections of Shanghai.

The airmen's targets apparently were the Shanghai south station, whence the railway runs to Hangchow in Chekiang province, and municipal buildings, but their aim was poor.

The raid came at the busiest hour of the day, shortly after noon, in the most congested points. Scores were trapped in flames set by big incendiary bombs.

Scores of little children were victims. The Lester hospital reported it had admitted more than 100 wounded youngsters.

This correspondent from a nearby rooftop had an unobstructed view of the raid. The drone of deep-throated Japanese planes heralded the approach of danger. Eight big bombers appeared flying up the Whangpoo from Woosung. They went straight to their work of destruction while three pursuit planes circled above to keep off any Chinese air fighters.

Immediately behind the first eight came another squadron of eight which loosed their loads of death.

JAPANESE CLAIM SMASHING VICTORIES

PEIPING, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The Japanese army today claimed smashing victories in its campaign to open a highway into China's north-western provinces.

Army spokesmen said the Japanese had completed their occupation of Nankow pass, strategic 12-mile gateway through the mountains northwest of Peiping to Chahar province and other territories the Japanese strategists believe Japan must dominate. The battle for the pass had raged 16 days.

Nippon's militarist long have maintained they must hold Chahar and the rest of inner Mongola as a vital flanking base in any war with the Soviet union.

Persisting in their claims of the capture of Kalgan, capital of Chahar about 125 miles northwest of Peiping, Japanese spokesmen admitted Chinese armies held about 40 miles of the railway between Nankow and Kalgan.

But these Chinese, it was asserted, were being hammered between two Japanese columns, one advancing eastward from Kalgan, the other continuing its drive northwestward from the Peiping region.

The only avenue of escape for the Chinese was said to be southwestward toward Tatung, in Shansi province, toward which large Chinese units were reported to be making a disorderly retreat.

Nankow pass fell only after a bitter battle, in which independent sources said the Chinese, fighting stubbornly from ridge to ridge, exacted a toll of at least 1,500 Japanese lives.

Before they had to give up the strategic defile the Chinese were reported to have largely nullified its military value by blowing up numerous tunnels along the Peiping-Sulyuan railway. The highway to the northwest therefore may be useless for railway transport for many months.

In its drive to the northwest the Japanese army was believed to have used a large portion of the 120,000 men it now has concentrated in north China. Independent military observers expressed belief the capture of Nankow pass would be the signal for opening of a major Japanese offensive designed to push far into the northwest.

BRITAIN WITHHOLDS FURTHER ACTION

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Britain today withheld further diplomatic action toward Japan in the hope that a formal note of apology from Tokyo would ease the tension created by the shooting of the British ambassador to China by Japanese airmen.

Britain's official attitude, authoritatively described as one of "unbounded exasperation," was presented to Japanese Ambassador Shigeru Yoshida yesterday by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who was understood to have made clear British determination to have complete satisfaction for the affair.

Today, informed persons said, the foreign office drafted a note for delivery in Tokyo, protesting against and making certain demands in connection with the shooting. However, it was said the note would not be delivered by J. L. Dodds, charge d'affaires in the Japanese capital, before Monday.

Meanwhile the British government hoped a real Japanese apology and continued improvement in the wounded ambassador's condition would permit it to take a more conciliatory course toward Japan than appeared possible yesterday, when informed quarters freely discussed the possibility of a break in diplomatic relations between the two empires.

It was stated that Ambassador Yoshida's expression of regret yesterday could not be considered a suitable apology, which authoritative sources said should be forthcoming, especially in view of the fact that Japan had not denied responsibility for the attack.

Sir Hughe Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugessen, the wounded envoy, was shot and dangerously wounded by machine gun bullets from a Japanese airplane that swooped down in his motorcar Thursday on the road from Nanking to Shanghai. His back was broken, but his steady improvement raised hopes of his recovery.

ALL-STAR TEAM TO TAKE TO AIR

Dorais Primes Backs And Ends In Spectacular Passing Maneuvers

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(AP)—They call it football's dream game, but this year's crop of college all-stars is primed to make it a nightmare of forward passes for the Green Bay packers, champions of the professional football world, Wednesday night at Soldier Field.

Charles Emile (Gus) Dorias of the University of Detroit, an old hand at such things, had directed the priming. Close to 80,000 fans who have tickets for the fourth annual scrap between collegians and professionals are likely to see what they have been expecting for three years—a spectacular scoring carnival.

The 6,000,000 fans elected Dorais head coach of the all stars also handed him almost every famous passer of the 1936 college season in his squad of 64 stalwarts. He has Texas Christain's Sammy Baugh, Ray Buivid of Marquette, Ed Goddard of Washington State, Vernon Huffman of Indiana, Tippy Dye of Ohio State, Julie Alfonse of Minnesota, Sam Francis of Nebraska, and Byron Haines of Washington, as his gunners, and has fashioned his bid for triumph around them.

Baugh, elected captain of the all-stars, will be the main gun. His expert passing amazed even Dorais and his assistants, Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, Bernie Moore of Louisiana State, and Jimmy Phelan of Washington.

Another all American ace, Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana State's famous end; Merle Wendt of Ohio State, Minnesota's Ray Antil, and Del Bjork of Oregon, as well as each back, have been drilled for two weeks in the art of handling the other end of the passing offense. A supplementary running attack has been fused with the overhead game.

Should the collegians triumph in the colorful spectacle under the lights, it would be the first official set back in the series for football as played on the so-much-per-yard basis. The 1934 and 1936 collegians gained moral victories over their more experienced foes in the shape of 0-0, and 7-7 draw with the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions, respectively. The Bears defeated the 1935 group, 5 to 0, in the rain.

TRAVELERS SELL THREE TO BOSTON

Humphreys And Niemiec Sold Outright And Nonnenkamp Conditionally

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Three stars who are helping to lead the Little Rock Travelers toward their first Southern association pennant in 17 years have been sold to the Boston Red Sox for an unannounced sum of cash and players, Manager Doc Prothro announced today.

They are Pitcher Byron Humphreys, Second Baseman Al Niemiec and Centerfielder Leo Nonnenkamp. Humphreys and Niemiec were sold outright. The Red Sox bought Nonnenkamp conditionally, having until June 1, 1938, to make a final decision. The trio will report to the Boston training camp next spring.

Players which the American league club will send to Little Rock in the deal are Pitcher Charlie Bowers, now with Boston, and First Baseman Mahan, with Hazleton in the New York-Penn league, and others not yet named.

Latest averages credit Nonnenkamp with a batting mark of .338, third best in the league, and Niemiec with .315. Nonnenkamp is leading the league in runs scored with 137 and is near the top in doubles, triples and stolen bases. Both are great defensive stars.

Humphreys, a right hand screwball hurler, is leading Southern moundsmen with 16 victories against five defeats.

Prothro also announced the purchase of Shortstop Joe Walsh and First Baseman Paul Campbell from the Rocky Mount, N. C., club for a straight cash consideration.

The Little Rock club recalled Pitchers Raymond Kerksieck and Henry (Dutch) Lemmer from Canton of the Mid-Atlantic loop; Outfielder Charles Bauder from Clarksdale, Miss., of the Cotton States and Pitchers Owen Sheetz, Alpha Brazle and Jim Bagby and Infielder Charles Heyer from Hazleton, Pa.

The Travelers claimed five players from Clarksdale under terms of a working agreement. They are Pitchers Joe Walsh and Leonard Rich, First Baseman Dick Chiado, Infielder Eddie Walls and Outfielder Penrose Miller.

GEHRINGER ADDS TO BATTING MARK

Detroit Star's Rapid Climb And Medwick's Slump Feature Week's Play

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP)—While Ducky Medwick remained in the batting doldrums, the pitching fraternity had a new worry this week in the sudden clouting bombardment currently being turned loose by Charley Gehringer.

Medwick, although retaining the National league batting lead with a .393 mark, continued in his biggest slump of the year and fell off seven points more during the seven-day span ended with Friday's games. He batted less than .250 for the week, getting only ten hits in 43 changes, and found his loop lead cut to a mere nine points over Paul Waner of the Pirates, with .384.

Gehringer, on the other hand, began to look like the one American league leader who is going to make it stick. Junior loop pace-setters have come and gone all season, but Gehringer, suddenly hitting his stride, not only retained the pace during the seven-day span, but by hitting 14-for-33 for the week and boosting his mark eight points to .386, he increased his edge to 18 points over second place. The current runner-up was Lou Gehrig, with .368.

Heaviest hitting of the week, however, was done by Schnozzola Lombardi, the Reds' catcher, who collected eight hits in nine chances to boost his mark 20 points to .371, good for fourth place in the National league.

Mechanical Cotton Picker Claimed Greatly Improved

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The voices of the Rust brothers, heralding the praises of their newest mechanical cotton picker, sounded today in this inland cotton port, within sight of mid-southern fields where planters are beginning to harvest the biggest crop in years.

John Rust rolled out the huge new machine he and his brother, Mack, have completed, and announced that it will answer objections to mechanized pickers they demonstrated last year.

Perfection of such a picker, said big, sun-bronzed John Rust, means the realization of a dream he had 30 years ago as a barefoot boy working on his father's plantation near Breckinridge, Tex.

The picker is a larger, improved version of the machine demonstrated last year. It has double the picking units and is equipped with electric lights for night work.

"The machine will pick cotton more cheaply than hand labor and pluck as many bolls from the stalk in five minutes as an ordinary worker could pick in an entire day," John Rust declared. "It will be placed in operation on a Mississippi plantation within two weeks for exhaustive field tests."

The picker is self-powered. One man can handle it. As it moves down the rows of cotton, the stalks are compressed into a channel against hundreds of moist spindles twirling on revolving drums staggered tandem fashion. The spindles of one unit pick from the right side of the stalk and the other from the left.

A new type doffer—to prevent clogging—strips the cotton from the spindles and drops it into two receptacles, from which it is blown through two pipes into huge cotton bags hung on the rear of the machine.

Last year's Rust picker was pulled by a tractor and had only one drum of spindles. It was necessary to make two trips over a row to pick it cleanly, and much cotton was knocked or dropped to the ground. There was trash or bits of stalk and leaves in the staple.

Rust said the new machine eliminates the necessity of double picking. Staggered drums keep the cotton from falling to the ground.

"The trash in the cotton damaged the grade very little," Rust said, "and tests showed a net profit of $10.22 per bale for machine cotton over hand-picked staple."

He said production of the Rust machine will begin next year, estimating a custom-built machine will cost about $4,800 as compared to $2,000 for the smaller, single-drum picker. The new machine has its own tractor which can be used in other farm work after the picker units have been dismantled.

Rust said the machines will be sold outright to planters. He and his brother have given up the idea of leasing them, or attempting to control any social changes that might result from mechanical picking.

Their proposal to "socialize" their own profits from the invention, investing them in a foundation to be used to reduce the social and economic effects the machine might cause in displacing labor, has not changed, he said.

Underwood, who was reported to have been driving the car at the time of the accident, was instantly killed.

From Eros, it was reported that the accident took place about three-quarters of a mile north of Chatham, at a curve. The car, for some reason, evidently went out of control, it was stated.

POLITICS AND PROFITS

Looks like a gold mine at each end of the rainbow until the sun goes down.

Recently, I wrote a political advertisement for Barlow Inabnet's Political Campaign, entitled "BE AT THE KILLING OF THE 42 PER CENT LOAN SHARK," and solicited by one of Barlow's campaign managers (not Jimmie Noe). A $65.00 Gold Mine, paid by me, not Barlow's Management.

Just recently I wrote $87.00 worth of burlesque penmanship in behalf of moneyed men and property owners who did not approve of the Mortgage Utility Bonds. However, I am being treated now for Acute Political Indigestion and hope to be cured from sucking political bad eggs in the near future. I expected to pay my portion, as I am only a small property owner. I helped protect your property but my weakness is dabbling in politics! This pay-off stuff crushed my pocketbook!

However, I stated in one of my squibs that I write my own stuff and pay for it myself, and that's true as I have the News-Star—World's receipted bills in my files. I spent fifteen hundred dollars boosting the Old Age Pension and another thousand in order that I might give assistance to the Good Samaritan Home on the Winnsboro Road. Here of late I have that dollar movement in my head in regard to our Governor and push button Senate who are inviting big money corporations to come to Louisiana free of taxation for ten years and I am glad to see them come and bring their payrolls for we need them. On the other hand they are taxing widows two per cent for medicine for their sick husbands; and another two per cent on his coffin when he dies. Here of late the United States Congress has spent twelve million dollars and haven't yet decided as to what's fair wages and hours per day's work. It's like the Dutchman said the longer you live the more you find—gee whilikens out and what's the difference; the Democratic jackass is abroad in the land; the fool and his money soon part. Both Rockefeller and Mellon have passed on.

Keep the change Mr. Big Property Owner if I have benefitted you any.

I am going to write short stories for Liberty and support my family in my declining years.

Yours for facts and figures in the future

DISCUSS DETAILS OF COTTON PLAN

Announcement On Price-Bolstering Program May Be Given Out Monday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Prolonged conferences of officials failed today to produce a public announcement on terms of the government's price-bolstering program for cotton.

Directors of the Commodity Credit corporation, agency which will underwrite price-pegging loans, spent more than half a day discussing the matter. Afterward spokesmen at the agriculture department said details probably would be announced Monday.

Secretary Wallace has urged cotton loans of 9 cents a pound while some southern senators have advocated 10-cent loans.

Previous government loans were 10 cents on the 1933 and 1935 crops and 12 cents on the 1934 crop.

Wallace contends all government commodity loans should be less than market prices except in times of dire emergency. He argues high loans might restrict cotton exports and domestic consumption.

Advocates of the higher rate say the loans will be the first money to reach many growers of this year's bumper crop and so should be as large as possible.

Regardless of the loan rate, congress directed subsidy payments to growers sufficiently large to assure them a total income of 12 cents a pound. They are to be made next year to farmers who comply with a proposed new crop control program.

The bureau of agricultural economics reported today that spot cotton prices continued a downward trend to average 9.37 cents a pound at the week-end, a decline of half a cent from a week earlier.

Officials of the Agricultural Adjustment administration announced a new allocation of $100,000 to continue research for new uses for cotton.

The funds will go to government and non-profit agencies experimenting with a wide range of cotton uses. These vary from attempts to prevent soil blowing by use of cotton fabric to employment of cotton as reinforcement in constructing concrete paving.

Sheriff George Erskine, of Caldwell parish, today appealed to Governor Richard Leche for aid in stamping out pollution of the Ouachita and other northeast Louisiana rivers which he said had killed the fish in the streams and created a tense atmosphere among citizens of a dozen communities along the river.

The sheriff said he told the governor he had "fears there may be violence of some kind" and that Governor Leche had sent Brigadier-General Louis F. Guerre, head of the state police, to Caldwell parish this afternoon to confer with local authorities and make a personal report to him on conditions.

BAPTISTS WILL HOLD REVIVAL

Rev. James Kramer, Noted Evangelist, Will Conduct Services

The annual fall revival meeting of the First Baptist church will be held September 5-19. Rev. James W. Kramer, widely known evangelist of Denver, Colo., will be in charge of the services.

Extensive preparations have been made to care for the large attendance that is anticipated, stated Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor. The second floor of the new educational building is being made ready with seating and lighting facilities for the holding of services, he said.

D. C. Black, director of education and music of the First Baptist church, will be in charge of music, with Mrs. G. C. Cornett as pianist. Mr. Black is desirous of having as many as 100 voices in the enlarged choir. In case there is an overflow, loud speakers will be placed in the main auditorium of the church for those unable to secure seats in the new building.

Rev. Hastings stated: "We feel that not only the First Baptist church, but the entire community should be congratulated because Dr. Kramer is to have charge of the campaign. He has held successful meetings in many of the larger cities, both north and south, such as in Mobile, Birmingham, Cleveland, Boston, Portland, Abilene and Chattanooga."

Letters have been addressed to various pastors of Monroe and West Monroe inviting them to attend and to encourage their congregations to attend services.

Rev. Kramer will arrive in Monroe some time this week and will be ready for the initial service Sunday morning, September 5.

dent Roosenfelt does something about that. I bet President Roosenfelt won't stand for nobody dropping bums on Amurrikins. You just wait until President Roosenfelt hears about that.

Tom—They've already told him.

Moe—What did he say?

Tom—Well, it says here he's gonna send warships to take the Amurrikins out of Chiner if they keep dropping bums on them.

Moe—I knew President Roosenfelt would do something if anybody dropped bums on Amurrikins.

Harry—What good is warships gonna do Amurrikins after they've had bums drop on them?

Moe—Well, what is them Amurrikins doin' in Chiner, anyway? Why ain't they home where they belong? The place for Amurrikins is Amurrika. You don't ever catch me runnin' around those places like Chiner. I don't care much for Chinermen, anyway.

Dick—What are you always eatin' chop suey for around in Hop Toy's then?

Moe—Well, who runs Hop Toy's? A friend of mine by the name of Greenberg, thass who runs it. Is he a Chinerman? He bought the joint off a Greek.

Dick—I don't care for Japs, myself. I was readin' once in a newspaper where it said them Japs was gonna come to this country some day and capture California.

Moe—President Roosenfelt wooden stand for it.

Harry—What do they want to capture California for? If they want to capture something why don't they capture little old New York?

Moe—You talk foolish. President Roosenfelt wooden stand for them capturing New York a minute. He'd send a messitch to congress if them Japs tried to capture New York. Say, if them Japs are gonna try to capture something they better not pick New York for no sucker.

Dick—Say, what become of that war they was havin' in Spain?

Tom—It's still goin' on.

Dick—Who's in front now?

Tom—I don't remember.

Harry—I read about that war when it started, but I couldn't figure out a favorite.

Dick—Whass that one about?

Tom—Why, I don't remember that, neither. It's so long ago I read about it, I can't recollect.

Dick—I told you it was tough to keep track of them wars. Didden they drop bums on people in that war, too?

Tom—Yes, they dropped bums all right.

Moe—What did President Roosenfelt do about that?

Tom—Well, he didden do nothin' much.

Moe—Hah, I bet they didden drop no bums on Amurrikins, then. If they did, they was Amurrikins nobody knew.

Dick—Whass all this war for, anyway? I thought everybody was supposed to be peaceable now, except Hitler, and Mussolini.

Moe—I wisht Hitler was where they are dropping them bums.

Tom—That ain't no way to talk. We Amurrikins are supposed to be nootrull.

Moe—I'm nootrull about everybody except Hitler. I don't see why President Roosenfelt don't say something to him. If President Roosenfelt wants to send warships some place let him send one to Berlin and get my father's cousin, Julius.

Harry—Well, if you hear of anybody that wants the short end of 9 to 5 on this war in Chiner, you can send them to me, and I don't even know where Chiner is.

have taken approximately 70 per cent of the total.

The federal internal revenue bureau contended in its income tax case against Mellon that his education and charitable trust was not a tax-exempt organization. Robert H. Jackson, government counsel, charged it was "just another Mellon-dominated concern" because its trustees included only members of the family and their attorney, Shepard.

The trust was established in 1930 and by 1935 had been given rare paintings which cost $19,000,000 and $1,250,000 in cash and securities. Of that sum Paul Mellon gave $191,000.

The paintings, valued by art experts as worth around $50,000,000, since have been given to the federal government for a national art gallery. Mellon donated more than $10,000,000 for a building, ground for which now is being cleared in Washington.

The trust's articles provide that its funds and properties be "administered and operated exclusively for the benefit of, and the trust estate shall be distributed by the trustees exclusively in aid of such religious, charitable, scientific, literary and educational purposes as shall, in the judgment of the trustees, be in furtherance of the public welfare and tend to promote the well-doing or well-being of mankind and/or for the use of the United States, any state, territory, or any political subdivision."

In arguments before the tax appeals board, Attorney Frank J. Hogan declared the trust was irrevocable and provisions prohibited distribution of funds or properties to Mellon, his heirs or personal representatives or to any of the trustees or their successors.

Hogan stated that up to April, 1935, the trustees had distributed $255,443 for religious, charitable and educational purposes and bought $34,300 worth of pictures. Contributions of gifts went to 37 separate organizations, he said, and included establishment of a Yale-Cambridge exchange scholarship.

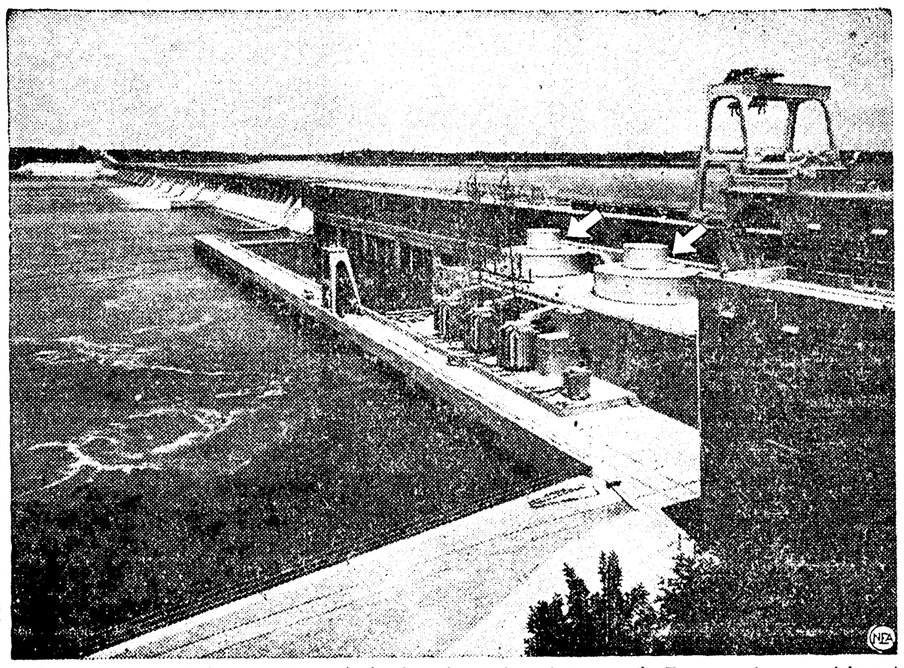
SECOND GIGANTIC TVA DAM TO BE DEDICATED SOON



The huge turbines of the General Joe Wheeler dam, shown above, just across the Tennessee river near Athens, in northern Alabama, will be put into operation September 10, when President Roosevelt presses a starting button in Washington. Speaker William B. Bankhead of Alabama will make the principal address, dedicating the second of the Tennessee Valley Authority's power-navigation-flood control projects. The huge dam, 6,500 feet long and 72 feet high, which impounds a lake 74 miles long, cost approximately $35,500,000. Generators of the outdoor type, indicated by arrows, will send power over the vast system of TVA lines, supplementing that generated at the Wilson dam, 15½ miles downstream.

Members of the national executive committee of the American Hotel association were as follows: delegate, Leo Keenan, Hotel Virginia, Monroe; alternate, Arthur Landstreet, Jung hotel, New Orleans; delegate, Seymour Weiss, Hotel Roosevelt, New Orleans; alternate, Jack Tullos, Washington-Youree hotel, Shreveport.

Lake Charles was named as convention city for 1938. Resolutions were passed in which appreciation was expressed to the mayor and city officials; to Rev. E. F. Hayward, who participated on the program; to the Morning World and News-Star for publicity given and also a resolution was passed expressing sympathy to the families of two members who died the past year. The assemblage rose and stood in silent prayer for a minute in honoring the memories of these former members.

The morning session, held in the Crystal ballroom, Hotel Virginia, featured addresses of R. P. Barlow, president of the Arkansas Hotel association; Arthur F. Landstreet, chairman of the rate stabilizing committee of the Arkansas Hotel association; Nat I. Washburn, secretary of the Mississippi Hotel association, and others.

After luncheon on Hotel Virginia roof, the concluding session was held which was important, as an open forum was conducted in addition to election of officers.

The open forum was led by E. C. Gibson, Hotel Alvis manager in Monroe, who brought up many questions for debate and many problems were discussed by the membership.

A ladies' garden party was held on the Hotel Virginia roof at 5:30 p.m. and the annual dinner dance was conducted at Hotel Frances, Cherokee terrace, Saturday at 8 p.m., concluding the convention program, which brought to Monroe as visitors to the sessions prominent hotel men from Florida, Arkansas and Texas in addition to a large number from cities and towns of the state.

Delegates Saturday night declared the meeting the most successful ever held.

Among those whose have announced their intention of organizing for a concerted drive for a government guarantee is Walter Scott of Tallulah, operator of one of the largest plantations in the delta. Others have announced sympathy with the movement and have offered their assistance to the local farmers and say they will put up money to carry on the fight for the increased prices and a government guarantee.

It was reported here today that seed had jumped five dollars per ton in some localities as a result of a mass meeting held here Thursday, although seed remained at 25 dollars per ton here against 20 dollars in other localities. It was said here that the mill price had dropped to 20 dollars but that a gradual increase has been promised. Local ginners advised Saturday night that the mill price had advanced to 23 dollars.

GLASS BLOWER RECEIVES SKULL FRACTURE IN FALL

L. W. Chachere, 34, employed as a glass blower at the General Advertising company, 230 South Grand street, last night was admitted to Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic suffering from a fractured skull.

Mr. Chachere, who lives at a local hotel, is reported to have fallen during Saturday morning while at work, striking his head on the concrete floor. He was given medical attention and appeared to have recovered from the fall until about 9:30 p.m. when he was taken violently ill in his hotel room and rushed to the clinic.

Facing Problems

What are your problems? Every one has some. One of the worst problems any one can have is learning how to face problems.

The hermit leads a comparatively simple existence. His problems are few. The individual in society has many.

People stimulate each other to make progress. Progress, no matter how slow and gradual it may be, means change. Change creates instability. Instability in turn creates problems.

The individual has problems of self and family. Equally, though he may not recognize them, he has social, political, and economic problems of broad scope. Such problems will in time be solved by a selfish, dominant few, an uninformed majority, or an enlightened and active public opinion. The willingness to face and analyze such problems is half their solution.

Eminent engineers have said that if the invention of the telephone had followed the development of high tension circuits and widespread use of electricity, the phone would never have attained commercial importance. The problems incident to making it function despite such interferences would have appeared insurmountable. The telephone coming first and being in use, the problems created by later electric phenomena had to be met. Generally when problems have to be met, they are.

Man seems to have a special capacity for creating problems he cannot immediately solve. Each generation seems to create numerous problems which are passed on for succeeding generations to solve. Our generation has surely not been backward in this respect.

Many things that human beings hold dear are the result of the willingness on the part of a minority of the people to tackle difficult situations. The person who refuses squarely to face whatever obstacles destiny places in his or her path retards the world's progress and becomes a dead load on those who fulfill life's purposes by moving forward.

Progress inevitably disturbs stability. A departure from stability gives rise to problems.

If governments and great institutions and organizations and businesses and employers are to face and solve their problems the individuals of whom such agencies are composed must also face their problems.

PRESS AND PROPAGANDA

Bismarck had a novel way of handling newspapermen. He told the truth. And, since he was a notorious politician, no one believed him. Thus, the very opposite usually got into print, much to the satisfaction of the iron-clad German statesman.

Hitler isn't as clever as Bismarck in this connection. He hands the foreign correspondents a lot of biased propaganda, and then threatens to throw them out if they fail to swallow the stuff, hook, line and sinker.

That, in any event, is the conclusion logically drawn from the latest Nazi blast at foreign journalists, which was issued in connection with the expulsion from Germany of Norman Ebbutt, chief Berlin correspondent of the London Times.

From now on, according to the Nazi ruling, newspapermen will have to accept the official interpretation of German conditions or else pack up their bags and leave the country.

Broadly speaking, this is but another stern reminder of what happens to the press under a Fascist regime. America's tolerance and freedom stand out in marked contrast. But then, a democracy need not fear collapse from the untrammeled dissemination of truth.

WHAT THEY WANT

It is good to see foreign trade increasing. Not only is it profitable as an outlet for our manufactured goods, and thus translatable into terms of jobs, but it is generally true that normal trade relations throughout the world tend toward peace.

Figures just issued by a big eastern bank indicate that in the first four months of this year our foreign trade advanced 28 per cent, from $757,000,000 to $955,401,000. Interesting to note, however, are the particular classes of trade in which the advances were registered. Iron and steel exports were up 84 per cent. Farm machinery exports were up 59 and aircraft up 145 per cent.

It is splendid to see foreign countries buying more of our excellent farm machinery. But what in the world do you think they're going to do with all that steel and all those airplanes?

War preparation is a good big share in the answer. That takes a little of the joy out of expanding trade. For trade based on war or prepration for war can bring the world no solid benefits in the end.

Strange people! They will do nothing without adequate pay, yet the saps worry for days when they know there's no profit in it.

A Chicago hospital reports operations on three persons who swallowed a half dollar each. Times must indeed be improving. In the past the average was a dime.

Universal Prayer

By Helen Welshimer

ALIKE in lands where steel outlines the pattern
By which men live—and kingdoms where the days
Are planned by sun and wind and rain and harvest,
We ask for peace, we chorus in its praise!

OURS is a prayer for love and lamps and shelter,
The East and West are weary of the drums
That summon youth to never-ending battles,
The crimson flags that show an army comes!

WE ask for friendship—lands with hearts outreaching
To clasp a neighbor's hand in quiet peace,
Will sheathe their guns, call home the ships of battle—
When we are friends, world bitterness will cease!

THE VOICE OF INDUSTRY

Making things is the most important of all human activities. Since ages ago, the material welfare of the people and the spread of culture have gone hand in hand with industrial progress.

This was true when Egyptian slaves were dragging huge blocks of stone for building the colossal pyramids. It was true when the ancient Romans were constructing the famous Aqueduct, while their industries were primitive and crude. And it is true today, when our factories are turning out millions of everything.

Regardless of money and other forms of wealth, our national standard of life depends entirely and solely upon the quantity and kind of products turned out by American industry. We are very fortunate in this country. Science, engineering, and business management have combined to provide for each of us more and better things than are enjoyed by the inhabitants of any other country. We have more automobiles, telephones, bathtubs, radios, newspapers, and schoolhouses per capita than any other people. And as individuals we spend, on the average, more for food, clothing entertainment, and home comforts than consumers anywhere else.

This is not only because American industry can make these things, but because it does make them and because we buy them. Factories and engineering skill are of no great benefit unless their products are promptly passed on to consumers. The goods must be sold. In order to have large-scale manufacturing there must be large-scale selling. Otherwise we could not maintain our high and rising standard of living.

The selling voice of industry is advertising. Through advertising manufacturers and dealers present their wares to the public. Magazines, newspapers, radio, outdoor signs, and other mediums of advertising combine to give us this gigantic talking show window, in which is displayed the merchandise of the nation. Home conveniences, smart styles, and recreation opportunities are shown along with food and other necessaries of life. The advertising voice tells us the merits of each article and describes new inventions that make life more interesting and pleasant.

No army of salesmen could do the same job. Advertising makes the selling process efficient and quick. By no other means could industry distribute economically its huge production. Advertising makes possible our wide spread of material wealth. It makes desirable goods available to those who would not know about them otherwise, and it reduces manufacturing costs by giving factories large sales volume. In this way advertising increases employment and purchasing power.

Industry has made effective use of this powerful force, advertising. It is an integral part of all business and has had much to do with our splendid industrial progress. It must be properly used, of course, in order to merit the confidence of consumers.

With he help of good advertising and skillful technicians, American industry faces a glowing future of service. With the continued approval and cooperation of the public, our industries stand ready to provide all of us with ever richer quotas of the good things of life. Advertising will do its part.

A BOOK REVIEW

'EVE'S DOCTOR' IS STORY OF HOSPITAL

"Eve's Doctor," by Signe Toksvig, presents a detailed picture of a large hospital in Dublin. The story concerns Kate Ellison, an attractive, self-reliant woman of Junoesque proportions who was brought up in America.

Kate, in spite of her 30-odd years, has never been in love until she meets Dr. Michael Murrough, head of the Wethering hospital in Dublin. This love draws her into the battle being waged for control of the hospital.

Dr. Murrough is the real protagonist of the novel and its theme is the struggle of this highly skilled obstetrician and gynecologist for medical enlightenment and progress, against the forces of the Irish Catholics and the Irish Nationalists.

Miss Toksvig has a flair for descriptive incident. She keeps the plot at a fast pace, although she utilizes her talent largely in describing what eventually seem to be countless operations.

That the novel should represent life is indisputable, but the novel should picture life, not draw a detailed map of it. The cult of modern realism which insists on describing the most intimate physical details is only endurable when its exponent is a writer great enough to border on genius. An average craftsman falls into the error of being in bad taste. Only in a few paragraphs does this happen, but these few lapses are sufficient to mar the book. In spite of the vehemence of the theme, it has been ably blended into the plot and characterization. Because of this theme the book may well arouse some controversial thought.

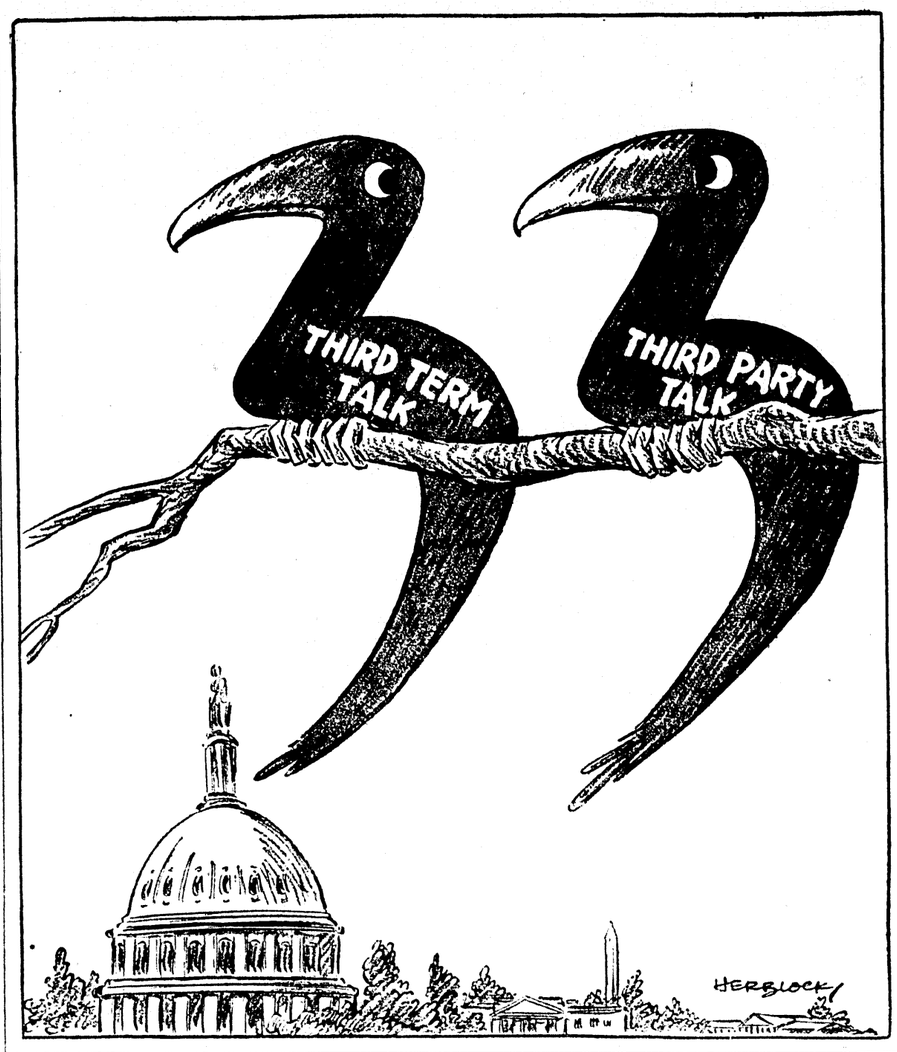
AH! A MATE!



NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

Morning movie audiences somehow interest me. All along Broadway and in the neighborhood houses are sizeable crowds awaiting when the doors open. One might imagine they would be mostly older folk or children. But they are not.

They vary little from the types in the late afternoon and evening. An attendant says that the only difference he notices is that so many of them remain through two complete shows. He believes there is a definite audience that enjoys seeing a show twice.

Then, too, I know a barber who does not enjoy a movie save in the morning. Once a week he takes two hours off from 10 a.m. to ? m. to see some film that has an especial appeal. Canvassers are also plentiful among morning audiences. They find that sales resistance is at its best in the late morning so they relax in a movie until after lunch.

The Capitol and Paramount have the largest morning audiences. Doubtless because of their locations. Incidentally, I hear that New York will have no more enormous movie palaces such as have been built in the past. While it is believed they could be filled for years, it is the long haul that frightens promoters and investors.

They believe that at any moment television is liable to burst upon the world—with all the suddenness of radio—and that will put something of a crimp in the movie patronage.

That stage marriages do last is proved by the golden wedding anniversary held recently by H. Cooper Cliffe and his wife, long engaged in theatricals. There are many theatrical couples who have celebrated silver anniversaries.

Somewhere I read that an ailing gold fish soused in a cup of salt water often revived. One of our's drifted to the top of the bowl the other day, listed to one side and seemed a goner. The salt water souse was given and it has been lively as a cricket since.

Authors continue to dedicate books. More modern pamphleteers call it old fashioned—unless one has a wealthy patron. Yet the more famous authors are besieged and have a waiting list with dedicatees booked for six months. Jets of ego taking strange shoots!

The Mall, that wide stretch of asphalt, centering Central Park, seems staked out by Peter Pan for metropolitan children. It is at its merriest between 2 and 5 in the afternoon when the youngsters fairly overrun it with pails, spades, bats and balls and velocipedes, hoops and skipping ropes. Gray and black uniformed nurses sit primly along either side seemingly able to watch every movement without dripping a stitch of their knitting or a line of their romantic novel. Oddly, squirrels scamper from adults but pay no attention to children.

A gentleman who calls himself a twitter poet sends a jingle now and then. On a bus-top he was held overlong in a traffic jam and jotted this on an envelope:

The cop would sooner gang aglee
With gangsters than with you or me;
He does not care for fur or fuzz,
For pingoid is what pingoid does.

Two time killers for the week-end bag:
"Hunted," by George Gibbs.
"This Is the Town,' by James Warner Bellah.

The radio news broadcasters heaved a mighty sigh of relief when the supreme court bill was shelved. For "judiciary" was their greatest stumbler. Nearly all the boys tripped on it at some time or other.

E. B. Garnett, Sunday editor of the Kansas City Star, believes that, when bigger mountains are carved, Gutzon Borglum will carve them.

There was no finer example of straight away reporting than that displayed in Alva Johnston's article in the Saturday Evening Post, "White House Tommy," recently. It illustrated how a writer can marshall an array of facts, state them simply without editorial elaboration and produce a rather damning indictment. Nobody could read such an article without righteous wince at what is going on behind the scenes in Washington.

While walking along Fifth avenue the other evening I noticed three efforts of motorists to stop before a soda fountain in the 50's. But the doorway was blocked by empty taxicabs. The driver of one cab was sound asleep and the driver of the other was hunched over, reading a tabloid. The proprietor of the soda fountain has a large investment and pays a huge rental, including taxes that pay the salaries of police who should be more vigilant.

HE OUTREIGNED EUROPE'S KINGS

WHEN Victor Emmanuel III of Italy ascended his throne in 1900, following the assassination of his father near Manzo, he was destined to reign longer than any other king then alive in Europe.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and the former King Alfonso of Spain are the only living royalties reigning when Victor took his high oath. But Alfonso, who ruled until 1931, finally yielded his throne before a republican uprising. Wilhelmina ascended the throne in 1890.

King Haakon VII of Norway was crowned five years after Victor Emmanuel. King Gustav V of Sweden was crowned in 1907, King George V of Great Britain in 1910, and King Christian of Denmark in 1912.

Long regarded as one of the most cultured crowned heads in European history, Emmanuel leads a versatile life. He is at once businessman, soldier king, sportsman, agriculturist and numismatist. His coin collection is said to be probably the finest in the world, containing more than 230,000 pieces.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine)

When a woman has undergone one of her periodic functions and when the egg cell begins its journey away from the ovary into the tubes which carry it to the uterus, that part of the ovary from which the egg cell departed gives place to a structure called the corpus luteum.

Then the blood picks up from the corpus luteum a substance which has the possibility of causing extensive development of the tissues of the uterus. Obviously, therefore, the corpus luteum must be included among the glands of internal secretion.

As far as is now known, this gland has no really useful action, except in instances in which the woman concerned conceives and gives birth to a child. However, the corpus luteum is formed every month in anticipation perhaps of the possibility that the woman may have a child. The corpus luteum lasts about two weeks, after which it disappears until a new cycle begins.

From the corpus luteum investigators have isolated a substance which is called progestin. This substance is closely related to the kind of material which appears in the urine of the woman who becomes pregnant, and also to a similar substance which appears in the urine of the man at various times.

It is possible in experiments on animals to produce the effects that have been described by injecting an extract of the corpus luteum or progestin. The term "progestin" means before childbirth.

Our knowledge of the glands is so new that little is thus far known of the possibilities in the treatment of disease or of various functional disturbances with this substance. It is possible, however, that in many instances in which a woman finds herself unable to have a child, the giving of this substance may aid in the development of the organs in such a way that the sterility will be overcome.

It seems possible also that the periodic functions of women may in some instances be disturbed because of a failure to form corpus luteum suitably or to take advantage of the secretion. In such instances also the artificial giving of this secretion might be of service.

OUACHITA COURTHOUSE TO BE CLOSED MONDAY

All offices in the Ouachita parish courthouse will be closed Monday, August 31, in honor of the birthday of the late Senator Huey P. Long which is a legal holiday in the state of Louisiana.

No court will be held in the city hall and municipal offices will also remain closed for the day.

The postoffice will not be closed Monday as the day is not a national holiday. Senator Long's birthday was ordered observed throughout the state as a result of the approval by the voters of Louisiana of an amendment to the constitution making that day a legal holiday in the state.

LOCAL WOMAN'S NEPHEW IMPROVES AT SHANGHAI

Mrs. Graves K. Godwin, 207 Stone avenue, whose nephew, Fred Guynes, of Gatesville, Miss., was injured when the U. S. S. Augusta was fired upon in Shanghai recently has just been assured that he is recovering in a hospital in the Chinese city.

Guynes, incidentally, was a shipmate of Bill Orchard of Monroe, former sailor, both having enlisted in the navy at about the same time.

TO RECEIVE BIDS

MARION, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—According to an announcement just made by J. Luther Allen, president, and Elton J. Upshaw, superintendent, the Union parish school board will receive bids to September 7 for the purchase of $25,000 in school bonds for the Bernice consolidated school district.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—The national radio address which John L. Lewis will deliver the Friday before Labor day is expected to be an attack on enemies of the C. I. O., an aggressive defense of the new labor movement and a statement of C. I. O. policies.

There will be another Lewis speech on Labor day.

Lewis is more than likely to enter the political field in one or both speeches. But he hasn't decided yet what tacks to take and which ones to leave out. He has been consulting with a large number of advisers. If the seriousness with which Lewis takes his speech of September 3 is indicative, it will be one of the most momentous addresses of the year.

Some of the advisers are radical to the point where they are definite menaces to Lewis. They would have him break with Roosevelt, be contemptuous of "public opinion," declare flatly for a farmer-labor party now and ignore moderate counsels of other important union chiefs in C. I. O.

See Lewis' Tactics

Some of the other leaders have worried about the sourness of Lewis toward Roosevelt and the former's seeming obliviousness to C. I. O.'s increasingly bad public relations. One C. I. O. leader privately wisecracked.

"John expects Roosevelt to go on the picket line while Mrs. Roosevelt collects money for strikers and the Roosevelt children recruit new union members. We think Roosevelt has done all for union labor that we can reasonably expect."

Some men close to Lewis keep whispering that his glowerings at Roosevelt are just tactics—designed to get the last ounce of administration help he can. Others insist Lewis is genuinely sore because he hasn't had "enough" help from Roosevelt in the steel strike. It is difficult to pass judgment on this point, aside from pointing out that some C. I. O. leaders think Lewis expects too much and some don't.

For many weeks Lewis has been laying low as a strategic maneuver, ignoring the public. To friends who have urged him to make public defense against attacks on C. I. O. he has heretofore replied:

"Why the hell should I do that? We're gaining members, aren't we?"

Lewis claims 3,000,000 members for C. I. O. and says 2,000,000 have been added in the last year. The A. F. of L., although it lost about a million when C. I. O. unions moved out, claims about the same total and nearly 700,000 new members in the last year.

High Court Ambitions

Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina, Hoover nominee for the supreme court who was turned down by the senate several years ago after strong labor and negro political lobbying, still yearns for a seat on the highest bench. Sitting as head judge of the fourth circuit court of appeals—which covers parts of the Carolinas, Virginia and nearby border states—he has surprised most folks by various pro-New Deal decisions. But the two statements have no necessary connection. A conservative lawyer says of Parker:

"He tries to be conservative, but he can't."

One of the charges that helped block Parker here was that he had been a lawyer for public utilities. But he has conspicuously upheld the administration in the Duke power case involving PWA financing of municipal power plants.

Recently Parker undertook to show up Chief Justice Hughes, who had adjourned with his court for the summer after sending the Duke case back to the lower courts because of a technicality of omitting one word in a pro-New Deal decision. (Hughes was believed to have done this in order to avoid a threatened 4 to 4 decision.)

Parker at once went to District Judge Glenn, urged prompt action, got a decision from Glenn in May, set a session of his own appeals court for August 3 and produced another favorable decision, with the technical omission repaired, in three days. This midsummer speed, his friends believe, was aimed by implication at Hughes and was another indication of Parker's supreme court ambition.

LEGION POST PLANS PICTORIAL HISTORY OF ITS MEMBERSHIP

L. B. Faulk post No. 13, in conjunction with the Louisiana department, American Legion, is planning a pictorial and reportorial history of the post, according to an announcement made by Adjutant C. B. Braun.

To preserve for posterity the faces of legionnaires, this pictorial and written history of the department of Louisiana, American Legion, is being prepared with all the important events from 1919 to the present time, with individual photographs of each member of the legion, auxiliary, 40 and 8, and junior units, to be included.

One of the outstanding features of the history will be the individual pictures of the members of the various posts and units of the state, in addition to the listing of each member's name, address, and wartime outfit.

Individual and group photographs for the history will be taken by staff photographers of the Army and Navy Publishing company, which has been appointed official publishers for the history. Every member of the legion and auxiliary will be notified in advance of the arrival of these photographers.

Charles E. McKenzie, commander of L. B. Faulk post, urges each and every member of the legion to come to post headquarters on the date to be announced later, so that L. B. Faulk post will show its true strength and representation in the finished history.

The history in its finished form will be similar in make-up, general appearance, and beauty of printing and art work, to the year books printed by the larger universities of the country. The editorial work will be under the direct supervision of the department historian, William Chisholm.

FINANCIER BURIED BESIDE BROTHER

2,000 Friends And Mourners Attend Last Rites For Andrew W. Mellon

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Andrew W Mellon was buried today in a vault beside his brother, Richard B. Mellon, to whose partnership in life the former treasury secretary often referred as "my brother and I."

More than 2,000 friends and mourners filled the $4,000,000 East Liberty Presbyterian church for the brief and simple funeral rites upon which the great financier had insisted.

Hundreds more stood outside the church as the bronze casket was carried out and taken to Allegheny cemetery for private burial in the family vault.

Persons high in the industrial and cultural life of the city joined with the lowly in honoring the memory of Pittsburgh's first citizen.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt sent a wreath which was placed with hundreds of others beside the casket in the gothic church which the Mellon family had built.

Mr. Mellon's daughter, Ailsa, wept softly as the church choir sang "Abide With Me" and the pastor, Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchison, read her father's favorite passages from the bible.

The daughter, her husband, David K. E. Bruce, and Mellon's only son, Paul, sat with other members of the family.

Honorary pallbearers—more than 30 of them representing a roster of the city's wealth—walked in double file to their section of seats. They and the ushers were in mourning dress. All others were in street clothes.

The organ played music from Corelli, Bach, Gluck and Mozart and the choir sang "Lead, Kindly Light."

From the scriptures, Dr. Hutchison read the twenty-third psalm and, in part:

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." (Psalm 46, 1, 7).

"Let not your heart be troubled; ye believed in God, believe also in me." (John 14, 1-3, 27).

"Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth." (Romans 8, 33-39).

Throughout the city where Mellon had built his vast fortune on oil, aluminum and coal, flags were at half-staff. Near the heart of the city's financial district, the chimes of Trinity Episcopal cathedral played "Lead, Kindly Light."

The 82-year-old banker died last Thursday night in "Bonnie Dune," Southhampton, L. I., the home he had given to his daughter.

He died without pain of bronchial pneumonia and uremia with his daughter and son by his side.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Tatum attended the wedding of Miss Elsa DeVires to Mr. Charlton B. Doegalston at the newly-constructed Jewish synagogue at Newellton, August 18.

Mrs. Clyde Colvin, who spent the past ten days at Highland sanitarium in Shreveport where she underwent an operation, was returned home Sunday.

Mrs. C. O. Kilpatrick and Miss Ida Barham of Ruston were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Barham.

Miss Louise Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Henry, has returned home after a visit in Minden.

Mrs. S. L. Fuller and daughter Marguerite and son James, have returned from a two weeks' visit in Georgia.

Mrs. P. C. Aycock, Mrs. Inez Farley and Mrs. Herschel Colvin, have returned from a visit to Memphis, Tenn.

Miss Laura Colvin entertained a group of young people on the lawn at her home here on Friday night.

Herschel Colvin left Thursday for New Orleans where he will undergo an operation on his arm. Since an auto accident in 1935, when the arm was broken, it has been useless and in such condition as to require an operation.

Mrs. O. L. White and her mother, Mrs. W. D. Caldwell, were visitors this week in Shreveport where Mrs. White's daughter, Mrs. W. Bott, was host.

Mrs. Emmett Tatum and daughters, Ruth and Rae, are now attending the exposition in Dallas, Tex.

Public Invited To Attend Grotto Memorial Service

Program Honoring Deceased Members To Be Held During S'western Meeting

An invitation to the public of Monroe and West Monroe to attend the memorial service of the annual convention of prophets of the Southwestern Grotto association, to be held in Monroe September 4-6, is extended by Dr. B. M. McKoin, who has charge of the memorial program.

The service is scheduled to be held promptly at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, September 5, at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium for the purpose of honoring more than 40 members of various grottoes in the association who have died during the past year.

Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church of Monroe, has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker for the occasion.

The memorial service as planned by Teflis Grotto and at which several hundred prophets from a dozen grottoes in five southwestern states are expected to attend, will consist of a realistic enactment of a scene at a graveside.

The stage of the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium will be specially arranged to resemble an open grave lined with artificial grass. During the service six pallbearers, dressed in white, will walk on the stage carrying a miniature white coffin which will be lowered into the grave. Rev. Scott will read out the names of deceased prophets and as each name is called a pallbearer will drop a white flower into the grave.

During the memorial service a large cross on the auditorium stage will be unveiled. Trumpeters will sound "taps" at the front of the building during the unveiling, answered by trumpeters at the rear of the building. The hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross" will be sung by Dallas Goss, teacher of voice at Northeast Center of L. S. U.

Charles Mitchell is in charge of the stage setting.

The ritual for the memorial service was introduced at the last annual convention of the Southwestern Grotto association held in Beaumont, and so successful did it prove that prophets of Teflis Grotto of Monroe decided to include it in the program this year and urge the public of Monroe to attend the impressive ceremonies.

"Although the convention is designed primarily for the pleasure of those who attend and to afford fun and recreation, members of M. O. V. P. E. R. wish to take the occasion of showing their respect for departed comrades," Dr. McKoin stated. "The memorial service and its ritual is designed to bring our deceased comrades close to us and to pay them due honor. All prophets attending the convention in Monroe will be present and we would like the public to join with us in paying this tribute to those who have died during the past year."

Committees in charge of the convention program announce they have completed arrangements for entertaining approximately 700 visiting prophets and their ladies. Besides the memorial service, the outstanding features of the convention will be the visit of Grand Monarch Otto F. Hildebrandt, and the parade at which candidates for admittance to the various grottoes of the association will appear dressed in grotesque costumes preparatory to their initiation into the order at the full-form ceremony to be held at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium. The parade and ceremonial are scheduled for Labor day, Monday, September 6, which is the last day of the convention. The parade will be held at 1 p.m. and the ceremonial will start at 2 p.m.

Two special trains are due to arrive Sunday, September 5, bringing contingents from Little Rock, Fort Smith, Port Arthur and Beaumont. The trains will be met by bands, and special buses have been promised by the city to convey the visiting prophets to their hotels. Teflis Grotto band, one of the finest in the association, will play for the visitors at the Virginia hotel and the Frances hotel during Sunday afternoon.

Grand Monarch Hildebrandt will be honored at a breakfast to be given Monday, September 6, at 8:30 a.m. in the canopy room of the Virginia hotel. The convention will mark the first occasion on which this prominent Mason, who heads the M. O. V. P. E. R. of the United States has ever visited Monroe.

General Chairman Bill Perhamus reported his committees have completed all arrangements for entertaining the visiting prophets and predicts the coming convention will be the most successful ever held by the association.

A PUBLIC STATEMENT
ON BEHALF OF A GREAT INDUSTRY

(Prepared and Paid for by Business Men of West Monroe and Monroe, whose names are signed hereto)

The undersigned group of citizens of West Monroe and Monroe believe that it is a duty and a privilege at the present time to set forth, frankly and simply, the facts as we find them concerning one of our great industrial organizations which during the past 13 years has rendered incalculable service to these communities through its operations.

We hold no brief for this or any other industry in Northeast Louisiana, but we do believe that every business organization engaged in contributing to the economic welfare of the people is entitled to fair and impartial consideration, as well as the cooperation, of the people it serves in meeting and solving mutual problems. It is to that end that we appeal to the public to unite with us in an attitude of forbearance and good will while those problems are being worked out for the benefit of all concerned.

This committee sets forth the facts as we find them from personal knowledge and impartial investigation.

The Brown Paper Mill in West Monroe is acknowledged to be one of the most important industrial assets to the state of Louisiana. It is probably the largest kraft paper mill in the United States, if not in the world. It was established on the Ouachita river because of the natural facilities offered here for the operation of so great an enterprise. The Brown Paper Mill Company received no bonus, no grant of land, no remission of taxes, nor any other gratuitous inducement to locate its plant here. Its operations have been conducted on a high plane of business integrity and devotion to the best principles of industrial endeavor.

Since its beginning 13 years ago, it has maintained uninterrupted production and 100 per cent payroll employment, with the exception of two periods—one in 1927 and the other in 1932—when flood waters compelled suspension of operations.

The Brown Paper Mill Company was organized in 1923, and construction of the first unit of its plant was begun in August of that year. Production of kraft paper was begun September 6, 1924. The capacity of the unit was 50 tons daily.

In 1927 a second unit was added, and in 1929 a third unit. Today the plant covers an area of 12 to 13 acres of ground, only one other industry in Louisiana, the Standard Oil Company, having a larger investment in physical property.

In addition to its operating plant, the Brown Paper Mill has acquired approximately 300,000 acres of forest land from which it obtains its raw material. Its sources of supply extend all the way to the Texas line on the west and it absorbs all the pine obtainable eastward along the line of the Illinois Central railroad.

One of the most important phases of its activities is its reforestation program, a vital factor in restoring denuded timber lands to useful and profitable service. This phase includes the maintenance of a forest fire protection service in conjunction with the State Conservation department, a system that affords protection to individual property owners in the area, as well as that given to the forest lands. Since the reforestation program was begun over 500,000 pine seedlings have been planted annually, and this plan is carried on in increasing proportions year after year to insure perpetual supply of pulpwood timber. Thus the Brown Paper Mill Company is rendering inestimable service in conserving the natural resources of the state and helping in a tangible way to solve one of the most urgent problems now confronting the people of Louisiana. In addition these lands are affording a definite contribution each year to the state revenues, the people as a whole being the beneficiaries.

The Brown Paper Mill is one of the largest employers of labor in the state. The production plant at West Monroe carries a payroll of 1,100 persons, who at the present time are receiving a total of $1,750,000 a year. In addition to these, 900 to 1,000 men are employed in cutting and hauling raw material to the mill, which today has a capacity of 600 tons daily as compared with 50 tons daily when the plant first began its operations.

The company spends a total of $1,500,000 a year for its wood, besides approximately $500,000 a year for natural gas used as fuel in the mill. Besides this, there is the illimitable quantity of gasoline used yearly in the operation of wood-hauling trucks and other gas-propelled equipment, furnishing another considerable contribution to state revenues.

Records of the state and parish tax departments disclose that the Brown Paper Mill has paid in direct ad valorem taxes a total of more than $1,500,000 since it began operations in West Monroe. These taxes are wholly apart from the various other indirect taxes the corporation has paid for its operations. These taxes have gone into the building of roads, maintenance of schools, hospitals and other public institutions for the welfare of the people.

The Brown Paper Mill has invested large sums in recreational facilities for its employes and has taken the initiative in improving the social, cultural and hygienic well-being of its workers. Every employe is working on an eight-hour basis, three shifts being necessary to keep the mill in constant operation. Every employe has two days off a week, leaving him ample time for recreational and cultural opportunities. The company provides ample facilities for the profitable use of this leisure time. These include a completely equipped baseball park, basketball courts, swimming pool and an adequate library, all open to employes and their families. A houseboat on the river is provided for aquatic recreation, and a fine nine-hole golf course is supported by a large membership from the employes.

The families of the workers are given social and health aid through the ministrations of a trained nurse employed by the company. A children's nursery is available to all mothers who desire to leave their children in competent hands when the occasion demands it. The Brown Paper Mill Harmonica band, composed of 19 young lads, children of workers, has gained a national reputation for its excellence and for the opportunity it gives for cultivating the higher expressions of better living. Two Boy Scout troops are also sponsored by the company.

The Brown Paper Mill Company has been directly responsible for the establishment of two other important industries in West Monroe, the Terminal Bag Company and the Bancroft Bag and Paper Company, both of which give employment to a large number of people and have extensive payrolls. These industries likewise add their contribution to the economic welfare of Northeast Louisiana. They would have no occasion for existing here were it not for the Brown Paper Mill and its operations.

All of these facts are of common knowledge, or can be easily verified by the most cursory investigation.

The Brown Paper Mill Company has taken extensive precautions to prevent its operations rendering harm to the property of others. It has spared no expense in its efforts to cooperate with the people living in the southern end of the City of Monroe, the southern end of the parish of Ouachita and the parish of Caldwell to eliminate the necessity of allowing the effluent to flow into the Ouachita river during low water stages. Recently it completed the construction of a reservoir to impound the wastage at a cost of $150,000. Previously it had spent $100,000 in an effort to find a satisfactory solution to the disposal of the effluent.

These efforts prove the sincere and constant desire of the Brown Paper Mill Company to perform its operations in a manner that will be in harmony with the general welfare.

Our conviction, after a thorough investigation of the subject, is that the Brown Paper Mill Company is making a determined effort to do its part in removing any apparent or real cause for complaint in the operation of its plant. We cannot overlook the fact that it must of necessity use certain acids and liquids in the process of manufacture. Competent engineers are working on the problem of disposing of the effluent. It may be that the present means adopted are not the most efficient. If that is so, the only fair attitude for citizens of our two communities and this section of Louisiana to take is to give the company which has done so much for our people and the state at large, an opportunity to work out the problem in a way that will be satisfactory to all.

We frankly and sincerely urge the cooperation of all citizens and all public bodies to this end, so that our important and essential industries may be maintained and our communities go forward to their common goal of progressive prosperity.

UNEASINESS OVER SHIPPING ABATES

Japanese Note Informs Hull Blockade Applies Only To Chinese Vessels

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Anxiety of American officials for the safety of China-bound shipping from this country abated somewhat today when Secretary Hull received notice from Japan that her blockade of Chinese ports applies only to Chinese vessels.

The Japanese notification said the blockade will not interfere with "peaceful commerce" of foreign nations.

There was unofficial speculation as to whether Japan would regard as "peaceful commerce" the voyage now being made by a government-owned American freighter laden with bombing planes and barbed wire for China.

The freighter Wichita sailed from Baltimore last night with the cargo of war supplies. It is a vessel of the American Pioneer Lines, which is operated by an agency under the federal maritime commission.

Since Japan and China have not yet declared war formally and President Roosevelt has not invoked the neutrality act, which would ban the shipment of fighting weapons to the belligerents, the departure of the Wichita was legal.

Union representatives of the crew of the Wichita announced they would ask the maritime commission on Monday for a "war bonus" of $250 per man on all ships plying in the Chinese or Spanish danger zones.

Another development in the Sino-Japanese situation today was an announcement by the Chinese ambassador, Dr. Chengting T. Wang, that his government remains ready to employ the principles of international relations laid down by Secretary Hull "to settle whatever differences she may have with Japan."

One of 14 principles of international policy which Hull has enunciated calls for "adjustment of problems in international relations by processes of peaceful negotiations and agreements."

Fumimaro Konoye, premier prince of Japan, has characterized American settlement proposals as of "no great importance."

Secretary Hull said at his press conference today that this government had not received any formal clarification of Japan's blockade as far as the privilege of "preemption" is concerned.

Under privilege of preemption, recognized in international law, a nation formally at war with another may halt and investigate a vessel suspected of carrying war materials to its foes.

If the cargo were determined to be war material, it could be taken over and purchased from the shippers at an appraised price.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

MOTHER OF 10 CHILDREN AT 19.—An astounding record of motherhood is a recent news dispatch from Beograd, Yugoslavia, regarding a young mother, Marsha Petrovich, only 19 years old, who has actually given birth to 10 children.

Married at 14, she had triplets twice by the time she reached her 16th birthday, twins at the age of 17, and then two more. Her husband died a short while ago, and when she applied to the municipality for help, the officials could not believe so young a woman would have had such a big family. But she proved it to their satisfaction and produced authentic records of her own age as well as her motherhood of all 10 little tots.

canvass other phases of the project which will insure the establishment of a charity hospital in this area.

The committee entrusted with the task is composed of C. W. Wallace, chairman; Ben Downing, Albert Horuff, J. G. Durrett, Joe Isaacman, W. J. Quigles, Jack Rogers, J. W. Rohr, Sig Masur, C. E. Faulk and J. E. Marx.

No indication of the probable size of the hospital proposed for this area was given in the announcements.

"What we desire first of all is to get full information on the most desirable locations," Mr. Keenan said. "To that end I have asked Mr. Marx to name a representative committee from the chamber of commerce to cooperate in gathering the necessary data."

President Marx pointed out that Alexandria and Lafayette have recently been selected as locations for charity hospitals through cooperation of the parish and city authorities of those communities and the citizens at large.

"There seems to be no valid reason why a charity hospital should not be located in northeast Louisiana," Mr. Marx said, in a statement following the appointment of the committee, "provided the necessary measures of cooperation on the part of the people of this area are demonstrated. The first task is to find out what sites may be available and what would be the cost of acquiring one that is suitable. Members of the board of the chamber of commerce are assured that with the proper kind of cooperation we can be confident of favorable consideration of the project from the state authorities."

Construction of a charity hospital at Alexandria has already been authorized after the city and the parish of Rapides had appropriated $25,000 for the purchase of a suitable site. Lafayette and Acadia parish also raised funds to purchase a hospital which has been turned over to the state to be transformed into a charity institution to meet the needs of that section.

"The chamber of commerce has every assurance that if the people of this area do their part in furnishing the necessary information the state will give its full cooperation in establishing a charity hospital in a location that will be convenient to all the communities of northeast Louisiana."

The committee is expected to begin immediately its work of canvassing the available sites and will make a report as promptly as possible.

SEEK AGREEMENT IN SPILLWAY PLAN

Army Engineers Urge Officials To Join Them In Smoothing Out Details

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Army engineers said today they were urging Louisiana flood control officials to join them in smoothing out important details governing operation of the Eudora floodway and acquisition of flowage rights in the outlet area.

They said no real progress in obtaining flowage easements could be made without decision on a definite program and that none had been reached.

The engineers announced they had wired Harry Jacobs, Louisiana state engineers chief, and Wade O. Martin, chairman of the Louisiana flood control and water conservation commission, asking them to present harmonized views on four points of disagreement.

The points, they said, are:

1. The flood height for opening the floodway.
2. The floodway width.
3. Appraisal publication.
4. Backwater levee extensions.

The engineers explained that authorization for opening the outlet when the Vicksburg, Miss., gauge reaches 51 feet was subject to different interpretation as to practicability, especially since the opening would be 100 miles above Vicksburg.

Opinion has differed, they said, whether it would not be better to open the flood way when the height at the opening indicates a 51-foot reading at Vicksburg two days later, considering current flow, and whether a current 51-foot reading, with cutoffs speeding up flow and reducing height, is not out of line with conditions attendant on such a height in 1935 when the Overton act authorizing the floodway was drawn.

The Engineers said local protest had been voiced against a spillway width of more than ten miles at any point. Authorization requires only a ten-mile average.

They have not approved proposed property acquisition appraisals nor extension of backwater levees toward the juncture of the floodway with the Red river.

The Julia Reed circle will meet Thursday night with Mrs. V. S. Garnett, 1606 North Second street.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Director of Education And Music

We have only this Sunday and one more week to complete preparations for our revival which begins the first Sunday in September. Rev. Kramer will arrive the latter part of the week and will be ready for all the services the first day of the meeting. The committee in charge of arrangements, after taking everything into consideration, decided to hold the services on the second floor of the educational building, the same floor on which we held our summer services for the two summers preceding this. Seats are being prepared to take care of 1,000 persons and in case of overflow crowds they can hear the services in the main auditorium by means of "loud speakers." Brother Black hopes to enlist at least 100 voices for the chorus choir. The pastor has written the pastors of Monroe inviting them and their congregations to attend the services. Many out-of-town people will come. All are invited and cordially welcome. Committees have been selected and they are asked to meet the pastor for a few minutes at the close of this Sunday's service. The pastor will occupy the pulpit both hours Sunday. The morning message will be: "Evangelize or Fossilize." At the evening hour: "The Tunders of Sinai." Mr. Black has returned from the Mandeville encampment and will have charge of his regular work Sunday. We are expecting a great day, like unto the one last Sunday—even better. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good"—at least we will do our best.

GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH
North Fourth and Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for the 14th Sunday after Trinity are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The 9:30 a.m. Eucharist is accompanied with hymns and a sermon by the rector. In the Collect for this Sunday, we pray for an increase in faith, hope and charity; and that we obtain that which He doth promise we must love His precepts—that which He doth command; and faith and hope are essential to this love of duty or practical obedience. In the Epistle we have the record that God's commandments are at war with our natural appetites and passions, so that nothing but Grace can make us believe and hope in such wise as to obey. And in Holy Gospel, as of last Sunday as today, we have one of the despised class, setting an example of true faith, and rebuking the conduct of nine members of the true church, who had not even common gratitude. Note, that as "they went they were cleansed." In obeying they found healing. If the sinner, instead of waiting "till he feels better," would begin at once to obey God, and to observe His Ordinances, the Conversion and Grace which he needs would be wrought in him simultaneously. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks and meditate.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Sunday services 11 a.m.; Sunday school 9:30 a.m.; Wednesday evening testimony meetings 8 o'clock. Reading room, 709 Ouachita National bank building, open daily, except Sunday and holidays, 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room. "Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 29, 1937. Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." (Isa. 7.) The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus was the offspring of Mary's self-conscious communion with God." D. D. Cantrell, Pastor

Sunday school 9:45 a.m., B. T. U. 6:45 p.m. The great revival still goes on. Preaching services in charge of pastor, 10:45 a.m., and 7:30 p.m. Mr. Dale Cobb has graciously agreed to have charge of the music at both services. Come, let us make the Lord's day the climax of these series of services. A large group has united with this church during this meeting and date for the baptism will be announced. Friends of this district are welcomed to all these meetings.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Oak And St. John Streets
Crayton S. Brooks, Pastor

At a congress of the teachers and officers of the church school on Wednesday night it was resolved to cooperate with the adult class in promoting "Home Coming day" on the third Sunday in September. "Promotion day" will be observed on the fourth Sunday. This Sunday is "Temperance day." The school begins at 9:45 a.m. Come. Welcome. "The Bread of Life" will be the sermon theme. In the evening the address will be on "The Devil in the Church." The new board of deacons met Monday night and organized, electing M. W. Montgomery as chairman and Hodge Mason as secretary.

EGYPT'S BOY KING REVIEWS 'DESERT NAVY'

The boy king of Egypt doesn't aspire to "rule the waves" like the British empire he just broke away from, but he certainly plans to rule the sands. Here he is reviewing the Egyptian camel corps, his fleet of "ships of the desert," during maneuvers near Cairo. The camel corps is maintained for patroling the Sahara.

BABY-SIZE IRON LUNG SAVES CHILD

When the weight of little Jerry Fitschen's chest kept air from entering his lungs, a special "iron lung" was rushed to Orange, Calif., from Boston, Mass., and the child was saved. The 2-week-old infant, shown here in the mechanical breather, was made to breathe by the functions of the machine.

INDUSTRIAL AND BUSINESS REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES NORTH LOUISIANA'S COMMERCIAL CENTER

INDEPENDENTS TO CONTINUE ACTIVE

Sound Policies Make For Success, Says Studebaker President

By Paul G. Hoffman
President the Studebaker Corp.

Competitive engineering, sound manufacturing policies and economical distribution make it possible for the independent automobile producer in America to claim a full share of the motor market. This has been true in the past; it's true now. It will be true in the future.

That's my answer to the oft-asked question, "What is going to happen to the independent company?" The independent producer recognizes that larger combines and companies possess obvious advantages. Their numerous cars naturally dominate the buyer's shopping list. Yet the small company asks no quarter and gives none, offsetting this advantage simply by attempting to make a better automobile at the same or a lower price.

The first requirement is competitive engineering. The independent manufacturer must contribute more than his proportionate share of engineering advancements. Such competitive engineering is possible because no company, no matter how large, is able to obtain a monopoly on brains.

The invisible ingredient which spells quality in any manufactured product is labor. Here a company like ours holds a decided advantage, we believe. Studebaker's 7,000 workers in South Bend form a compact and cohesive organization, each man taking a real pride in his association with the company and in his work. The length of service averages more than 10 years with the average age of employes 40 years. Factory lines move about 10 per cent slower than in larger companies but the skilled craftsmanship and the high morale of a stable organization result in high efficiency.

A rigid inspection is necessary, of course, but we consider inspection as a poor substitute for high quality workmanship in the first place. I do not know of another comparable factory in which the amount of work done over is as proportionately low. This means a large annual savings to the company. More important than that, it means a definitely higher standard of quality in the product; that intangible quality which can come only from the pride Studebaker men take in building cars.

Turning to the problem of distribution, the smaller company, having fewer units to sell, is in position to select from 35,000 or more car dealers in the nation about 3,500 who know how to operate their own business and do not need constant factory supervision. This, again, means a huge saving for the independent manufacturer.

We do not criticise the methods of other companies. If Studebaker had 500,000 units to distribute annually perhaps we too would be compelled to employ the mine run of dealers. The point is that Studebaker is spared the expensive task of nursing thousands of dealers to keep them in business. We pioneered the development of sales control plans, used car program and an accounting system for our dealers but no effort is made to force these systems on our dealers nor do we have a staff in the field to supervise accounting systems after they have been installed.

The popular notion that independent companies are at a disadvantage in buying materials is entirely wrong. We will spend more than $40,000,000 in 1937 and any idea that this volume of purchases will not secure us competitive prices is incorrect. Studebaker's position as to depreciation charges is favorable. On the balance sheet of the new corporation plans formerly carried at $49,000,000 were written down to approximately $15,000,000. Annual charges for depreciation are $1,000,000 less than they were at one time.

PHILCO NOW HAS INCLINED PANEL

'No Squat-No Stoop-No Squint' In Setting Dial On New Models

The 1938 Philco radios, sold by Home Furniture company, 501-11 DeSiard street, have introduced a revolutionary change in radio convenience with the inclined control panel designed to do away with the necessity of stooping or squinting in order to tune in and assuring easy, graceful, natural and comfortable tuning instead.

"The new Philcos offer something that the whole world, particularly the women, have been waiting for in convenient dial adjustment," J. B. Lindsay, president of Monroe Furniture company stated. "No longer does the fair lady have to bend way over awkwardly to reach the dial on her radio. No longer does friend husband need to crouch down on his heels to tune in his radio. And no longer does anyone need to strain his eyes trying to decipher the number on the dial."

Philco's new radio improvement in radio cabinets, presented to the American public for the first time, has won the unqualified endorsement of the radio-buying public.

"The new 1938 Philco is an instrument of quality embodying the finest tone features with the added convenience of the inclined control panel built for tuning with ease and grace, standing or sitting," Mr. Lindsay explained. "Eye and hand fall naturally on the inclined control panel. One glance, and you spot your favorite stations; one motion and Philco automatic tuning gets them. Everything you could wish for including ocean-spanning power, glorious tone, beautiful cabinets make up the new 1938 Philco radios which can be purchased at Home Furniture company on convenient terms."

Real Estate Transfers

The following real estate transactions were recorded in the clerk's office Saturday:

Peter Fasi, Inc., sold to Frank Spico, a lot in square nine of Hart's addition to Monroe, for $1,700.

Mrs. Edna Prince sold to Mrs. Marion Marie Wallace, a lot in the northeast quarter of southwest quarter, section 22-17-4 east, for $300.

Ernest R. Breard sold to Arthur M. Williams, lot one in square 104 of D. A. Breard, Sr.'s addition to Monroe, for $300.

TWENTY-EIGHT THOUSAND MILES OF BUMPS

Day and night, this Oldsmobile six had traveled a rough road since January 22 until recently when it was stopped for inspection by Harold T. Youngren, Oldsmobile's chief engineer (left), and J. F. Wolfram, experimental engineer. The rear wheels rested on heavy steel rollers carrying wooden cross blocks of one-inch material. The car was operated at the speed which created maximum disturbance in the spring, frame and stabilizer units. Said by engineers to be one of the most grueling tests given a rear axle, the severe punishment disclosed how effectively various mechanical parts could withstand jolts and jars more exaggerated than those offered by the roughest of roads. Such tests are of great value in the development of new models and in checking the performance of current models. Similar tests of every part used by Oldsmobile insure quality and dependability unsurpassed in the industry.

MEXICO NO LAND OF MYSTERY NOW

American Map-Maker, In Chevrolet Truck, Explores Glamorous Country

Mexico as a land of mystery—at least where the motorist is concerned—will soon be no more. As a country of glamour and romance, of unsurpassed natural beauty, of inspiring contrast between a civilization that was and one that is to be, and of new challenge to the exploring traveler, Mexico as a tourist mecca soon will have new appeal as a result of the mapping of the country's roadways by James D. McClure, American map-maker.

Commissioned by the Mexican government and working in close cooperation with its departments of education, interior, forestry, fish and game, communications and highways, McClure and his bride recently completed a 14 months' tour of the country, an extension of what was to have been a six months' honeymoon jaunt.

After covering more than 22,500 miles in their survey of Mexican highway facilities, the McClures returned recently to this country with this report:

"It is absolutely safe to motor in Mexico."

That is the one fact motorists to Mexico should know, said McClure, a National Automobile road scout and authorized investigator for the Mexican Automobile association as well as the national tourist department.

According to McClure, Mexico has performed miracles in carrying out her tremendous program of highway construction. The first completed link in her network, and the first division of the proposed Pan-American highway to the Panama canal, is the excellent road between Laredo, Tex., and Mexico City, D. F., the nation's capital.

Mexican engineers have spanned the desert barrier just south of the Rio Grande, pierced the jungle lowlands of the "tierra caliente," and crossed the lofty peaks of the Sierra Occidente onto the high plateau where lies Mexico City. Excepting a short stretch now being paved, the McClures report, this entire route may be traveled in comfort and safety—the section under construction is rough but passable.

For the first time, the American motorist may drive his own car from any part of temperate America directly into the tropics, if he continues south from Mexico City 300 miles, over good, safe roads, to Acapulco, a city set in tropic surroundings which might have been lifted bodily from some South Seas paradise.

"Picking orchids in the morning and having a snowball battle in the afternoon," stated McClure, "are comparisons which show the nature of the country through which we traveled, but they also testify to the diversified conditions under which our Chevrolet was operated.

"From sea level to volcano summit; from the extreme heat and humidity of the lowlands to the cold rarefied atmosphere of mountain top, without carburetor adjustment, our car made an excellent showing, without noticeable depreciation in power or performance."

Obviously looking for the most adverse traveling conditions, the McClures drove over burro trails that never had felt the imprint of auto tires; on crude roads built for primitive native vehicles; through swampland and mountain passes never before undertaken by auto.

The honeymooning couple, who drove a standard half-ton panel Chevrolet truck, reported a mileage record of 18.3 miles per gallon and economical oil consumption. This showing was made in spite of the fact that the engine was tuned but once on the entire jaunt, and in spite of the fact it was necessary to omit changing oil in one period when they covered 8,000 miles of rugged travel.

"One five-week trip of ours can best be visualized by thinking of a continuous—and mighty bad—detour from Seattle to San Diego," said McClure, "and I mean a detour that would have been called bad 50 years ago!"

The McClure itinerary took in the four principal roads of Mexico as well as the uncharted by-paths. These main highways are from Laredo to Mexico City, Mexico City-Acapulco, Mexico City-Vera Cruz and Mexico City-Guadalajara. These roads were logged mile for mile by the American map-maker, and thoroughly photographed. The work of the McClures has been lauded by the Mexican government, while their maps have been certified as official by all interested government departments.

"It is safe to say," McClure asserted, "that in our travels from sea level in the tropics to an elevation of 15,000 feet, we encountered every conceivable type of road and operating condition under which a car could perform. And we have nothing but praise for the performance of our Chevrolet. Rugged and dependable, combining thrift and power, that car took the worst Mexico had to offer—and came through with flying colors every mile of the way."

GRAHAM CONTINUES PEAK PRODUCTION

Graham's fall plans call for continued "full speed" activity of the 1937 models, since the program for 1938 will not be revealed until late in October, according to F. R. Valpey, vice-president and general sales manager.

"We are still building 1937 cars and will continue to do so until late in October," Mr. Valpey said.

At the time the assembly line "breaks," an estimated 21,318 units will have been manufactured. Of these 41.04 per cent will be superchargers, an increase from 28.63 per cent Superchargers in 1936, and 6.5 per cent Supercharges in 1935.

The 1937 model year production represents an increase in total units of 10.9 per cent over 1936 model year production, and 1936 was 4.3 per cent ahead of 1935.

An airplane would pass over four states, a foreign country and a sea if it would take an airline route to the five corners of Texas. The distance flown would be nearly as far as from Los Angeles to New York.

SPEED IS TERMED 'GREAT KILLER'

Prevention Of Accidents Depends On Regulation Of Maximum Speed

During recent years a number of states have adopted the "basic rule" speed law—a measure whereby no fixed maximum highway speed is prescribed, but drivers are required to operate their vehicles with due care. Today in many of those states motor vehicle officials are coming to the view that the basic rule has failed, and that a fixed speed law, rigidly enforced, is necessary to the prevention of accidents. The national organization which studies highway legislation and first advocated the basic rule, has now changed it position, and urges fixed speed limits.

So the motorist has failed in his responsibility under a law which gave the individual wide leeway in his driving habits. Speed is still the great highway killer, breeding more violent deaths than any other driving error. It is a harsh commentary on drivers that the bulk of fatal automobile accidents occur on first class, straight highways, under good bulk of fatal automobile accidents occur on first class, straight highways, under good weather and visibility conditions, and involve cars in passable mechanical condition. Speed—the insane instinct to "open her up"—is the answer.

It is apparent that the automobile death and injury rate will continue to climb until all states cooperate to modernize their traffic codes in the light of modern conditions. Appeals to the tourists' instincts of self-preservation and public responsibility, have produced some results—but much more must be done. Seeds must be reduced. And the offending driver must be punished under laws enforced without fear or favoritism.

PONTIAC DELIVERIES SHOW BIG INCREASE

Pontiac retail deliveries are continuing at a record-breaking midsummer rate enabling the company to maintain its position of fifth in the industry for the year," according to C. P. Simpson, general sales manager.

During the first ten days of August Pontiac dealers delivered 7,929 new cars compared to 5,057 for the first ten days of July and 4,335 for the first ten days in August of last year. This figure exceeds the next highest first ten-days of August, which was in 1928, by 1,536 cars.

Although deliveries probably will fall off somewhat the last part of the month, Mr. Simpson estimates that 20,000 new cars will go into the hands of owners by September 1, which will compare with 12,274 for the month a year ago. Whatever declines take place will be entirely seasonal in nature, he says.

SPORTS CHATTER

By George V. Lofton

LOOKS LIKE PINE BLUFF

The Cotton States league schedule comes to a close today with only fourth place doubtful. Helena has a chance to be edged out by Greenville for the fourth place in the Shaughnessy playoff but it isn't much of a chance. Greenville is playing Monroe's Twins and the Seaporters must beat El Dorado.

Thus Pine Bluff, El Dorado, Greenwood and probably Greenville will enter the battle to determine the league champion. From this angle, it looks like Pine Bluff will be the winner.

It's true that Greenwood's pitchers have been going like the well known house afire lately and El Dorado's Lions have been on a winning spree that carried them 'way up into second place. But Pine Bluff's well-balanced club should be too strong for the other three entries.

The Judges have a great pitching staff, an infield that's easily the class of the league, an outfield that's good enough and some smart catching There's no denying that Henry Zajac, "Wimpy" Willis and "Preacher" Humphries are three of the best hurlers in the league. The records prove it. And young Doug Johnson, Charlie Barrett's pet, has been turning in some fine performances of late. The chief Cardinal scout said early in the season that Johnson was the best of the staff, and late developments prove that he was partly correct, at least. Johnson has been winning regularly of late.

The Judges are comparatively weak with the willow but they have the pitching and the defense to more than make up for any deficiencies at bat. The infield of Grant, Pintarell, Murphy and Yazell is the smoothest combination in the league. In the outfield, Leonard has started to hit, "Cowboy" Jones is plenty good enough in the clutch and Kirke is no slouch. The "Cowboy" isn't as spry as he used to be, but he fields well enough. Kirke is an excellent fielder, despite some bad moments recently that would indicate otherwise.

Of course, we've been told time and again that anything can happen in a short series, and events have proved that the old adage is true enough, but on form, there's nothing else to do but pick the Judges to win.

HELENA HOPEFUL

Helena's Seaporters didn't believe it could be done but they were hoping against hope that Monroe's lowly Twins would knock off Greenville's Buckshots in the current series. And when the Twins really did down Mr. Styles' aspiring Bucks in the opener, Helena fans were most pleased, to say the least.

But the Seaporters, crippled as they are, weren't able to take advantage of the break. They lost to El Dorado and Monroe's victory didn't do 'em a bit of good as far as the standings were concerned.

Beauford Rhea, present manager of the Monroe club, played with Helena last year. Just before the first game between Monroe and Greenville started a messenger boy delivered a telegram to Mr. Rhea. It was signed by several Helena fans and pleadingly urged Mr. Rhea to do his darnedest to beat Greenville. And that's just what the Twins did. Whether or not the telegram had anything to do with it, Manager Rhea got two hits and drove in two runs, enough to beat the Bucks.

Maybe the Helena fans should have wired Rhea Friday—and Saturday, too.

BROWNIES POUND 3 YANK PITCHERS FOR 9-5 VICTORY

Despite DiMaggio's 38th Homer, Leaders Lose Under 12-Hit Barrage

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The New York Yankees threw their "conceded" pitchers at the Browns today, and results were about as expected.

Despite Joe DiMaggio's 38th homer of the year, delivered with a mate on base in the fourth, the Brownies belted Blubber Malone, Ivy Paul Andrews and Frank Makosky for a dozen hits and scored a 9 to 5 victory.

The defeat made no difference in the Yanks' 11½-game lead on the American league, however, since the second place Detroit Tigers also were defeated today. The loss ended the Yanks' three-game winning streak and gave the Brownies their only win of the three-game series.

CHISOX SHADE NATS

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Those two venerable gentlemen of the White Sox, Manager Jimmy Dykes and Pitcher Ted Lyons, teamed up today to give the Chicago club a 3 to 2 victory over the Washington Senators. The series, last here with the Senators this season, went to the White Sox two games to one.

Today an ankle injury to Mule Haas forced the aging Sox pilot to play first base. He handled 13 chances without an error and slammed out a home run for his team's third and winning marker.

Lyons, dean of the Sox mound corps, held the Senators to seven hits, besting Wes Ferrell, who gave up eight safeties. One of them, however, was Dykes' homer, his first of the

NOW THE GREAT DIZ CAN TALK BIG WORDS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, by his own description, was the "big bursitis man" tonight.

That sounds like it has something to do with the Cardinal pitcher's frequent "poppin' off," but it doesn't.

"Bursitis" is a medical term meaning an inflammation of the bursa, which is a sac-like cavity at the base of the arm holding fluid to lessen friction between the moving parts.

That was Dr. Robert Hyland's diagnosis this morning of the ailment which has caused Dizzy to complain of a sore arm every time he went to the mound during the past month or so.

The Cardinal club surgeon said, however, the condition was not serious. He ordered Dean to give his arm a complete rest.

POSTPONEMENT TO HELP 'GATE' FOR LOUIS-FARR BOUT

By Paul Mickelson

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Sunshine flooded everybody's skies today except Tommy Farr's as the ex-Welsh coal miner, one of the most belittled heavyweight challengers since Gentleman Jim Corbett warmed up for the mighty John L. Sullivan, awaited his chance at Joe Louis' title.

After a week of intermittent rain, which forced postponement of the big fight from Thursday to Monday night, the sun came out with every indication of providing clear skies for the battle.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, reporting a new rush of ticket sales and few cancellations because of the postponement, was so elated he left early for his country home in New Jersey. Louis, though warned against overconfidence, also seemed bright and confident.

Farr, who hasn't been a fight favorite since his carnival days, was more angered than discouraged but his camp handlers were perturbed because a sparring mate, Abe Feldman, had scored a clean knockdown against the challenger in yesterday's workout at Long Branch, N. J. Though they publicly dismissed the incident and mumbled something about a wet floor, they were worried lest Farr be overtrained.

Jacobs made no attempt to suppress the news that Farr had been floored. In fact, Uncle Mike seemed a bit happy as he hasn't been any too confident the last few days that Louis would have exactly a pushover in the rough and tumble Welshman.

"Sure he went down," said Jacobs. "Anyway Jersey Jones (Farr's press agent) said he did and Jersey doesn't tell strange tales unless they're true. All it will affect is the odds. We got only $1,000 worth of tickets back from the fans who had to return home and couldn't wait for Monday but the box office sold $10,000 worth of tickets yesterday. I now have $152,000 in cash exclusive of the $60,000 I'm getting from radio and movies. There's $57,000 worth of ducats outstanding on consignment so how can I miss doing $300,000?"

So it seems as if Mike is definitely out of the red on this one.

Farr was in a war-like mood today. Angered when a war correspondent questioned him too closely on Feldman's knockdown triumph, he lost his temper and shouted:

"One more mention of my nerves and I'll fling you through the door, you bloody cough drop!"

Indian Mentor To Hold Two Sessions Daily; Huffman To Assist With Team

At least 32 candidates, comprising what Coach Jim Malone believes will be the best team in Northeast Center's short history, will report for fall football practice at the junior college Wednesday morning, Coach Malone announced last night.

Included on the squad which will begin preparation for the 1937 schedule at 6 a.m. Wednesday will be 12 lettermen around which the Indian eleven will be built. Coach Malone said he would issue equipment Tuesday afternoon and that beginning Wednesday morning, two daily workouts will be held until the season opens.

It also was announced yesterday that A. S. Huffman, teacher of health and physical education for men at Northeast Center, would assist Coach Malone with the team. Huffman, a graduate of L. S. U., is from DeRidder and has had high school coaching experience. It is not known whether 'Buck" Brown, assistant coach last year, will return. Brown played professional baseball this summer and he may take a fling at pro football.

Coach Malone believes the 1937 squad will be even better than the club which swept through its 1935 schedule undefeated and claimed the national junior college championship. He said the team has no apparent weakness.

Last season the Indians had a good first team but few capable reserves. This year, however, there will be plenty of reinforcements for every position, with the reserves as good as the starters, Coach Malone said.

Practically every player who will report Wednesday saw service in spring training. The twelve returning lettermen were outstanding members of last year's club. Several boys not included on the list announced yesterday by Coach Malone are expected to show up for the first session and the squad may be increased to forty players by the time school starts.

The following will be on hand when the grind starts Wednesday morning:

Ends—Bill Pittman, W. D. Jenkins, "Red" Anders, "Shorty" Stout, Charles Tabor, Parlie Henley and Leon Apgar.

Tackles—Allen McNees, Ernest Freeman, Reuben McKellar, L. D. Reed and "Lips" Seiler.

Halfbacks — Dick Elliott, Vernon "Cotton" Leatherwood, Tug Seivers, Charles Ray and Aubrey Johnson.

Quarterbacks—Bobby Kellogg and James Meeks.

Coach Malone said the 1937 team will have plenty of weight in the line and a fast, shifty and versatile backfield. Coach Malone earlier this year was worried about his ends but with seven candidates on hand, including Bill Pittman from last year's club and "Red" Anders, who apparently "found himself" when given an opportunity to perform at one of the terminals, the wings will be one of the strongest parts of the line, the mentor declared.

The Center team faces a stiff schedule this fall and Coach Malone said he would waste little time with preliminaries, once the training grind begins. The squad is expected to be going at full speed within a week.

WOODERSON BREAKS WORLD MILE RECORD

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Stanley Wooderson, little, spindly, bespectacled bank clerk, smashed the world mile record today and became the first Englishman in more than 50 years to set a new international standard at that classic distance.

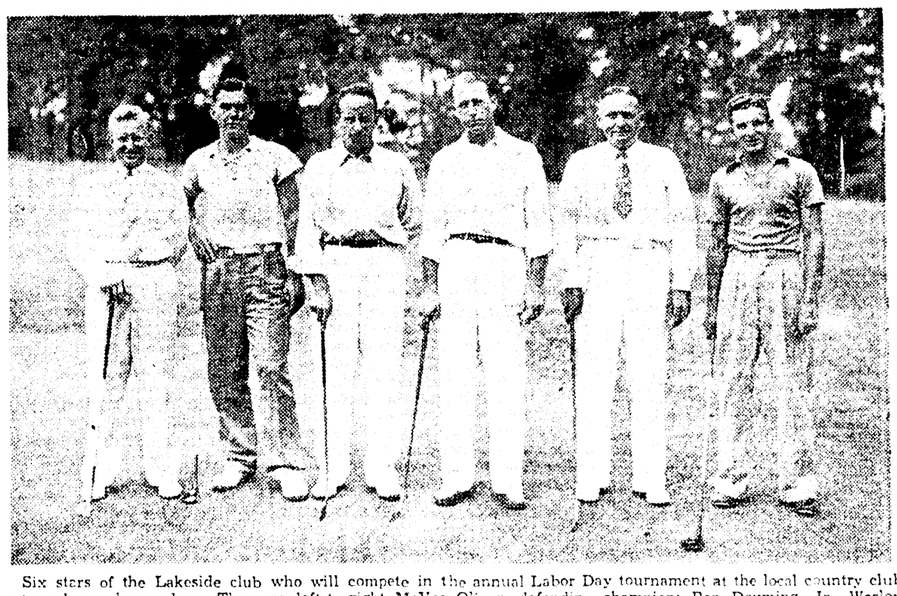
Paced by two club-mates in a special race, Wooderson was clocked in 4:06.6, thus clipping two-tenths of a second off Glenn Cunningham's listed world record fo 4:06.8, set at Princeton, N. J., in 1934.

Wooderson, who established British and English native mile records at 4:10.8 in 1936 and gained fame as the man the fleet New Zealander, Jack Lovelock, couldn't beat, accepted an invitation to try for a new world standard over his favorite track at Hotspur park, London, during a meet held by his own club, the Blackheath Harriers.

Two club-mates, B. C. Eeles and R. H. Thomas, were given handicaps of 65 and 10 yards respectively, and instructions to set the fastest possible pace. Thomas dropped out after a half mile but Eeles continued and led the fast-closing Wooderson across the line.

Wooderson was caught in 58.6 at the quarter-mile post, 2:02.6 at the half and 3:07.2 at the three-quarters. Thus he achieved his new record mainly through fast times on the first and fourth quarters. By quarters his times were 58.6, 64.0, 64.6 and 59.4.

STARS OF HOST CLUB SEEK LABOR DAY TITLE



Six stars of the Lakeside club who will compete in the annual Labor Day tournament at the local country club next week are shown above. They are, left to right, McVea Oliver, defending champion; Ben Downing, Jr., Wesley Shafto, Shep Girault, H. K. Touchstone and Cramer Haas. Haas won the championship in 1935 and Shafto was the winner in 1934.

GOLFERS MEET AT LAKESIDE TODAY

Hodge-Alexandria Team Meets Bastrop-Monroe Squad In 18-Hole Tourney

Approximately 90 golfers, representing clubs at Alexandria, Bastrop, Hodge and Monroe, will compete today in 18-hole matches at Lakeside Country club.

Teams will be formed pitting players from Alexandria and Hodge against Bastrop and Monroe golfers. It is probable that several local players will compete with the Alexandria-Hodge team.

Many of the golfers who play in today's tourney also will post their qualifying scores for the annual Labor Day tournament, which officially opens next Saturday at the Lakeside club. Players may qualify for the Labor Day meet from today until next Saturday night.

Golfers of the Municipal and McGuire Park clubs will compete with Lakeside players in forming the Monroe team in today's matches. Play will start at 10 o'clock and continue through the afternoon.

The Lakeside course has been placed in excellent condition for the matches today and the tournament this week-end. The greens and fairways are in good shape and the clubhouse also has been "touched up" for the coming tourney. Parts of the clubhouse have been re-painted and the furnishings placed in good condition for the guests who will attend the Labor Day tourney.

Many well known golfers already have filed their entries for the tourney, which gets under way with the pro-amateur matches on Saturday afternoon. First round of match play will start Sunday morning, with the finals slated for Monday afternoon. A dance and a barbecue for the players and their guests are entertainment features which have been arranged.

McVea Oliver is the defending champion.

ST. JOSEPH TIGERS TO PLAY AT NATCHEZ TODAY

ST. JOSEPH, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Rained out in the last home game on the schedule Thursday, the St. Joseph Tigers journey to Natchez to meet the Indians of that city in the season's finale Sunday.

The Tribe and the Bengals have tied up five times this year, with the Mississippians winning three of the games, all three played in Natchez. In an effort to even the six game set and to end the season with a win, Skipper Wilds will send Slick Watson, a fast working speedballer, against the Redskins. Lefty Kenda, L. S. U. portsider, will oppose the Bengals.

Relief hurlers will be Holman Dacus and Fred Outlaw for the Louisianians and Gene Peale, a lefty, for Natchez.

The Tigers have won 12 games this year while losing 6, one 14-inning tie with Jonesville completing the card.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The Lookouts and the Little Rock Pebs split a double bill here today with the Chattanoogans winning the first tilt 5 to 1 and dropping the second 3 to 2.

Little Rock staved off a Lookout rally in the last frame of the second game to come out ahead under the pitching of Dick Midkiff, who allowed five hits.

VICTORY ENABLES GREENVILLE TO HOLD 4TH PLACE

Mississippians Pound Foster For 15 Hits; Season Ends With Two Today

GREENVILLE, Miss., Aug. 28.—(Special) — Greenville's Buckshots practically clinched a place in the Shaughnessy playoff for the Cotton States league championship today by blanking the Monroe Twins, 9 to 0, while Helena, the other contender for fourth place, was dropping a 16-0 decision to El Dorado. It was Helena's third straight defeat at the hands of the Lions.

Saturday's victory, coupled with Helena's defeat, gave Greenville a lead of a game and a half over the Seaporters in the battle for fourth position. The regularly scheduled season closes Sunday with each team in the league playing a double header and Greenville must lose both games to Monroe to forfeit their chance to gain the playoff round.

"Chick" Galeria, veteran Greenville southpaw, was in rare form Saturday and turned back the Twins with three hits. Monroe didn't threaten to score at any stage of the game and Galeria breezed through to an impressive triumph.

Homer Foster hurled for Monroe and the Bucks got to him for 15 hits. Greenville jumped on Foster for two runs in the first inning, added two more in the third, another pair in the fourth and single runs in the fifth, sixth and eighth frames. With Gale Staley holding down all the way, only one of these runs would have been sufficient but the Bucks went out and fattened their batting averages at the expense of Foster.

BROWN, ROWE PLAY TWINS

The Brown Paper mill Brownies, defending champions in the Ouachita Valley league and leading the race for the second half flag, will meet Monroe's Twins at Casino park Monday night and "Schoolboy" Rowe, Detroit hurler, will start on the mound for the Brownies, it was announced last night.

Rowe, who has been appearing in exhibition games since he left the Tigers because of a sore arm, will pitch four or more innings for Brown and then shift to first base, it was said. One of the regular Brown hurlers will take up the mound duties.

The Cotton States league season ends today and the Twins will return here.

Admission charges for the Brown-Monroe game will be 50 and 25 cents. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

GIANTS WIN TWO AS CUBS SPLIT TWIN BILL

New York Trims Pirates Twice While Bees Are Holding Bruins To Even Break

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The New York Giants routed the Pirates in both ends of a double-header today, thus achieving five victories in three consecutive twin bills, and moved within a single game of the pace-making Chicago Cubs.

The polo grounds echoed with the roar of a crowd of 42,438 fans as the national league champions continued their forward surge, despite the second straight failure of their ace southpaw, Carl Hubbell, to show winning form.

Hubbell was knocked out of the box in the seventh inning of the opener, when the Pirates tied the score, but Dick Coffman subdued the Bucs and the Giants staged a slugfest at the finish to take a 9 to 4 decision.

Hal Schumacher returned to form in the second game, limited the Pirates to four hits, and gained an impressive 3 to 1 verdict as the Giants halted the six-game winning streak of 22-years old Russ Bauers, rookie right-hander.

Mel Ott, who belted his 27th homer in the eighth inning of the first game, was again the big gun in the New York's attack but Burgess Whitehead contributed five useful hits and Jack McCarthy, slender first baseman, enjoyed the distinction of driving home the winning run in each contest.

Little Lloyd Waner, Pirate centerfielder, was the base-hitting star, however, with six singles in his first seven times at bat.

The Giants, who tackle Cincinnati next, now are only seven percentage points behind the leading Cubs. Chicago, splittle two games today wih Boston, has won 71 and lost 46 games for .607. The Giants have won 69 and lost 46 for .600.

BEES, CUBS DIVIDE

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—It was a pretty gloomy 38th birthday for Manager Charlie Grimm today until relief pitcher Clay Bryant belted a 10th inning homer for his boss to give the Chicago Cubs an even break with the Boston Bees and keep them in first place.

Bryant's circuit clout brought four runs and a 10 to 7 victory in the nightcap after Rookie Lou Fette had set down the Cubs 3 to 1 in the opener.

The Giants' double-victory over the Pirates sliced the Chicago lead to less than a full game.

The homer climaxed a knock 'em down, drag 'em out second game which saw seven pitchers lambasted for 26 hits, four being home runs.

Two were out when Chicago unleashed its winning attack in the 10th. Frey and Cavaretta singled and Frank Gabler, who relieved Hutchinson, walked Stainback. With the bases loaded Bryant sent the ball over the left field fence for his first homer of the season.

Fette hung up his 15th victory of the season in muffling the Cubs with five hits in the opener.

REDS, DODGERS SPLIT

BROOKLYN, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds, fighting for the doubtful distinction of the national league cellar, divided a pair of pitching duels today, and remained exactly where they were, with the Brooklyns a half game behind their rivals.

Roy Henshaw and Ben Cantwell gave the Reds only three hits in the opener, but that was enough for the Cincinnati club to score a 3 to 0 shutout victory, behind Paul Derringer's six-hit elbowing. Big Max Butcher turned in a nine-hitter in the nightcap for a 2 to 1 Brooklyn triumph.

Gene Schott, who went the route for the Reds in the second game, allowed only six hits, but four of these were bunched in two frames.

PHILS WHIP CARDS AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The surprising Phillies stretched their winning streak to five straight today, scoring a 9 to 6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals to sweep a four-game series.

Two home runs by Dolph Camilli, his 19th and 20th of the season, each time with a man on base, plus Pinky Whitney's seventh circuit clout of the year with two on, offset six Philadelphia errors and gave Orville Jorgens his third victory of the season.

GRID OFFICIALS UNDERGO TESTS

Southern Arbiters' Speed Clocked And Then They Get Rules Quiz

ATLANTA, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The men who blow the whistle went to school today for examinations designed to elevate the efficiency of football officiating in Dixie's gridiron contests.

They ran tests of speed and they wrote out in classrooms their answers to intricate rules problems likely to arise in the line of duty.

It was the annual meeting of the Southern Football Officials association, where for the first time its members went through parts of a 16-point program that will set up a selective group which will receive preference in the award of games.

The program, sponsored by Secretary Arthur R. Hutchens of Lake Wales, Fla., and adopted last July at a meeting of the board of directors, was officially approved, 59 to 18, at a business session.

Officials dashed off 50 yards in a speed test on Georgia Tech's gridiron. They dressed in regulation uniforms, which drew points for neatness. Then in four divisions—referees, umpires, linesmen and judges—they took classroom quizzes.

There were dissenting voices to the program, which Hutchens said would raise the caliber of southern officiating to its highest plane in history. The opposition was of the opinion a wholehearted and frank discussion of rules would do more good than the various tests of efficiency.

No scores were announced for the speed tests and rules examinations. In the speed trials, seven seconds were set up as a minimum standard for the arbiters who have to dash alongside speedy halfbacks in goalward jaunts.

Twenty-two questions were asked in the rules quiz. Each official was given 45 minutes to answer the list. On the whole, the tests were finished in ordered time, but the scores were not announced.

W. E. (Ted) Arnold of Jacksonville, Fla., who succeeded James Y. Perry of Columbia, S. C., as president of the association, conducted the tests for referees; G. M. (Pup) Phillips of Atlanta, named vice-president handled the linesmen; A. Paul Menton of Baltimore, was in charge of the referees and Battle Bagley of Fayetteville, Tenn., handled the field judges.

BULLDOGS BEGIN FALL WORKOUTS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Squad To Number 41 On First Day; Team Opens With Oklahoma City Sept. 17

RUSTON, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—"Louisiana Tech this fall probably will have the best prospects for a good football team but definitely will have the toughest schedule in its history."

That summarizes the sayings of casual observers, who speak from the corner of their mouth in the familiar attempt to convince the listener before the truth comes out of the 41 Bulldog candidates expected to report for practice on Wednesday, September 1.

The roster of anticipated Techmen shows the group to be about as evenly divided into class rank as it is possible to divide the 41, the list numbering 14 sophomores, 14 seniors and 13 juniors. Furthermore, the arrangement of probable playing positions is fairly well balanced, with the most likely source of complaint, if any, being based on a shortage of tackles and guards. Most of the men groomed for those posts, however, are of good repute, and Head Coach Eddie McLane isn't squawking yet.

On paper, the Tech mentor has it figured that there will be six guards, seven tackles, seven ends, four centers and 17 backs.

Three outstanding eligibles for the guard roles, who probably will not return to Tech this year, according to Coach McLane, are Ollie J. Breclaw, Emile Nogasky and George Rajcan. A senior end, E. A. Woodard, is reported to have chosen another location to pursue his education, while Herman Hewett, valuable to the Techsters for two varsity years as a fullback and general morale builder, plans to study eye-doctoring in Tennessee the coming year.

Through the graduation route, only three former Techmen will be lost to the squad this fall. They are Howard Kidd, center; Billy Mitchell, halfback, and Ben (Mohawk) Phillips, end.

While the Tech gridiron roll may be increased slightly as time marches on, the present list of 41 looked-for aspirants is as follows:

Centers—Irwin Causey, Monroe; John Hewitt, Ruston; W. A. Jones, Mangham, and Dick Leach, Shreveport.

Ends—Clyde Funderburk, Wisner; James Sumrall, Monroe; M. S. (Buddy) Trimble, Monroe; Huey Williamson, Forest; Gordon Adams, Columbia; Victor Blodgett, Gary, Ind., and Butler Eakin, Pattison, Miss.

Guards—Aloys Adkins, Haynesville; Houston Beaumont, Birmingham, Ala.; Harry Girard, El Dorado, Ark.; Jack Jaggers, Dardanelle, Ark.; Pat Meeks, Rayville, and Captain Johnny Wyss, Russellville, Ark.

Backs—M. G. Barrett, El Dorado, Ark.; Guy Carroll, Homer; Charlie Caston, Lake Charles; Wallace (Jakie) Hanna, Minden; John LaBue, Birmingham, Ala.; Alton Westbrook, Westlake; E. B. (Toad) Williams, Choudrant; Joe Eager, Birmingham, Ala.; Howard Barker, Jennings; Dick Basco, Monroe; LeRoy (Buddy) McCrea, Hammond, Ind.; John Wiley, Birmingham, Ala.; Don Wiley, Birmingham, Ala.; Ben Whitman, Jennings; Herbert Massey, Tallulah; Carl Gardner, Shreveport, and Alternate-Captain Don Darling, Ruston.

Knowing the foregoing candidates as they do, the fans point out that Tech has the makings of a good football team. But when it comes to the matter of luck the boys will have in winning games, the gossipers look at the schedule and say nothing.

The season opens, for instance, 17 days after practice begins, with Oklahoma City university at Ruston, a team alleged to be of strong proportions. Then a week later the Techmen play Ole Miss at Oxford. At least two other elevens on the 11-game card expected to "put up a good fight" are the University of South Dakota and Centenary. The Shreveport Gents, coming "last but not least" on the Tech list, have not played the local college gridmen since 1930, when they licked the Bulldogs in a homecoming attraction here.

Following is the complete Tech schedule:

September 17—Oklahoma City university at Ruston (night).
September 25—University of Mississippi at Oxford, Miss.
October 2—Illinois Wesleyan at Ruston (homecoming).
October 8—Millsaps college at Ruston (night).
October 15—Mississippi State Teachers at Ruston (night).
October 23—Louisiana State Normal at state fair, Shreveport.
October 30—Open.
November 6—University of Tampa at Tampa, Fla.
November 12—Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Ruston (night).
November 20—Louisiana college at Pineville.
November 25—University of South Dakota at Ruston.
December 4—Centenary college at Ruston.

Ouachita Football Squad To Start Work Tomorrow

Lions To Have Veteran Backfield, Green Line For Current Campaign

The Ouachita Parish High school Lions go into training tomorrow morning for their 1937 football campaign in new Class AA competition, and from all indications Coach "Lefty" Haynes will just about have to rebuild his entire eleven.

There will be very little preliminary work, Coach Haynes said, due to the fact that the Lions open their season on September 17, and for that reason the locals will be in the midst of the hard drills by Wednesday.

According to present plans, the Lions will go through two workouts daily until school opens September 13, and they will be given their dinner and supper in the school cafeteria where their diet can be watched carefully by the athletic department.

Ouachita's biggest losses since last fall have occurred in the line, six of the seven regular linemen having graduated, but Coach Haynes has a capable lot of reserves coming up and expects to have another good team this year. Only one member of last season's backfield, Sol Mayer, was lost, but another, W. B. Stewart, fullback, has married and although he is eligible it is doubtful whether he will return to school.

The only returning line veteran is Floyd Van, veteran tackle, who will probably be shifted to a wing position this season. Fain Richards, who lettered at guard, will be the only other returning lineman of any reasonable amount of experience. Buford Goss, heavyweight reserve tackle, also lettered last fall, and is practically assured of a tackle job.

Alvin Fleming, Cason Mitchell and Paul Patterson, all regulars in the 1936 backfield, will be back this season, and should Stewart return, the Lions should have little trouble with their backfield possibilities.

Candidates expected to be on hand tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock for the opening drills are F. Vann, Goss, F. Richards, Fleming, Mitchell, Patterson, Watson Stron, Benny Averette, James Peters, Albert Gerson, James Brothers, Sam Williams, John Wilhite, George Byron Vaughan and Milton Sumerall, all members of last year's squad. Several new additions are expected to come up from the freshman squad, including W. Sievers, M. Funderburk, L. C. Corser, H. Bittick, R. Edgar, M. McMullin, M. LeBlanc, C. Brown and T. Younse.

The Lions face an 11-game schedule this season, which has been announced by Coach Haynes as follows:

Sept. 27—Louisiana Normal Frosh, here.
Sept. 24—Delhi, here.
Oct. 1—Camden, Ark., at Camden.
Oct. 8—Tallulah, here.
Oct. 15—Mangham, here.
Oct. 22—Bastrop, here.
Oct. 29—Haynesville, at Haynesville
Nov. 5—Byrd, at Shreveport.
Nov. 11—Choudrant, here.
Nov. 19—Lake Charles, at Lake Charles.
Thanksgiving—Bolton of Alexandria, here.

RECREATION LEAGUE

INDIANS WIN TITLE

The Indians won the Recreation baseball league championship by defeating the Lida Benton Bees, 16 to 1, Friday morning. J. Dent, hurling for the Bees, limited the Indians to six hits, but his wildness that resulted in numerous walks lost him the game.

ADLER CHAMPS TO PLAY BAKERS TODAY

The Saul Adler Garage softball team, City league champions, will meet the Bakers, who finished on top in the regular schedule of the Twilight league, at Y's park this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Both the Bakers and the Garagemen finished the season on top in their respective leagues. The Bakers had the misfortune of being eliminated by Southern Bell in the play-off, but the Adler crew eliminated Tidwell and Sons in the semi-finals and then went on to take two straight from Monroe Hardware to retain their title as City league champions.

The contest should be interesting as the Bakers have one of the best hitting teams in either league, while the City league teams say Carroll Boyce is the best pitcher in either league.

The Garagemen are to meet the St. Matthew's Ushers beginning some time next week for the city championship. St. Matthew's won the Twilight league championship by taking straight victories from the Methodists and Southern Bell.

ORLEANS JUNIORS BEAT OMAHA, 8-6

Zatarains Tie Score In 9th, Win In 11th To Gain National Finals

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 28.—(AP)—New Orleans sent a team into the "little world series" of baseball today for the sixth time since inception of the American Legion junior tournament as the Zatarains defeated Omaha 8 to 6, in 11 innings.

Stocky little Sidney Crochet, who had pitched winning baseball for seven innings and then turned the job over to Howard Pollett to play centerfield, won the game for his successor and the Zatarians by driving in the two winning runs in the eleventh with the bases loaded.

A crowd of 6,264 saw the New Orleans team win the third and deciding game of the Legion semi-finals. Afterward legion officials announced that the final tilts, with East Lynn, Mass., competing for the east, will open here Monday night at Heinemann park. The two teams will play Tuesday night, rest Wednesday, and play Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights if necessary to determine the winner of a three-of-five series.

The Zatarains won today after losing the first game Thursday to Omaha, 13 to 7, and taking the second yesterday, 29 to 5.

Philip Kleins, winner of the opening game for the Nebraskans, pitched all 11 innings today and was a tired youngster at the finish. He allowed the Zatarains only 10 blows, whereas Crochet and Pollet gave up 15. Lack of control, more than anything else, cost him the game. He walked 10 men and hit another with a pitched ball.

Bill Carey, who drove home two runs in the ninth with a triple, was the batting star for Omaha.

GOODMAN BEATS BILLOWS 2 UP TO WIN TITLE

NEBRASKA STAR PROTECTS EARLY MARGIN TO WIN

New Yorker Makes Stirring Rally On Last Nine But Fails To Halt Omahan

By Russell J. Newland

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Johnny Goodman, the boy who came from the other side of Omaha's railroad tracks to become one of the world's top-notch golfers, climaxed a 10-year quest by winning the National Amateur championship today.

He defeated Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., comparative newcomer to major tournament competition, on Alderwood Country club course, 2 up, as the windup of one of the most thrill-packed championships in many a year.

It was a grand finale to a week of blistering rounds that saw the defending title holder, Johnny Fischer, shoved out by a lop-sided score; three former champions beaten and old man par mauled around at times in unceremonious fashion.

Billows, the 23-year-old printing company employe who first swung a club six years ago and drove to his first big tournament in one of those automobile junkheaps college boys buy for $7.50, beat the defending title holder but he couldn't overcome the Goodman jinx.

It was Omaha's Johnny who blasted Billows from the National Amateur last year, 2 and 1, in the quarter-finals.

On the final 36 holes, some 6,000 quiet but excited fans formed the background of a golfing drama in which a veteran campaigner fought grimly to stave off the closing bid of a less experienced but determined challenger.

Three up as they left the 32nd hole, Goodman saw his lead go down to one as Billows birdied the 33rd with a 4, and took the 34th with a par 3. The 35th was halved in 4s.

It was one up and one to go. Goodman played straight down the middle, holding back on his shots to remain straight. He was 60 yards from the green in two.

Billows took the only possible chance—his drive whistled down the fairway far out in front of Goodman's first shot.

Billows put everything into his second shot, trying to reach the green of the long hole. The big gamble failed. He pushed the ball to the right. It rolled off the fairway, hit a woman spectator and dropped into the rough.

Goodman, meanwhile, approached to within six feet of the pin. Billows came out too strong and the ball rolled 25 feet past the cup. His putt, too, was bold, and overran a couple of feet.

The match ended then. Billows walked over to his rival and shook hands, thus conceding Goodman a birdie 4 on the 36th.

At no time was Billows in front. Goodman shot the first nine in 36, one under par, to Billows' 37 for a one-hole margin. He was 2 up at the 18th and 3 up at the 27th.

Goodman won the second with a par 4. Billows finding trouble in the rough and having a weak out. They halved two holes, the 510-yard fourth in birdie 4s, and Johnny made it two up with a par on the next.

Billows' second banged against the pin on the eighth and he won it by tapping the two-inch putt in for a birdie 3.

The Omaha boy took the 18th with a par to go two up again. Billows' second shot carrying over the green and hitting a tree to fall in deep rough.

Two birdies, a two on the 182-yard 11th and a 3 on the 449-yard 12th, put Billows on even terms with his rival. The New Yorker rammed down 12 and 30 feet putts respectively.

Billows lost the 13th when he failed to jump a short stymie, but he squared the count when Goodman was unable to get a five-footer down on the next hole, taking a bogie 4.

A birdie 4 on the 510-yard 15th—resulting from a 70-yard approach six feet over the cup—put Goodman one up again and he made it two on the 16th, where Billows was trapped and muffed the out. They halved the last two holes of the morning round in pars.

Billows came out after lunch to win the 19th with an eagle 3, putting his second within a foot of the cup. But Goodman regained the role with a par 4 on the 20th and halved the next two.

Billows' par four won the 23rd but Goodman retaliated with a birdie 4 on the 24th and a par 4 on the 25th to go three up, a lead he held as they moved through the 27th.

A stymie cost Billows the 28th and he seemed destined to go down to a one-sided defeat as Goodman posted a four-hole advantage.

But the youngster from New York wasn't through. He pitched up from a bank to within six feet to win the 29th with a par 3 while Goodman was messing up the hole to take a 5. The next three were halved in pars. Billows kept pounding away to win the 510-yard 33rd with a birdie 4 after knocking his third up to within six feet of the cup.

Johnny, meanwhile, bobbled on an eight foot try, the ball stopping six inches away. That made the count two up in his favor. Billows won the 34th with a standard 3. Goodman conceded after chipping weakly, then over-running the pin.

They halved the 35th in 4s. It was one up and one to go. Billows made his last try. It failed. The crowd gave a great ovation to a new champion.

The medal scores were the same for the day, in reverse order. In the morning Goodman scored 72 to Billows' 73, and in the afternoon it was Billows with a 72 and Goodman 73. The total for the day, 145, was one over par.

MISSIONS BUY THREE

PALESTINE, Tex., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Three members of the Palestine Pals of the East Texas league will report to the San Antonio Missions of the Texas league when the season for their team ends next week. They are: Mickey Hornsby, catcher, who is slated to work regularly for the Missions; Second Baseman Jess Newman, now leading East Texas league batters, and Pitcher Manuel Perez, righthander. First Baseman Harold Folger will report to the Meridian, Miss., club next spring.

GERMAN STARS TO SEMI-FINALS

Von Cramm And Henkel Win Hard Fought Match With Buxby And Cooke

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Calling upon almost every bit of their tremendous power, Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Henner Henkel today moved into the semi-final round of the national doubles tennis tournament here with a hard-earned 11-9, 7-5, 6-4 victory over Martyn Buxby, Miami, and Elwood Cooke, Portland, Ore.

Those American youngsters, braving the big Bertha-caliber barrages of their more famous German opponents, flinched only three times during the blistering match and were out-scored by 20 points.

The triumph moved von Cramm and Henkel, who topped the foreign seeded list, against the second ranking domestic team, John Van Ryn, Austin, Tex., and Joe Hunt, Los Angeles, which gained the second last round with a 6-3, 8-6, 6-0 victory over Jacques Brugnon and Yvon Petra, the French entry.

Today's two pairs of victors will play off tomorrow when the title defenders, Don Budge and Gene Mako, strive to gain their third championship round in as many years by topping Bryan Grant, Atlanta, and Wayne Sabin, Los Angeles. The champions and the southwest forces qualified for the semi-finals on Thursday, before rain interrupted the program for the second time this week.

The women's schedule opened with Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan and Alice Marble, the national singles champion, safely in the semi-final round, with the result that three quarter-finals had to be played to round out that stage of the tourney.

Survivors included the defending champions, Mrs. John Van Ryn and Carolin Babcock, and the two British teams, Kay Stammers and Freda James and Joan Ingram and Evelyn Dearman.

Mrs. Van Ryn and Miss Babcock came from behind to overcome unseeded but powerful Dorothy Bundy, Santa Monica, Calif., and Jadwiga Jedrzejowska of Poland, 7-9, 6-2, 8-6.

Miss Stammers and Miss James also got off on the downbeat against Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York, and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, France, but they waged an uphill battle for a 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 triumph. The other British girls eliminated Helen Jacobs, former American tennis queen, and Gracyn Wheeler, Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

RUSTON STOPS BROWN

RUSTON, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—With two out in the tenth and the score tied, Hartford Causey lifted one of Truman Mayes' fast balls over the fence for an 8 to 7 victory for Ruston Saturday. The largest crowd of the season witnessed the most exciting game of the year.

Davis pitched a great game but was relieved by "Zire" Lewis after Callander lifted one over the fence to cut Ruston's early lead to one run. Talbot drove in the tying run for Brown in the ninth and with Mayes pitching sensational ball, it looked like a real pitchers' battle between the two ace hurlers. But Causey made Lewis the winning pitcher with his 10th inning home run.

Saturday's game was played in Ruston through the courtesy of Herb Steed because of an early postponed game. The two teams meet at Brown Paper mill tomorrow.

RUSTON AT BROWN

Ruston's Volunteers, who yesterday knocked off the Brown Paper mill club, will journey to Brown today for another game with Manager Herb Steed's club.

As a result of yesterday's defeat, Brown went into a tie for first place with Swartz and Crossett. A defeat today would practically eliminate the Brownies, unless the other clubs likewise hit a snag.

Manager Steed said last night that he didn't know which pitcher would start for Brown. He used three flingers yesterday and the Vols hit hard against them all.

OHIO BOY DRAWS ANOTHER TOUGH MAT ASSIGNMENT

Davis Expected To Provide Stiffest Test Yet Faced By Sexton

Frank Sexton, the clever stadium favorite who has been knocking off tough foes with regularity, will get probably his stiffest assignment next Thursday night when he is called upon to dispose of Karl Davis, rated one of the meanest grapplers in the business, in the main event of the weekly wrestling show at Twin City stadium.

Sexton last week trimmed Tommy O'Toole, burly Texan, just as he had beaten Angelo Cistoldi, "Gorilla" Macias and Ellis Bashara on previous Thursday evenings. But, despite the fact that all four are first rate villains in this section, not one of them can compare with Davis when Karl is primed for a session of mauling.

Davis is not particularly old as wrestlers go but he's been in the business a long time and he knows two tricks to every one that O'Toole, Cistoldi, Macias or Bashara can spring. He apparently relishes the roughest sort of treatment, because the harder his opponent socks him, the harder he socks in return. In fact, Davis has participated in some bloody matches in the southwest during the past three years and the gorier they are, the better showing the barrel-house battler performs.

So Sexton, who has built up a large following here because of his clever work against the rough boys, will have his hands full Thursday night. Many fans will string along with Frank but there are many others who believe that the idol of Monroe fans won't be able to take the punishment that Davis is almost certain to dish out. Karl has shown here several times in the past, although not recently, and Monroe mat fans know what he can do.

Both Sexton and Davis are from Ohio, but that's the only similarity. Their methods are as different as day and night. Sexton, although he has been known to resort to his fists when he gets enough of rough handling, prefers the scientific style of wrestling and his knowledge of that department of the game is what has carried him to victory over his foes here. Davis, on the other hand, goes into battle with both fists flying and sets an amazingly fast pace of slam-bang grappling. He pays no attention to the rules and the referee who stops him from using his illegal tricks will have to be a combination of Jack Dempsey in his prime and Jim Londos.

The promoters said yesterday that they are negotiating for two scientific performers to wrestle in the semi-final. Ray Villmar, the Missouri youngster, will be one of the semi-finalists but the other had not been booked last night. It was announced that he would be a newcomer here.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event limited to two hours and the semi-final having a one-hour time limit.

Coach Moore Has Nucleus Of 14 Lettermen Around Which To Build Team

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Forty-six candidates for the honor of helping defend Louisiana State university's Southeastern conference title will report for the opening of football practice next Wednesday but eleven veterans of the 1936 championship team will be conspicuous by their absence.

Gaynell Tinsley, twice All-American end, and ten other veterans of the teams which brought L. S. U. two consecutive conference crowns were lost by graduation.

Fourteen lettermen, five seniors and nine juniors, have been sent invitations to report for practice September 1. Four reserves and 28 sophomores also were invited to attend the opening practice.

With the 14 lettermen as a nucleus, Coach Bernie Moore must find replacements for the nine regulars of the 1936 team who graduated.

In addition to Tinsley, lettermen lost by graduation were John Mihalich and Basil Myrick, ends; Bill May, quarterback; Rock Reed, halfback; Pat Coffee and Bill Crass, fullbacks; Marvin Stewart, center; Wardell Leisk and Marvin Baldwin, guards, and Clarence Strange, tackle.

A veteran team of junior and senior lettermen can be placed on the field, but the reserve strength must come from the ranks of previously untried sophomores.

Reserves are an important factor in the success of football teams playing as hard a schedule as the "Old War Skule." The men who will relieve the first team will play a big part in whatever success Louisiana State has in the football wars this fall.

The first three days of practice will be devoted largely to conditioning exercises but serious work probably will begin early the next week. L. S. U. opens with Florida here the night of September 25, leaving Tiger coaches only 20 working days in which to prepare their squad.

Clark Ward, Ken Kavanaugh, Ogden Burr, Cleve Canady, Aswell Stoll and Woodrow Barrett, ends; Commodore Ferguson, Paul Pittman, J. B. Harrist, Irving Campbell and Tex Thornton, tackles; Blythe Clark, Dave Battram, Jake Messina, Ed Cunningham and Chad Vallance, guards; Gayle Monget, James Warmbrod and Turner Williamson, centers.

TICKET SALE OPENS

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Ten thousand application blanks for season tickets to Louisiana State university's seven home football games this fall have been mailed to alumni of the "Old War Skule."

Sale of the season tickets will begin here September 6 and will continue through September 11. Any L. S. U. supporter may purchase the season tickets, which sell for $13.60, including the federal tax.

With seven teams, including four Southeastern Conference foes and one Southwest Conference eleven, slated to appear here during fall, L. S. U. has one of the strongest home schedules of any southern football team.

Tickets for individual games will go on sale September 13. With the exception of the Louisiana State Normal contest here November 20, reserved seats for each game in Baton Rouge will cost $2.50, including the federal tax.

Reserved seats in the north end of the stadium will sell for $1.65, including the federal tax, for all games except the one with Louisiana Normal. All tickets for the Normal game will cost $1.

Season tickets for the north end reserved seats will cost $9.25.

L. S. U. supporters also may purchase tickets for the Tulane game in New Orleans November 27. They cost $2.50, including the federal tax.

At one time the federal trade commission issued a complaint against a Rhode Island yarn manufacturer for using the name "Angora" to describe yarns made entirely of Angora goat hair. The commission held that "Angora" applied only to rabbit hair.

WINNSBORO OPENS PRACTICE SEPT. 6

Wildcats Must Replace Nine Veterans For Coming Football Season

WINNSBORO, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—The Wildcats of Winnsboro High school, faced with a nine-game schedule and the possibility of ten games, will begin training for the 1937 grid campaign here on September 6, according to an announcement by Coach Charles L. Parker.

Equipment will be issued at 2 p.m. on the opening date, and the initial drill will follow two hours later, with the following sessions coming twice daily.

Graduation, ineligibility and change of residence cut Lang, center; Cassiday and Foxx, guards; Cruse and Chesney, tackles; Boyle, Rogers and Williams, ends; and Elkin, back, from the squad for this season and Coach Parker will be faced with a tough task in replacing them.

Lettermen returning to the squad will be Smith, quarterback; Svetlecic and Kimbrough, halfbacks; Martin, tackle; and Farmer and Lord, guards. Others expected to aid in filling up the gaps are Polk, center; Alexander, Coughran, Browder and Adams, ends; Wollerson, Butler and Gimberlow, tackles; Westerburg, guard; and Miller, Humphries and Wylie, backs.

The Wildcat schedule is:

September 24; Jena, here; Oct. 1; Olla, here; Oct. 8, Farmerville, here; Oct. 15, Columbia, here; Oct. 25, Jefferson Military academy, here; Nov. 1, Rayville, at Rayville; Nov. 8, Mangham, at Mangham; Nov. 15, Tallulah at Tallulah; Nov. 22, Bastrop, at Bastrop.

The Thanksgiving date is still open for any Class A or B team that will complete negotiations for the date with W. B. Glover, principal of Winnsboro High school.

The Cotton States league race hammered down Saturday night to its windup tomorrow with possession of fourth place and the resultant spot in next week's Shaughnessy playoff still in doubt.

Greenville almost secured the number four post by thumping last-place Monroe, 9 to 0, while fifth place Helena lost to El Dorado.

Only by winning their double header tomorrow, with the Bucks blowing both of their games, can the Seaporters from Arkansas dislodge Greenville.

The Buckshots trimmed the Monroe Twins handily, stacking up 15 hits to three, with Galeria twirling masterfully.

Helena, trying desperately to win, rapped out 16 hits off Raper, Hearn and Gore, but committed six blunders and lost to the El Dorado Lions, 9 to 16. The 'Porters made six runs in the fourth inning, but El Dorado always held the lead.

Sixth-place Clarksdale splurged by beating league-leading Pine Bluff, 5 to 4, getting 11 safeties to six.

Greenwood, in third place behind El Dorado, clouted Smith and Jones to defeat Vicksburg, in the seventh spot, 15 to 1.

MEET AT GREENVILLE

Presidents of the first four clubs in the Cotton States league race will meet at Greenville, Miss., Monday to make plans for the Shaughnessy playoff, President J. Walter Morris announced here yesterday. The meeting will be held at 11 o'clock Monday morning at the Greenville hotel.

The league schedule ends today. Pine Bluff, El Dorado and Greenwood are certain to finish in the first division and Greenville or Helena will be the fourth club. Greenville was in fourth place yesterday, a half game ahead of Helena, but the standings of the two clubs can be changed today as all teams end the season with double headers.

The first championship series probably will start Wednesday, said Morris.

BABB INJURED

GREENVILLE, Miss., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Glenn Babb, 40, attache of the Monroe baseball club, was injured this afternoon at Recreation park when he was struck in the head by a ball during batting practice by Monroe. A physician said Babb suffered a slight concussion. His condition was not considered serious.

Babb was gathering up baseballs back of the pitcher's box when he was struck by a line drive off Acting Manager Buford Rhea's bat.

game many fans have wanted to see all year. The club will meet Brown Paper mill's league-leading Ouachita Valley league Brownies at Casino park Monday night and it ought to be good. As an added attraction, "Schoolboy" Rowe will start on the mound for the Brownies, but the "Schoolboy" isn't really needed to attract a crowd.

Many Brown boosters have contended all season that their favorites could knock the Twins' ears down in a nine-inning ball game. Other fans have argued that the poorest professional team can beat the best semi-pros. Monday night's game won't mean anything, of course, but it will give one group of fans an opportunity to "I told you so" another set.

There's one thing certain, both sides will be out there trying. Many of the Monroe players have been told time and again that Brown has a better team than Monroe, and they'll be out there to prove it ain't so. The Brownies, on the other hand, will be all set to jolt the Twins, and the fans, too, that they're superior all the way 'round.

That's one game we won't miss.

El Dorado Catcher Batting .338; Lions Hold Lead In Team Slugging

Harry Chozen, hefty El Dorado catcher, continued to maintain his batting supremacy in the Cotton States league last week, adding two points to his average to boost it to .338, according to official averages released by league headquarters here yesterday. The averages include games of last Sunday.

Two of Chozen's mates, Leggenhager and Escobar, outfielders, top him in the averages with batting marks of .353 and .351, respectively, but they haven't participated in enough games to be considered for the league leadership.

Larry Kinzer, Greenville shortstop, is runner-up to the El Dorado catcher with a batting average of .321, but he had to be content with a tie with Ray McElreath, Greenwood outfielder. Lewis, another El Dorado slugger, is next with .317.

The Lions, with so many individual batting stars, naturally would be expected to top the loop in team hitting, and that's what they're doing, to the tune of .283. Vicksburg is in second place with .268 and Greenville is third with .267. Pine Bluff's classy defensive club leads in team fielding with .962, and El Dorado is far back in second place with .956.

Henry Zajac, Pine Bluff ace, continues to top the pitching department with 23 victories and five defeats. Clint Raper, of El Dorado, is second with 13 and three, with "Preacher" Humphries and "Wimpy" Willis, both of Pine Bluff, next in line with 16 and six.

MARION MILEY WINNER OF WOMEN'S WESTERN TITLE

ST. PAUL, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Less than a month after her impressive conquest in the women's western derby in Chicago, Marion Miley of Cincinnati, Curtis cup star, added another title to her imposing list today by winning the 35th annual women's western tournament.

Miss Miley defeated Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., trans-Mississippi champion, 6 and 6 over the 36-hole route to regain the championship she held in 1935 and relinquished last year in the tournament at South Bend, Ind. The tournament was played at the town and country club.

It was the fifth time in three years the two players had met in match play and the third time Miss Miley was victorious.

Three up at the end of 18 holes, Miss Miley ended the match on the thirtieth green with a burst of subpar golf. She was one under regulation figures for the afternoon's 12 holes.

FOR SALE—CHEAP

For small farm home, or investment in tracts of 10 acres or more. $40.00 per acre. One-half cash, balance on easy monthly or yearly terms.
Enough timber on some tracts for any building requirements.
Located on new gravel highway 5 miles east of Monroe city limits and one mile north of highway 80 at Gunn's filling station and tourist camp.
Natural gas for lighting, heating and cooking for one house on each tract furnished free for five years.
Good pure wholesome artesian water available at low cost.
Why rent or build a home on a small lot in the city when good highways, radios, telephones and automobiles have practically eliminated distance.
And too where you can have city conveniences and have a cow, chickens, orchard and garden.
And have fresh fruit, vegetables, eggs, milk, etc., at practically no cost to you.
VEGETABLES?
EGGS?
MILK?
LIGHT BILL?
WATER BILL?
CITY TAXES?
AND—add to that what you would pay for lumber for building a home, garage, etc. Remember some of these tracts have enough standing timber for building purposes.
You won't have to worry about high water, because we are well above the flood area. Gas free for your gas refrigerator, in fact all conveniences you can think of.

LABOR DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED

Local Union Groups Will Stage Parade, Barbecue September 6

The Monroe Central Trades and Labor council is sponsoring Labor day events in Monroe on September 6, according to announcement made Saturday. A parade and barbecue will be conducted as the outstanding features of the celebration.

The parade will form at 9:30 a.m. in the vicinity of the new traffic bridge. Members of local unions will form on Riverside drive north of Louisville avenue, while individual floats will form on Riverside south of Louisville avenue, and will fall in line after the last local union has started across the new traffic bridge on its way to West Monroe. The route will be across the bridge to Trenton, to Coleman avenue, across the old traffic bridge to Monroe and then out DeSiard street to Bernstein place on Bayou DeSiard.

A barbecue will be served there to members of the organized labor unions, their families and invited guests.

Addresses will be made at the close of the barbecue by Blain Swain, representative of the bricklayers' union, and others who will represent the city, parish and state.

All union men are urged to be sure to be provided with their cards showing union membership in good standing.

DATE SET FOR SCHOOL BOND ISSUE ELECTION

JENA, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—At a recent meeting of the LaSalle parish school board, the Trout-Good Pine school district No. 21 of LaSalle parish was created, and September 28 set as the date for the balloting of the property owners of this district on a $25,000 bond issue, the proceeds of which is to be used to erect and equip a new high school building to replace the Trout-Good Pine High school, which was destroyed by fire last June.

A resolution was passed giving the LaSalle parish health unit an additional $250 per year to raise the yearly amount donated to $1,000 per annum.

DRIVE ON STRAY DOGS DECLARED

Monroe Police 'Declare War' On Canines Suspected Of Carrying Rabies

Chief of Police Frank V. Reitzell, Saturday stated his department is going to "declare war" immediately against dogs suspected of carrying rabies and also against dogs which roam the streets without collars or vaccination tags.

The drive is being instituted for the purpose of protecting the public against mad dogs, several of which are known to be running loose in the city and to have bitten about 10 other canines.

Owners of dogs which have not been vaccinated or which do not have collars, are asked to keep them off the streets for the next few days until the police have had an opportunity of making their drive against stray dogs.

About four persons have been reported bitten by mad dogs in Monroe during the past week, including a veterinarian, all of whom are taking the Pasteur treatment.

Chief Reitzell asks the public's cooperation in the drive to safeguard against the possibility of others being bitten by rabies-infected animals, by reporting all cases where animals are suspected of carrying rabies or where it is known that such animals have been bitten by rabies-infected cats or dogs.

Those present included Jack Sims, W. W. Miles, L. N. Ganey, T. J. Lelen, J. H. Melvin, W. E. Walsh, L. A. Guyon and Miss Westbrook.

By S. E. Barnes

FARMERVILLE, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Union parish holds among others the distinction of being the setting of one of the most famous songs ever written. It was after certain experiences of the author in the little town of Marion, northeast of Farmerville, that caused Anna Fortesque Harrison, young musician of New Orleans, to write "In the Gloaming," destined to become a song apparently without a death.

It was about 1830 that a number of settlers from near Marion, Ala., came up the Ouachita river and landed about 25 miles north of Monroe at "Alabama Landing." Two or three hundred of these settlers formed a village 10 or 12 miles west of the landing and named it Marion.

In the next few years other settlers came up the river; some of them stayed in Marion but most of them forged to the west and created a new town at the junction of Cornie creek and Bayou D'Arbonne. The surrounding country being level, the following year's floodwaters drove the settlers to the east two miles on the top of a large hill, the present site of their town. In 1839 the village was incorporated as a town and named Farmerville in honor of Lieutenant-Governor W. W. Farmer, whose remains now rest at this place.

Among the later settlers to the parish came Elias George, wealthy planter of Alabama, and his family, who settled in Marion. While George was building one of the largest plantations in the state, his wife, unused to the hardships of the backwoods and who longed to return to their palatial home in Alabama, died and left her several daughters.

George realized more and more after his wife's death the need of instructors for his children. So, about 1854, he placed in a New Orleans paper an advertisement for an instructor.

There came a number of replies and he and his eldest daughter, who had just returned from Judson college in Alabama, finally selected one Mrs. Harrison and her daughter of New Orleans. The applicant stated that she was proficient in the higher branches of knowledge and her daughter was capable of teaching music.

And in a few weeks Mrs. Harrison and her daughter, Anna Fortesque, slipped into the quiet peaceful life of Marion and into the home life of Elias George and family.

The young music teacher, Ann Porter, as her mother called her, soon became very popular with Marion's young men. But soon Miles Goldsby returned from a trip to the north. Young Goldsby was a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families of the community and was noted thereabouts for his daring and wild deeds.

Miles Goldsby was good-looking and quite wealthy in his own right. He owned a number of slaves and it was some time after the emancipation proclamation that they were freed.

With Goldsby and Ann Porter it was love at first sight. Mrs. Harrison did not like Miles and did everything in her power to discourage her daughter's attention toward him.

When Miles would call at night the three of them would sit in the lamplighted parlor. Then Miles started calling in the late afternoon and then "in the gloaming," in the soft twilight hours the lovers would stroll in the George gardens until the gloaming turned into darkness. Then Mrs. Harrison would come to the door and call: "Ann Porter, don't you think it's time to come in now?" Invariably, Ann Porter, who was very considerate of her mother, would answer "yes." And soon after they had come inside Miles would leave. So it was in the twilight hours that Miles began to love Ann Porter more and more.

But Mrs. Harrison sensed Goldsby's fierce and dominant will and knew of his notorious acts of the past. Then Ann Porter admitted to her mother that a possible marriage to Miles would prove entirely unsatisfactory and possibly end tragically.

But the anxious mother knew that they could not leave while Miles was there. So they awaited the day that Miles was to leave on a northern trip and made ready for their departure. Soon after Miles left, the two returned to New Orleans, leaving Miles Goldsby and the village of Marion forever—"left you lonely, set you free."

A few weeks later Miles returned to Marion, and learned of his sweetheart's departure. He was heartbroken and saddened, but sobered.

Some time after the Harrisons returned to New Orleans, Ann Porter wrote one of the George daughters that soon a song would be published by her. She said that she wrote the music and her friend, Meta Orred, wrote the words, following her suggestions.

She titled the song "In the Gloaming," and it became an immediate success and still today ranks with Stephen Foster's songs and other old ballads. It has become unforgettable, familiar to everyone, living forever with the people of the south, for it was in the gloaming of the Old South that its author learned to love Miles Goldsby, only to "pass away in silence."

In the gloaming, O, my darling,
When the lights are dim and low,
And the quiet shadows falling,
Softly come and softly go;
When the winds are sobbing faintly,
With a gentle unknown woe,
Will you think of me and love me
As you did once long ago.

In the gloaming, O, my darling
Think not bitterly of me,
Though I passed away in silence,
Left you lonely, set you free;
For my heart was filled with longing,
What had been could never be,
It was best to leave you thus, dear,
Best for you and best for me.

But what became of Miles Goldsby? Saddened by his sweetheart's flight, he later married a young lady of Cincinnati, O., while on a trip to the north. He brought his wife back to Marion and she enjoyed a reputation throughout Louisiana as being one of the foremost educators of that time.

ROBERT WHATLEY DIES OF STROKE

Prominent Rayville Man Stricken While Participating In River Outing

Stricken with a heart attack on an outing on a boat on the Ouachita river, early Saturday morning, Robert E. Whatley, 42, of Rayville, prominent farmer and Legionnaire, died before the boat could be docked at the old natatorium wharf and medical aid summoned.

Mr. Whatley, who operated an apiary near Rayville, was senior vice-commander of the Rayville Legion post. He had been subject to heart attacks, but when he left home he was in apparently favorable health. The party he accompanied was composed mostly of members of the Rayville Kiwanis club, who made a trip in a boat owned and maintained on the Ouachita river by a member of the group, George B. Franklin.

They had made the trip up the river and were about to return when Mr. Whatley became ill. It was proposed to dock at the old swimming pool wharf near Forsythe park and to secure medical aid, but before this could be done, Mr. Whatley died.

Mr. Whatley was well known and popular and he had always taken a strong interest in the Legion post of Rayville. When officers of the auxiliary of that post were installed recently, he acted as toastmaster at a banquet held in that connection.

He leaves his wife and four sisters, Mrs. Mark A. Cooper, Mrs. O. H. Bynum, Mrs. John J. Ineichen and Mrs. Virginia Bogan, all of Shreveport, and a brother, Dayton Whatley of Pollock.

The funeral will be held at the Whatley residence this morning at 9:30 a.m. Rev. Hoffpauir, Methodist pastor at Rayville, will officiate and interment will be in the Masonic cemetery in Rayville. At the grave, members of the Rayville Legion post will be in charge. It is expected that there will be numerous American Legion post members from Monroe who will attend.

The active pallbearers will be Harney Bogan, Joe Ineichen, Lee Ed Ineichen, John Whatley, Hugh Whatley, Bill Whatley, Joe Elam, Dr. W. A. Cooper and George Purvis.

Honorary pallbearers will be Brown Traylor, Joe Calhoun, C. C. Buck, M. A. Cooper, J. J. Ineichen, Pete Sweteman, A. J. Willis Dr. R. O. C. Green, Gordon Cain, Dr. H. C. Chambers, T. A. Shea, Sam Fragala, Fred Christian, Bill Baker and Bill Eddins.

CHARLES FEAZEL LEAVES FOR EAST

Local First Honor Student To Enter Harvard; Given Scholarship

Charles Feazel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feazel, Sr., of 1801 Cypress street, West Monroe, first honor student at Ouachita Parish High school class of 1937, who was selected for a Harvard university scholarship, left Thursday night for the east.

He will visit his aunt in Buffalo, N. Y., and from there will proceed to Cambridge, Mass., where the university opens September 25, the young man's father stated.

Young Feazel, who was 16 years old on August 10, was honored by selection to become recipient of the scholarship which is worth approximately $1,000, and was the only one in Louisiana to be thus honored by Harvard university. In five southern states only six similar scholarships are awarded.

In making the award the scholarship, executive ability, general character and ability to make good in the world are taken into consideration, regardless of finances.

Young Feazel was one of the most popular students in the parish school and a leader in its many activities.

In discussing the award, his father said that it will come in handy, as were it not for this assistance, his son would not be financially able to attend so expensive a college as Harvard.

Feazel plans to specialize in studies leading to a career as chemical engineer.

MRS. J. B. FILHIOL WILL HEAD CLUB

Elected To 24th Term As President Of Logtown Demonstration Group

The Logtown Home Demonstration club rounded out a quarter of a century of active service when it held its twenty-fifth annual meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. J. Lowe.

At this session the members honored were Mrs. J. B. Filhiol by re-electing her president of the club to serve her twenty-fourth term. Mrs. Filhiol was the first president of the Logtown Home Demonstration club when it was organized in 1912 and with the exception of one year, has served as its president during the entire life of that organization.

Mrs. Filhiol has the distinction of having served as president of a home demonstration club for more years than any other woman in Ouachita parish and ranks among the oldest presidents of such organizations in the state of Louisiana from point of service.

Other officers elected included Mrs. W. J. Lowe, vice-president; Mrs. A. N. Landrum, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. E. M. Granberry, reporter; Mrs. Robert Cann and Mrs. S. Roan, poultry leaders; Mrs. Leon White, garden leader; Mrs. Billie Luton, household furnishings leader; Mrs. George Knight and Miss Mattye Reed, canning leaders; Mrs. H. B. Todd, Mrs. Victor David, Mrs. Claud Scharf and Mrs. Willie McCoy, recreation leaders; Mrs. Aubrey Calloway and Mrs. J. G. Haynes, 4-H club leaders; Mrs. W. A. Brandt and Mrs. J. W. Allen, council members.

Mrs. Filhiol submitted a report of the club's activities during the past year in which she reported satisfactory progress in the growing of year-round gardens from which the club has canned 5,432 quarts of vegetables and fruits to date. Mrs. C. C. Scharf and Mrs. Spencer Roan were in charge of the canning. Mrs. Filhiol reported 2,542 baby chicks were hatched and 1,283 raised as well as large flocks of turkeys and geese as part of the poultry raising program.

The club organized two branch clubs for tenant wives of the community and members assisted negro farm tenants in the growing of gardens and the furnishing of plants, seeds and cuttings, and in the canning of fruits and vegetables. Mrs. Filhiol reported a club for negro women with 14 members was organized during the year.

Reports from 13 members who attended the recent farmers short course at Baton Rouge were received by the club.

Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, home demonstration agent who attended the meeting, discussed plans for the coming year, including the holding of camps and the school of dramatic arts to be held in Bastrop. She announced that four lectures on poultry raising will be given by Mr. Ingram beginning September 10.

ALUMNI TO MEET

HOMER, La., Aug 28.—(Special)—A meeting of the Claiborne parish chapter of L. S. U. alumni, will be held September 1, at the city park, according to an announcement made by T. H. McEachren, president of the Claiborne association. The meeting will be featured by a picnic lunch and an address by B. H. Singletary, professor of horticulture at L. S. U.

REV. SEEGERS PLANS REVIVAL SERVICES

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Rev. Sidney A. Seegers, pastor of the Lake Providence Methodist church, will conduct special revival services beginning Sunday, August 29 and continuing through Sunday, September 12.

Floyd F. Kirk of Opelousas, director of public school music in St. Landry parish, will have charge of the music and extra service activities.

Services will be held at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Wandering Vacationists Straggle Homeward As Summer Draws To Close

Students Busy With Plans For College

Mothers Sometimes Puzzled By Children's Ideas About School Clothes

By Nell Grigsby

SUMMER time is drawing to a close. Wandering vacationists are straggling homeward. Boys and girls are returning home from summer camps. Fishermen are relating strange and awesome tales.

Mothers with sons and daughters about to enter college are wearing a confused and harassed look. Daughter wants a radio to take to school. She hints of sequin gowns and talks of a trip abroad when school is out. There's nothing like an ocean trip after months of gruelling study. Mother has her doubts about the gruelling study, but says nothing.

Son wants a pair of pants, the ultra kind of big plaid pants that fairly shriek. Pants that flag flambuoyantly in bell shape fashion. Pants that look collegiate. Mother wonders vaguely about her offspring's mentality. Perhaps the summer heat has been too much for him. She'd warned him about playing tennis in the noonday sun. She should have been more firm!

Girls planning to go away to school are haunting the downtown shops. We saw Jane Landry a few days ago, trying on an adorable three-piece ensemble. Just the shade of green to bring out the peach-like beauty of Jane's complexion. The top coat with its collar of gorgeous fur was a thing of joy. It was just the thing for a college girl. At least Jane persuaded her mother it was.

Mrs. Henry Mayo, returning from Hollywood, relates some glamorous tales. While visiting in Hollywood she witnessed part of the screening of "Hollywood Hotel" with Dick Powell and Frances Langford. Always an artist, Mrs. Mayo thrilled when she viewed the stained glass window in the mausoleum where Will Rogers and Jean Harlow are interred. The magnificent window depicting the "Last Supper" was beautiful beyond description.

One of the interesting occasions of the past week was the recital given by Eileen MacKinnon and Carolyn Stubbs. There was something fascinating about Carolyn's graceful hands as she played Eileen's accompaniments.

Mrs. Edmundson Parkes and children have returned to Houston after visiting Mrs. Parke's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Will Washburn. She will be remembered as Alice Washburn.

Monroe residents who have been summering on the coast are arriving daily. Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, who have been visiting the Wilson Ewings, returned this week. Another party spending the past few weeks on the Gulf included Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Slagle and children and Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Godfrey and little daughter Cleta. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn have also returned from the Gulf coast. Mrs. Jack Rogers and Mrs. D. Y. Smith are planning to return this week, and Mr. and Mrs. Toulmin Ewing and little son are numbered among the returning vacationists who have been spending the summer on the Golf.

Both the east and west are equally popular as a destination in the summertime. Mrs. Leon McHenry is enjoying a few weeks in New York City and Mr. and Mrs. Graham Breard are drinking in the beauty and color of the mountain scenery in Grand Canyon, Ariz.

Other New York visitors are Miss Cleo Webb and Mrs. Marilyn Bush, who left several days ago, going by way of New Orleans, sailing from that point to New York City.

Husbands who have been left to their own devices while nomad wives roamed and toured the country, are beginning to wonder why the house has taken on such a woebegone appearance. Newspapers carpet the floor. Flowers that once were perky, hang limply over the sides of their containers. The kitchen boasts a strange disarray.

It seemed such fun when friend wife first went away to try his hand at cooking. He had often longed to do it, but never had. He really wasn't brave enough to try to cook with wifie looking on.

Unhampered now by friend wife's critical eye, he cooked an Irish stew. True it didn't taste quite like the kind mother used to make, but it was fairly good. He smacked his lips.

Next day he tried plum duff. They served it in the army. His cooking was improving. Then he tried slumgullion (another army dish). His pots and pans were giving out. They bore but slight resemblance to the respectable pots and pans they once had been.

He heard about a Scotch dish strange mixture of oatmeal, scrambled eggs, bits of beef and cream. Its appearance was all that could be expected His appetite was not so good. He decided to eat down town.

His conscience hurt him when he thought about the kitchen. His wife was coming home. He looked for a maid. It took her two days to straighten up the kitchen.

Yes, He was glad his wife was coming home.

Miss Dorothy McComb left this week for Philadelphia, Pa., where she will attend school this winter. She was accompanied to Philadelphia by her mother and brother, Mrs. Parker McComb and Donald, who will return to Monroe next week.

Arrangement Of Flowers An Art

Flower arrangement has become a recognized art, but, with all the attention given to its principles, the practical side of cutting and conditioning flowers is frequently overlooked. Now that flowers can be picked generously from the garden, there is no reason to stint on flower arrangements throughout the house. There is an old saying, "The more you cut, the more flowers bloom." One's effort in arranging blossoms is better repaid if they will last several days in good condition.

Flowers are not to be "picked" at all times of day. The early morning or cool evening are the only sensible times to gather them. If there is not time to make the arrangements then, so much the better, if one wishes them to be long lasting. Usually a second cutting of the stems is advisable and the flowers are "conditioned" before being arranged in a container. A sharp knife is a good tool for cutting flowers, since it is less apt than scissors to bruise stem tissues.

After cutting, the flowers may be brought indoors and the tsems cut again—this time under water and with a slantwise cut beneath a node. This precaution permits free passage of water up into the stems. There are, however, exceptions to this rule of cutting flower stems. Carnations, sweet peas and chrysanthemums are believed to last better if the stems are broken at a node instead of being cut.

Flowers are hardened by letting them stand in water in a pail, pitcher or wide-mouthed deep container for several hours. Stems thus become turgid with water and erect and the blossoms will withstand room temperature for a longer time.

Certain flowers are notoriously quick-wilting. Singeing the stem ends in a flame, or dipping them in boiling water, often helps them to last longer. But this treatment should follow immediately after the recutting of their stems. Oriental poppies will last as long as three days after singeing.

Chemicals as preservatives of flowers for arrangements are used by faddists; aspirin for roses, boric acid for carnations, and sugar in the water for chrysanthemums have been recommended. Scientific experiment has lent no support to any of these usages, although it is known that the Japanese try salt and essences to preserve certain flowers in water. Flowers that are cut properly, conditioned in deep water, and arranged in a container that holds a sufficient amount of water for the flowers therein will last as long as can be reasonably expected. Stripping leaves from the part of the stem that is under water, permissible when the container is not glass, aids in keeping the water clear and sweet. Charcoal will also keep water sweet but is distinctly not a preservative. Flowers with drooping heads can sometimes be revived by recutting the stems under water, singeing them, and allowing the flowers to stand in deep water in a cool room for several hours before rearranging them.

The age of flowers when they are cut has some bearing on the length of time they will last in an arrangement. Just as bud roses last longer than full-blown ones, so any flower will last longer if cut shortly after it opens. A container should not only be appropriate, but also hold enough water to sustain the number of flowers in it for 24 hours. Arrangements last longer in shaded summer rooms than in steam-heated winter ones. Strong sunlight and draughts decidedly shorten the longevity of a flower arrangement. The proper care of flowers before using them in an arrangement need consume only a few minutes, but the effort will be repaid in longer enjoyment of the completed result.

Thomas B. Royster, of Raleigh, N. C., who has been the guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Sallie Ruffin, and cousin, Mrs. Walter Kellogg, for the past three weeks, will leave for home September 1. Later he will enter his sophomore year at the University of North Carolina.

During his visit in Monroe a number of enjoyable affairs of an informal nature have been given in his honor.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg entertained with a barbecue supper at their home in Fairview. Appetizing barbecued steaks were served the guests on this occasion, who included former school mates who attended Webb's preparatory school for boys at Bell Buckle, Tenn., and their dates. Enjoying the affair were John Bennett Fudickar, Matthew Redmond, Parker Redmond, Barry Stubbs, Maude S. Gill, Bitsy McHenry, Martha Jane Hill, Betty Lou Seaman and the guest of honor.

The woman's council of the First Christian church met Tuesday afternoon at the church for their regular business and social meeting. Mrs. R. O. Ware presided owing to the absence of the new president, Mrs. E. H. Williamson.

After the business session a well rounded program entitled "Our Rural Churches," was presented by the leader, Mrs. E. R. Dawson.

The program follows:

Prayer, Mrs. George Morgan.

Story, True Experiences of a Sharecropper, Mrs. Fred Keller.

The meeting was dismissed with the national missionary benediction, after which a lovely social hour followed in the church parlors. Sandwiches, tea and cookies were served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. L. Moore, Mrs. Fred Keller and Mrs. Clyde Blanchard.

Miss Julia Gilbert Honored At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ewing Entertain For Charming Bride-Elect At Wisner

Among the many delightful pre-nuptial affairs given for Miss Julia Gilbert of Wisner was the beautifully planned dinner party given at Wisner by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ewing, assisted by Mr. Leo Campbell.

A profusion of summer flowers, roses, gladioli and asters in rainbow color created an effective setting in the living rooms in which the guests were received.

Crystal holders, surrounded by sprays of rose of Montana, centered the small madeira-covered tables

Corsages and boutonnieres were presented the guests upon their arrival. Miniature gold slippers holding clever verses tied with satin ribbon foretelling the future of the guests, were placed at each cover, marking the places of the diners.

At the end of the five-course dinner, ices moulded in the shape of silver slippers were served with delicious gateaux embossed with valley lilies.

Handsome sterling silver candlesticks were presented to her as a memento of this affair.

Seated at the tables were Misses Julia Gilbert, Frances Gilbert, Dixie Gilbert, Corinth Sherrouse, Dorothy Mae Sherrouse, Rachel Haynes, Monroe; Phyllis Baker, Baton Rouge; Marjorie Correvan, Houston; Messrs. Ocie Baker, Baton Rouge; Gilbert Hetherwick, Shreveport; Dan Collier, Flash Baker, Everett Baker, Lester Vetter, Roy Heidelberg, Baton Rouge; Al Hemming, Vicksburg; William Peck, Leo Campbell, Jess Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. W. Ewing.

Rushing Begun By Sororities

Rushing activities have been inaugurated at L. S. U. this month and coeds have been busily occupied with engagements for luncheons, coffee hours, parties and teas.

Alpha Delta Pi entertained with a week-end party July 30 and 31 in Baton Rouge. On the evening of July 30 the sorority entertained with a formal opening of "Club Pi" given at the Baton Rouge Country club. About one hundred guests including rushees, patronesses, alumnae and active members were present.

This affair was followed by a swimming party in the country club pool. Both the pool and club were decorated, carrying out the night club theme. An orchestra and floor show entertained guests during supper.

The following morning Mrs. Richard Leche entertained with a coffee hour, honoring the rushees, who were later entertained with a luncheon.

During the summer, the sorority has entertained with a series of luncheons, picnics, bridges and week-end parties at a lodge on the Amite river.

A luncheon in Shreveport and a party in Rayne were also given as part of the rushing program.

The summer rushing season begins September 17, extending through September 23, a Pan-Hellenic rule enforced by all sororities.

Junior League 'Follies' Planned

With the approach of autumn, organizations in Monroe are entering upon a year filled with constructive activity and worthwhile projects.

The Junior Charity league, with child welfare always uppermost in the minds of the members, is formulating ambitious plans for the presentation of the Junior Charity league follies to be given October 14.

The production will be given under the direction of the Jerome Cargill company of New York. The beautiful costumes to be worn in the production will also be furnished by the Cargill company.

The proceeds of the follies will go toward the baby clinic fund. The baby clinic, the major project of the league, has cared for over two thousand babies.

Mrs. John Theus, general chairman of the follies, announces the following chairmen who will assist in the preliminary duties entailed in the presentation of the follies: Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr., program chirman; Mrs. Prioleau Ellis, ticket chairman; Mrs. Walter Kellogg and Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, talent chairmen; Mrs. Tom Davenport, skits; Mrs. DeWitt Milam, treasurer. Mrs. Nathan Gaston is president of the Junior Charity league.

Miss Doyle Weds Roger N. Leckie

Of interest to their many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Audie Mae Doyal, daughter of Mrs. W. M. Doyal, and the late W. M. Doyal, of Chatham, to Mr. Roger N. Leckie, of Pollock, La. The ceremony was solemnized in the presence of a few close friends and relatives Saturday afternoon, August 21, at the Methodist parsonage at Chatham, with Rev. E. O. Hearne officiating.

The bride was very becomingly attired in a new fall model of Wallis blue crepe with navy accessories.

Mrs. Leckie is a graduate of the Chatham High school and was attending Louisiana Polytechnic institute, where she was a junior. Mr. Leckie is a graduate of Pollock High school and is at present employed as surveyor in the CCC camp near Chatham.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding journey. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's mother at Chatham.

$5,000 1ST AWARD

424 OTHER AWARDS

STILL TWO WEEKS LEFT TO ENTER

$12,500 FOR NAMING THESE LITTLE SNOWDRIFT MEN

STILL TIME TO ENTER ... to send in names for the little Snowdrift men ... to win the grand award of $5,000.00, or one of the other 424 awards. But we suggest you act at once, for midnight of September 15, 1937 is the last minute. And that's just two weeks away!

Naming the Snowdrift men is fun and ought to be easy. And what a lot of things you could do with $5,000.00—or even one of the other awards. Maybe the very first name that pops into your head will be the one that gets the award. So ... sit down right now ... and put on your "thinking cap" and then send the name you think of on the entry blank, or any piece of paper. Enclose with it the portion of the metal strip that seals the Snowdrift can and which says, "We lock in all its goodness."

Maybe you are one of the millions of good cooks who use Snowdrift for all your baking and frying and have a can just ready to open. If not, get a can at your grocer's and begin to enjoy Snowdrift's fresh and creamy goodness. You will be twice rewarded: with Snowdrift's goodness plus the money-saving coupon sent to every entrant (See Rule #3); and, in addition, your opportunity to earn part of the $12,500.

And Snowdrift's creaminess and helpfulness and fresh, delicate flavor may give you dozens of name-ideas.

- Snowdrift is the pure, wholesome all-vegetable shortening.
- Snowdrift is already creamed for you.
- Snowdrift is the supremely easy-to-digest shortening.
- Snowdrift creams to greater volume, giving lighter dough and batter.
- Snowdrift stands higher temperatures without burning.
- Snowdrift makes crisp, brown crust—good tasting and digestible.
- Snowdrift means odorless frying.
- Millions of people buy Snowdrift every year.
- Grocers everywhere know Snowdrift and recommend it.

EXTRA—FREE MONEY-SAVING COUPON (See Rule #3)

Every entry will be acknowledged with a money-saving coupon. Your grocer is authorized to accept this coupon as 10¢ on the purchase of your next 3 or 6 pound can of Snowdrift.

WESSON OIL & SNOWDRIFT PEOPLE NEW ORLEANS, LA.

425 AWARDS totalling $12,500

The following awards will be made for the names as selected for the famous little Snowdrift men:

1st AWARD $5000.00

2nd Award $1000.00 • 3rd Award $500.00 • 5 Awards of $100.00 each

110 Awards of $10.00 each • 215 Awards of $5.00 each

STATE AWARDS

21 1st Awards $50.00 each • 21 2nd Awards $25.00 each

The state awards of $50 and $25 respectively will be given for the best suggestion and the second best suggestion received from each of the following 21 states: Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Washington, Oregon, Idaho.

READ THESE RULES CAREFULLY

1— Think of your suggestion for naming the little Snowdrift men pictured here. "Bake and Fry", for instance; or the "Freshness Twins"; the "Creaminess Boys", "Snow and Drift" or "The Goodness Team." Write your suggestion on any kind of paper or on the entry blank. Print plainly your name and address, and name and address of your grocer.

2— Buy a can of Snowdrift. Unwind the metal strip that seals any size Snowdrift can. Clip off that portion of the wording on the strip which says, "We lock in all its goodness." Enclose this piece of strip in envelope with your name suggestion and addresses, and mail to "Award Editor, P.O. Box 994, New Orleans, La." That constitutes an entry. Entries will not be considered unless metal strip accompanies each name suggestion. For example, "Bake and Fry" needs one strip; "The Creaminess Boys" one strip.

3— Every entry, duly accompanied by metal strip, will be acknowledged, and in appreciation we will mail you a coupon acceptable by your grocer as 10c against the purchase of your next 3 or 6 pound can of Snowdrift. Because of the large number of suggestions, we cannot enter into any further correspondence with any entrant. No entry will be returned.

4— Contest closes September 15th, 1937. All entries must be postmarked prior to midnight of that date. All entries become the property of the Wesson Oil and Snowdrift Sales Company. Judging will be directed by officials of the Calkins & Holden Advertising Agency, New York, and of the Fitzgerald Advertising Agency of New Orleans. Decision of the judges will be final. Anyone may submit suggestions, in conformity with the rules, except employees of the Wesson Oil & Snowdrift People, their advertising agencies, or their families.

Duplicate awards will be made in case of ties. A complete list of winners will be published as soon after decision as possible.

5— State awards will be made only to entrants from states listed in this advertisement, but the 383 other prizes are open to any one in the U. S. except as specified in Rule No. 4.

Graduates Making Plans For College

Students Will Be Widely Scattered

Choice Of School Important Topic; Many To Attend State University

The main topic of conversation among members of last June's graduating classes is distinctly collegiate this week. The all absorbing questions of "who is going to college?" and "where?" are second in importance to none.

Monroe will have, as usual, a large representation at L. S. U. this winter. Among the boys and girls planning to attend the university this winter are: Roberta Neel, Thyra Holt, Maude S. Gill, Doris Reid, Chester Nenny, Fluitt Hundley, Bill McClary, Bid Causey, Bobbie Gangstad, George Patterson, Arnold Ablon, Nora Virginia Abernathy, Roberta Stewart, Milton Coverdale and Emily McGee.

Enrolling at Tulane will be Stanley Mintz, Billy Bendel, Bobbie Oliver, Sackman Marx, John Bennett Fudickar and P. A. Poag.

Attending L. P. I. at Ruston will be Parker Redmond, Albert Buckley, J. H. McClendon and James Digby.

Mary Lee Sumrall will attend business school in Chillicothe, Mo.

Nibby McKenzie will attend Sophie Newcomb, New Orleans, and several Monroe girls will go to Ursuline college in New Orleans, including Betty Keller, Winnie Breard and Laura Grace Kendall.

Leaving for Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., in September are Marguerite McHenry, Martha Jane Hill and Mary Louise Fudickar.

Barry Stubbs will return to Yale and Matthew Redmond will enter Vanderbilt.

Richard Sackett will return to the University of Oklahoma and Byron Grigsby will enter John Brown university, Siloam Springs, Ark.

Doll and Fred Hudson are leaving soon for Andover, Mass., where Doll will attend Abbott's academy, and Fred will be enrolled at Phillips' academy.

Dotty White will enter Warrenton Country school for girls, Warrenton, Pa. R. C. White, Jr., will attend the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Jane Landry leaves the first of September for Bristol, Va., where she will enter Sullins college for girls. Ruffin Tidwell will go to Temple Military academy, and Mary Frances Savage will attend Webster, St. Louis, Mo.

COMPLETE DATA IS ESSENTIAL IN FHA APPRAISALS

Three Categories Outlined Which Cause Refusals On Application

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The experience of private financial institutions and the Federal Housing administration in handling mortgages proposed for insurance has disclosed the fact that the causes for rejection fall into definite and frequently recurring classifications.

There are three distinct steps taken in the examination of a proposed mortgage, according to the administrator, Stewart McDonald: Preliminary examination; inspection of the property by architects and valuators; and, finally, mortgage risk-rating.

Preliminary examinations have revealed the following causes for rejection as those most generally encountered:

1. Lack of sufficient data.
2. Insufficient assured income to meet monthly payments.
3. Lack of assets necessary to cover costs of construction.
4. Requests for amounts in excess of 80 per cent of the appraised value.

Many applicants have made the mistake of considering that some of the questions appearing on the application form were nonessential and have omitted answering them. One lone omission is frequently the cause of delay in acceptance of a mortgage and means that the form must be returned to the applicant and resubmitted. Unless full and complete information is given, the mortgage will be rejected.

For example, there is the case of an applicant who considered his income, other than salary, was entirely his own business. He neglected to state that he had additional income above his salary and what the amount was. His mortgage was rejected because the salary alone was not sufficient guarantee to assure the carrying out of the mortgage contract. Had the other regular income been included in the financial statement, as it properly should have been, the risk probably would have been approved.

In cases of new construction, many applicants desiring to have commitments for insured mortgages have not had the necessary assets to bring the dwelling to completion, at which stage an insured mortgage could be placed on the property. Approval necessarily had to be refused, because if materials and labor had not been paid for by the time the mortgage became effective there would have been liens against the premises. Arrangements for the complete financing of a dwelling must be made before an application can be acted upon favorably.

Often approval is denied because the amount asked under the mortgage is in excess of 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property. This is due many times to the fact that the applicant uses the "cost to him" as a basis for appraisal, and he has actually paid an excessive price for the house.

Income cannot always be accepted as satisfactory, even though the annual total of revenues of the parties interested in the property appears to be sufficient. In such cases the application will not be accepted.

In other reported cases where the income was sufficient, alimony has been the ground for refusal of insurance. A man making $300 a month but who is liable for a $100 per month alimony payment cannot base his credit position on his gross income but on his net. Deducting this prior claim on his income it was found that the assured income was insufficient to justify granting the mortgage.

Beautified Privacy, Seclusion

In scores of communities throughout the country are "back alleys" and unsightly airshafts between buildings. Both health and comfort may be served by such improvement projects as illustrated above. Neat flagstone paving, a decorative fountain, occasional trees, vines and shrubs, and painting or repointing of brick walls produce a delightful transformation. Marked increase in property values and rental frequency may be achieved by such modernization. Funds with which to accomplish such results are obtainable at private financial institutions operating under the Federal Housing Administration's Modernization Credit Plan.

BORROWERS ARE PREFERRING LONG PERIOD LENDING

Twenty-Year Maximum On FHA Plan Found To Be Extremely Popular

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Study of a sizeable group of mortgages insured by the Federal Housing administration reveals that the people prefer to negotiate loans for round periods of years.

Twenty years, the maximum fixed by the National Housing act, is the most popular period. About half (48.04 per cent) were written for that length of time. Fifteen years was the next most popular period, constituting one-sixth the total number. About 10 per cent of those negotiating mortgages did so for a 10-year period. Between the 10, 15, and 20-year periods there were only a few maturity dates.

In negotiating an insured mortgage the borrower has two possible methods of determining the period the loan has to run. One is to do so arbitrarily, setting down a date by which he desires to complete his contract. The other is to consider the amount of his income and from that decide how much he will pay every month in order to discharge his obligation.

If the latter method is determined on, it is probable that the maturity date will fall in some "off year" anywhere along the scale up to 20. In the opinion of certain Federal Housing administration officials, this method has advantages over the "round number of years" method. Chief among them is that it may emphasize in the mind of the borrower the desirability of discharging the obligation as rapidly as possible, so that he may save on interest and service charges.

FLOOR REPAIRS SHOW INCREASES

Stimulated by the Federal Housing Administration's modernization credit plan there has been a trend lately toward dressing up the floors in all kinds of commercial and public buildings, according to building supply men. Owners are showing a growing realization that more customers will be attracted to bright, clean-looking establishments. This is particularly true of stores, shops, restaurants and the like. It is not enough to decorate walls and ceilings nowadays; dingy floors have no place in the modern scheme. The mode, it is found, is reaching not only into commercial buildings but also into schools, public libraries, hospitals and offices.

LOW GAS PRESSURE

If the pressure in your gas jets seems to be low, do not immediately blame the gas company. First try cleaning the burners. Run a wire into the orifice and clean off all accumulated crystals. Clean the inside of the burners with a percolator brush. You will be surprised how much dirt will be gotten out.

PUBLIC PLACES FAITH IN FHA

Builder Notes A General Reaction To Better Housing Standards

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"The general buying public is rapidly becoming educated to the fact that houses being erected on which there are Federal Housing administration commitments and which are being inspected by the Federal Housing administration are properly constructed," according to J. W. Connolly, executive of the Allwood Land and Mortgage company, Inc., Allwood-Clifton, N. J.

"In many instances," he said, "prospective buyers have advised us that inasmuch as the building has been approved by the Federal Housing administration they are confident they are getting a well-constructed home. This is also of great assistance to us in selling because of the fact that when we state we have a Federal Housing administration commitment on the home it is not necessary to go into extensive detail on the construction of the house."

HOME COURSE ORGANIZED AT OHIO SCHOOLS

Home Planning, Financing Taught Students As Economic Advantage

OXFORD, O.—Feeling that colleges and universities throughout the country should cooperate with popular trends in government, the architectural department of Miami university has announced the introduction of a course in home planning in unity with the efforts of the Federal Housing administration to make the United States "home conscious."

Introduced this year under the direction of Professor David Maxfield, of the Fine Arts school, the purpose of the course is to teach students in a nontechnical way the intricacies of home planning, construction, financing, etc.

Unusual interest has been shown by students, Professor Maxfield says. Since governmental agencies are making it possible for citizens to own their own homes in the future, it is believed that students are naturally interested in information which will enable them to cooperate with the government more fully.

The group is now engaged in studying pamphlets distributed by the Federal Housing administration discussing home planning and construction. Governmental financing of building will be a later study of the students enrolled in the course.

The course, open to all students in the university with the exception of architectural majors, has proven especially popular among seniors. University officials consider it one of the most valuable courses introduced at Miami in several years.

CREAKING STAIRS

When stairs creak it means that some portion of their construction has given way. Perhaps the wedges that are shoved into the grooves of the string have come loose—or the wooden member against the wall into which the treads (steps) and risers (perpendicular pieces at the backs of the treads) fit. More likely the treads and risers have sprung away from each other.

So first take off the moulding that covers the joint between the tread and riser of the offending step where the tread overhangs the riser. If there is a gap, drive a wedge—the thin edge of a shingle will do—into the crack as far as you can and then cut off the shingle flush with the face of the riser and replace the moulding.

If the trouble is in the string, with the stair open underneath, take out the wedge of the musical step, clean them of old glue, reglue them, and drive them in as tight as you can. Put nails behind the wedges to hold them up tight until the glue can dry. If the stair is not open underneath, get a carpenter.

Noise Elimination Brings Profit To Cafes, Restaurants

Noise elimination has brought advantages to hundreds of restaurants, cafes, and hotel dining rooms which can be readily measured not only in terms of customer satisfaction and good-will but also by increased income of such establishments.

Noise in restaurants is not only disturbing to an extent that it may drive away customers but it has been proved to be a hindrance to digestion. Restaurant owners recognize the fact that most customers prefer quiet surroundings while dining and have stilled the buzz of conversation and the rattle of dishes and silverware by the installation of acoustical treatment on the ceiling and sometimes the walls.

In one case a Detroit restaurant had a sound-absorbing ceiling put in and subsequently noted a six per cent gain in business, despite the fact that the month in which the increase occurred was normally one of the dullest in the year.

The careful measurement of the noise level in another acoustically treated dining room disclosed that 300 people could dine in it, after installation of the noise-deadening material, with no more disturbance than was previously occasioned by the presence of only 90.

Dining rooms are not the only portions of restaurants and cafes which have been given noise-control treatments. The irritating clatter of pots and pans and dishwashers in the kitchens has been deadened and isolated in many cases by scientific applications of noise-absorbing materials to the ceilings and walls.

Sound-deadening jobs are of the type eligible for modernization loans made by private financial institutions operating under the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing administration.

SILENT LIGHT SWITCHES

Mercury tube electrical switches are being installed in hospitals and other buildings where it is desirable to have silent operation of light controls.

These switches are also appropriate for use in nurseries, where a clicking switch will often disturb a sleeping child.

Dramatic Newspaper Film Hailed As One Of Season's Big Hits

A newspaper story by, of and with newspaper people—that's "Exclusive," the drama opening today at the Paramount theater.

It was written by a newspaperman, produced by a newspaperman, at least one of the men who adapted it for the screen is a newspaperman, its feminine star is a newspaperwoman and another—as far as the screen is concerned at least—is one of America's best known reporters.

The author of "Exclusive" is John C. Moffitt, formerly with the Kansas City Star, who was recently called one of America's outstanding film critics. He now writes exclusively for the cameras. The producer is Benjamin Glazer, one time dramatic, music and art critic of the Philadelphia Press, and numbered among America's "six best writers."

The feminine star of "Exclusive" is beautiful Frances Farmer, formerly staff correspondent of one of the large news gathering agencies, who came to pictures after completing a year in Europe on a "roving assignment." She portrays the role of a muck-raking newspaperwoman whose principles conflict with those of her reporter sweetheart, Fred MacMurray, and her editor father, Charlie Ruggles.

One of the screen play writers is Rian James, formerly with the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, who is now writing motion picture scenarios for Paramount Pictures.

The records do not disclose whether Charlie Ruggles has ever worked for a newspaper but as far as America is concerned he is Reporter No. 1. This is by virtue of the many newspaper roles he has portrayed, his first being in the sensational success, "Gentlemen of the Press." For the most part these have been comedy roles so the Ruggles of "Exclusive" will come as a distinct surprise to film-goers. While there is plenty of comedy in the Ruggles role, it is the first dramatic role portrayed by the veteran comedian.

The cast also includes Lloyd Nolan, the reporter of the success, "King of Gamblers," Ray Holden, Edward H. Robins, Lee Bowman, Harlan Briggs, William Mansell, Ralph Morgan and many others.

St. Joseph

Miss Joy Nolan has returned to her home in Mer Rouge, La., after a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Edward J. Lynch.

Miss Marjorie Davidson was hostess at her home, entertaining a small party in honor of Mrs. Frances Russell of San Antonio, Tex. Bridge was played in the living-room of the family home. A plate luncheon was served to Mrs. Anne Rose, Mrs. V. C. Rives, Mrs. Holloman Cook, and Mrs. Frances Russell.

'Imitation Of Life' Shows At Capitol

Claudette Colbert Heads Outstanding Cast Of Entertaining Film

"MAGNIFICENT" may be a much abused word, even in Hollywood, but nothing else will adequately describe "Imitation of Life," the Fannie Hurst novel which John M. Stahl made into a picture for Universal, starring Claudette Colbert and Warren William coming today to the Capitol theater.

It is a magnificent production. Some notion of the scale on which this film has been produced can be gained from the fact that one single setting cost $10,000. Nothing about this set was extraordinary. The cost came about merely to make the set perfect and authentic.

In all, 48 sets were built for "Imitation of Life." One of these was a complete town house in New York City, containing 15 rooms a real kitchen and a garden behind it. This garden was sodded with actual grass and flowers were planted there. From the garden a view of the East river was seen in the distance. Model vessels capable of operating under their own power were made for this scene and a small scale replica of the Fifty-ninth street bridge was erected in the background. A system of tiny moving electric lights in procession across the bridge indicating traffic in the night scene shot in the garden was effective.

Absolute realism was insisted on for this production. In the early sequences, Claudette Colbert operates a restaurant, specializing in flapjacks. For the week spent in shooting this sequence, a tank of real pancake batter was mixed, cooked and eaten every day. The daily cost of the food used in this restaurant, bread, butter, tea, coffee, doughnuts, cake and pie was amazing. A replica of the famous Atlantic City boardwalk was built extending over 250 feet and furnished with shops and booths.

An apartment furnished in modernistic style was built for Warren William's home and the New York town house which was Miss Colbert's home was furnished in every room in Adam style from fireplaces to picture mouldings. A deep sea fishing expedition was outfitted to bring in a collection of rare fish to stock nine small aquariums in the setting representing Warren William's study. William is a marine scientist in the picture. This expedition was out of sight of land for five weeks. A fishing ship had to be chartered for the voyage. Tank trucks were used and filled with sea water to bring the fish to the studio in their own element. The setting itself has said at this initial expense, cost upward of $10,000 to outfit, with its plate glass tanks and sheet iron reservoirs from which they were refilled.

MOREHOUSE L. S. U. ALUMNI TO MEET

BASTROP, La., Aug. 24.—(Special)—Major James Perry Cole, dean of student affairs of Louisiana State university, will address L. S. U. alumni, students, prospective students and friends in Morehouse parish at the annual parish alumni meeting to be held here Thursday night, September 2. The group will enjoy a chicken barbecue at the Morehouse Country club, beginning at 8 p.m.

This meeting will be held in connection with alumni week, which is sponsored by the Louisiana State University Alumni federation. Similar meetings are being held throughout the week of August 30 to September 3.

Following the barbecue, Major Cole will speak to the local meeting, and it is said that he will have many interesting things to tell alumni, former students and prospective students concerning the university. In addition to the dean's talk, the meeting will hear brief talks by an alumni, a present student and a prospective student.

The parish alumni committee is composed of E. F. Madison, chairman, T. H. Milliken and J. R. Fuller, all of Bastrop. The student club committee is composed of Alon Andrews, Bastrop, chairman, Mabel Sharp, Davenport, Mer Rouge, and Harold Hudson, Bastrop.

BASTROP HOTEL BUILDING SOLD

Life Insurance Company To Use Structure To House Offices

BASTROP, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—The United Industrial Life Insurance company, whose main offices are located here, recently purchased the Inn hotel building and lot on the corner of Jefferson and Washington streets, in one of the largest real estate transactions ever made here. The entire two-story brick building, which houses the hotel, cafe, and two offices in the rear, was bought from the Rosario Scalia estate, but the purchase figure was not revealed.

The insurance company expects at a future date to remodel the entire building and transform it into a modern office building, F. P. Robinson, president of the company, revealed. At present the building is being rented to A. B. Calhoun, who has occupied it for some time.

Expansion within the insurance company has necessitated removal of the offices to the uptown district, and they will soon be located in the Jefferson street office formerly used as a WPA warehouse, Mr. Robinson stated. The offices will be moved as soon as the space can be remodelled to suit their needs, he said.

At an early date the company will refinish the exterior woodwork of the building, rebuild awnings and improve the general appearance of the building. The building was constructed in 1924 at a cost of several thousand dollars.

At the company's annual stockholders' meeting held recently the following officers were named for the coming year: F. R. Robinson, re-elected president; John Blanchard, Jr., Natchitoches, vice-president; J. R. Ludlum, Bastrop, secretary; M. Hugo Spier, Bastrop, treasurer The board of directors is composed of the above officers, and John Blanchard, Sr., Natchitoches, J. R. Fuller, Bastrop, and H. Webb Madison, Bastrop.

MISS AMERICA

Rose Veronica Coyle, charming Philadelphia girl, who won the coveted title of Miss America, 1936, will relinquish her crown to the new title-holder at Atlantic City this year in September. Miss Coyle has made many personal appearances in the finest theaters throughout America. She made movie tests for Warner Bros., and 20th Century Fox Hollywood studios and expects to start her screen career in the near future.

Miss Gussie Short of Winnsboro, as "Miss Louisiana," is a foremost contender for the crown to be relinquished by Miss Coyle at the beauty pageant to be staged next month in Atlantic City.

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus To Be In Monroe Sept. 10

Circus days are here again.

Near the Illinois Central depot yesterday stood a white-enameled railroad car, emblazoned with gold letters.

It served as a rolling hotel and operations base for the vanguard of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, copiously billed for afternoon and night exhibitions in Monroe on Friday, September 10.

Forty men and five motor trucks, accompanying the white car, spread news of the show's coming throughout the city and vicinity.

Bringing 700 persons and more than 1,000 animals, Hagenbeck-Wallace will stretch its acres of canvas over the large expanse of vacant land where Plum street and the Missouri Pacific railroad intersect.

Monroe's first circus of the season, it will have among its headlined performers "Hoot" Gibson, of "Western" film fame, distinguished as the only movie cowboy ever to have won a real rodeo prize for proficiency in riding, shooting or roping.

Also prominently programmed will be Terrell Jacobs, "the new lion king," who trained jungle beasts for the recent "Tarzan" movies, and who now faces 40 lions and lionesses in the "big cage" at every performance of the circus.

"Poodles" Hanneford, noted riding clown; Jeanette May, Europe's champion woman aerialist; Alicia Villa, equestrian daughter of the late Pancho; the Great Wongs, Chinese acrobatic thrillers; the Flying Vassars and hosts more are included in the spangled caravan.

Aboard them will be 26 elephants, hundreds of fine horses, caged beasts of many exotic species, and, dearest to the heart of every true circus fan —57 clowns.

MUSIC FACULTY NOW SELECTED

Two-Year Course Given At Northeast Center Of L. S. U.

Dean C. C. Colvert of the Northeast Center of Louisiana State university, announces that the music department of the institution this fall will be especially capable. Advance indications are that the registration will be large, the dean said.

Roger C. Frisbie will continue as head of the music department and will teach theoretical piano and pipe organ. Dallas Goss, head of the department of voice, will teach voice and music appreciation.

Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton will give instruction in piano.

Lowrey Jefferson will instruct in brasses and reed instruments, while Mrs. Roger C. Frisbie will teach violin.

The courses given are such as to qualify for credits for the first two years in college and the dean also called attention to the fact that in addition to the wide range of subjects taught that the college maintains a high grade orchestra and both men's and women's glee clubs. The women's glee club is instructed by Mr. Frisbie while the men's glee club is in charge of Mr. Goss.

Both the men's and women's glee clubs have in years past made outstanding records for performance and have visited many cities and towns of northeast Louisiana to give programs which have been regarded as possessing exceptional merit.

NEWELLTON YOUTH SEVERELY INJURED

NEWELLTON, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Ed Hawkins, son of E. I. Hawkins, prominent business man, was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident about four miles south of town.

Eye-witnesses of the accident reported that young Hawkins was traveling at a fairly rapid speed when his motorcycle began to swerve and struck the ground sideways, carrying him over 100 feet before stopping. The motorcycle was completely demolished.

Hawkins was a member of the Newellton High school football team last year and was being groomed this year to be the Bears' first-string center. If no complications arise he may be able to join the team by the middle of the season, but his loss will be sorely missed during the early season games, it was stated.

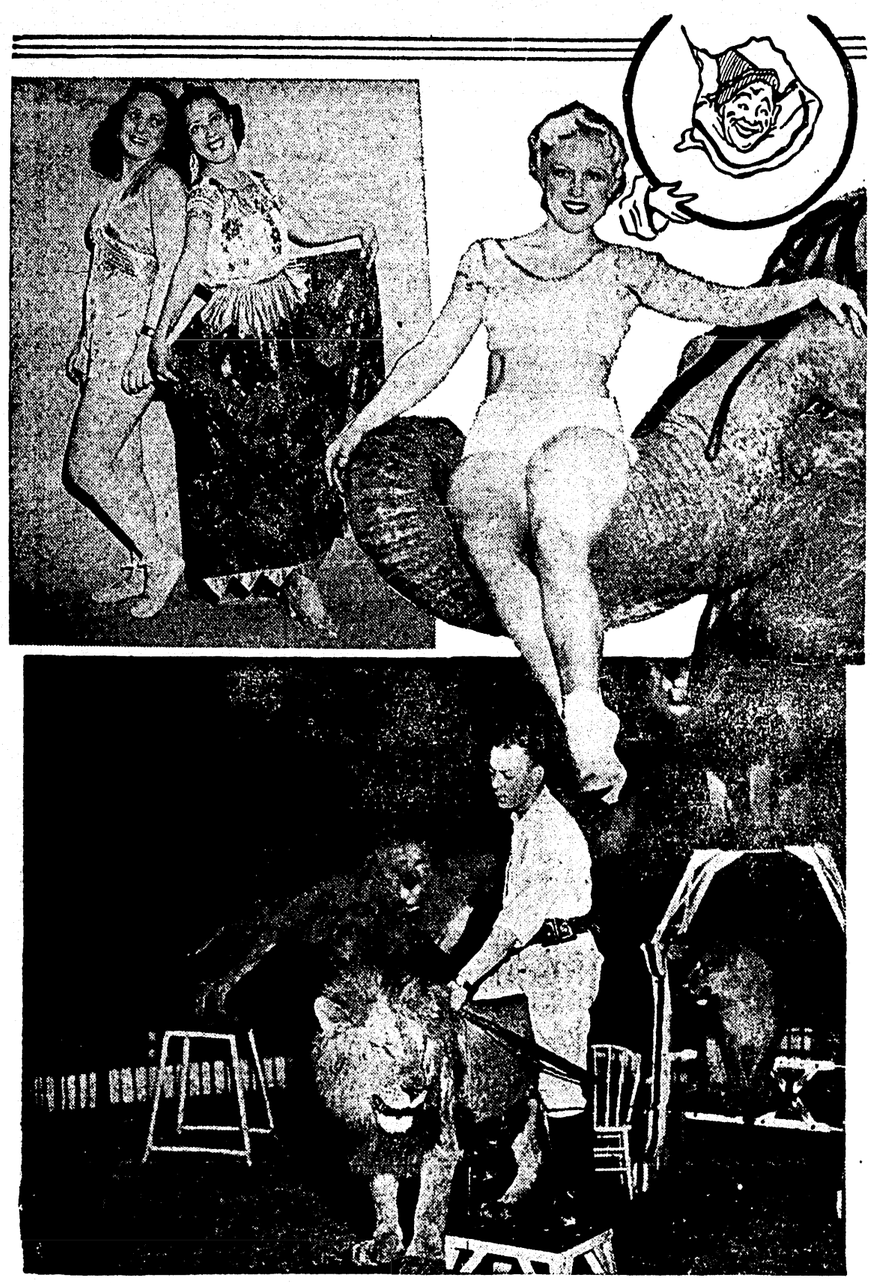
CIRCUS PLAYROOM

An attic playroom decorated in circus motifs will appeal to children and will create a bright, attractive room.

The walls may be painted with gay stripes to represent a circus tent. Just below the ceiling wire, carry the light color of the ceiling down several inches in the form of a scalloped top.

Silhouettes of animals, clowns, balloon vendors, etc., may be cut from books and magazines and applied to the walls. These pictures should be given a coat of shellac to prevent the edges from curling.

NOTED STARS WITH HAGENBECK-WALLACE CIRCUS



Here's a photographic preview of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, coming to Monroe for matinee and night exhibitions on Friday, September 10. Upper left are shown, back to back, two aces of the canvas hippodrome. In Spanish costume is Senorita Alicia Villa, daughter of the late Pancho. The other is Dorothy Alden. Senorita Villa rides unruly horses. Miss Alden rides a high trapeze. Upper right, Miss Patricia Harrington sits nonchalantly on the nose of her performer pal, "Pete." Below, Terrell Jacobs, "lion king," poses astride one of his tawny subjects, whose placid mien belies a sporadic tendency to gnaw the Jacobs knee.

Norway's climate is mild and moist on the west coast, but cold and dry in the interior and in the north and east sections.

SALE OF BONDS GIVEN APPROVAL

Caldwell Board Okays Transaction To Build Columbia School Annex

COLUMBIA, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—The Caldwell parish school board in session Wednesday, approved the sale of $50,000 in bonds to Weil and Company of New Orleans for the purpose of obtaining funds for the erection of an annex to the Columbia High school, it was announced by T. L. Johnston, superintendent of Caldwell parish schools.

Complete plans for the proposed addition to the high school have not been made. The school board has applied to the Works Progress administration for a government grant to aid in construction of the proposed building, but as yet no approval has been announced by the WPA.

The bonds were sold at four per cent par and accrued interest, including a premium of $101.25, it was stated.

School board members present at the meeting Wednesday were J. L. Shipp, ward 1; P. H. Martin, ward 2; C. C. Hargrove, ward 3; J. W. McKeithen, ward 4; E. B. Steele, ward 5; J. O. Whitten, ward 6; S. B. Harrelson, ward 7; L. A. McPherson, ward 8; W. D. Fischer, ward 9; and M. E. Joiner, ward 10.

BUSINESS WOMEN CONDUCT MEETING

The Business and Professional Womens' club held its first program meeting of the year Tuesday, August 24, at the clubhouse on Jackson street. Mrs. Dora Anish and Miss Mable Hood gave a report on the "National Federation of Business and Professional Womens' Convention" held at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Anish and Miss Hood gave the club members a report on the meeting and said the climax to the convention was the endorsement of the "equal rights amendment" and at one dinner there were 1,500 women. The program that the Business and Professional Womens' club will undertake this year will be "Our Town's Business" which is the national program of the Business and Professional Women's club. Business and Professional Women want to know more about the work that is going on in their town and community and feel that this program will create an opportunity for an understanding toward local conditions, it was stated.

Some of the topics to be studied this year are: "How We Get A Living," "What Controls Business," "Social Factors Raising Living Standards," "What We Buy and Sell Within the United States," and "Trade and Labor Organizations."

6 ZONES FORMED BY OPTOMETRISTS

Convention Appoints Board Member For Each Division Of Louisiana

Dr. T. A. Brulte Monroe optometrist, who was elected first vice-president of the Louisiana State Association of Optometry at the association's annual convention held in New Orleans, announced here yesterday important changes in the constitution of the organization providing for the division of the state into six zones, each under the direction of a board member, the purpose of which is to assure greater efficiency in the administration of the organization's affairs. The zones and their director were named as follows:

Northwest, Dr. Clay; northeast, Dr. Hornberger; southwest, Dr. Mornhinveg; southeast, Dr. White; central, Dr. Bordelon, and metropolitan, comprising the New Orleans area, Dr. Geneway.

Dr. Brulte declared this year's convention was the most successful and interesting ever held by the association. One of the important matters taken up by the organization was the necessity of requiring thorough eye tests for driver's license applicants which was urged by Dr. J. Otis White of Baton Rouge.

It was pointed out by Dr. White that no state in the union subjects applicants for driver's license to an adequate eye test, although it has been clearly shown that the coordination of hands and eyes is the deciding factor in safety or lack of safety while driving.

Discussions by prominent optometrists of the state disclosed the fact that defective eyes affect only eight per cent of American school children; defective vision attacks 57.8 per cent, Dr. Brulte reported.

"People do not have bad eyes, they have untrained vision," was a statement made during the convention session by Dr. A. M. Skeffington, who advanced a revolutionary theory in regard to vision, Dr. Brulte reported.

"Dr. Skeffington is the author of this revolutionary theory in optometry," said Dr. Brulte. "Seeing, he holds, is done with the mind, rather than with the eyes; glasses must be prescribed to correct mental habits, rather than to correct non-existent eye defects. People must be trained to see."

WPA TEACHERS TO ATTEND COURSES

Mrs. Kate B. Wilkins, supervisor of the WPA educational program in Monroe, announced Saturday that adult teachers have been instructed to report for a 10-day training course at one of several Louisiana colleges.

Nine white teachers will leave today for the Louisiana State Normal at Natchitoches, where they will be given a short course. Two nursery school instructors also will be given instruction at Louisiana State university for the next 10 days, starting tomorrow.

Negro teachers, eight in number, will be given similar studies at Southern university, Baton Rouge, Mrs. Wilkins said.

The nine white teachers who will leave to pursue the advanced course of instruction at the state normal are Miss Betha Pearce, Mrs. Pearl Williamson, Mrs. Genie Messersmith, Mrs. Homer Chilton, Miss Margaret Kirkpatrick, Miss Margaret Coates, James R. Murphy, Clyde A. Culver and Mrs. Ada M. Bender.

The nursery school instructors who will go to Louisiana State university for a short course are Mrs. Lois White and Mrs. George Ratchford.

REVIVAL CLOSES

EROS, La., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Eleven new members were added to the Baptist church at the close of a series of revival services. Rev. F. M. Shows, pastor, held the services and Rev. U. R. Lyons led the song service.

THE NEXT 'MISS AMERICA' . . .?

Miss Gussie Short of Winnsboro, who as "Miss Louisiana" will seek the title of "Miss America" at Atlantic City next month.

Beauty Contest Winner True Daughter Of Dixie

Gussie Short, Chosen 'Miss Louisiana,' Is Typical Southern Girl

Skyrocketting to fame from the comparative obscurity of a college campus, Miss Gussie Short, chosen as Louisiana's entry in the national beauty pageant to select "Miss America" for 1938, remains an unsophisticated north Louisiana lass, whose honey-sweet southern drawl is captivating in its sheer simplicity of expression and spontaniety.

Gussie, or "Miss Louisiana," to give her the title she won at the state fair in Shreveport last fall, is a winsome lass of 18 years. Her features are regular and her oval-shaped face is enlivened by two dancing brown eyes which look at a person with the frank expression of a girl without the least trace of being self conscious. There's a mischievous little dimple on the left side of her cheek near the corner of the mouth which comes into frequent play as she smiles—frequent play, because she often smiles. A mass of dark hair, parted in the middle, adorns a face which is not only pretty but has every indication of intelligence.

In the person of Gussie Short, the state of Louisiana undoubtedly has a real contestant for national beauty honors, and girls from other states in the union will have to be exceptionally beautiful to beat Gussie.

"Miss Louisiana" is a junior at Louisiana State Normal college at Natchitoches. She was selected as "Miss Winnsboro" and entered the lists at the Louisiana state fair where the judges unanimously selected her as the beauty queen of the Pelican state, and the state's entry at the beauty pageant to be held in Atlantic City next month.

Gussie, apart from the fact that she is a very beautiful girl, is typical of the average Louisiana lass who enjoys sports, dancing and parties. Her preference for boys inclines her to look with approving eyes on fairly tall, blond and blue-eyed lads, "something like Gene Raymond, the movie actor," as Gussie expressed it. She likes them athletic, and they must be good dancers, for dancing is one of the pleasures which loom large in Gussie's life. Perhaps the only thing she would rather do than dance is to swim. All manner of athletic activities in which girls indulge attract Gussie who shows her preference in this line by having enrolled for the course in athletics at the State Normal college.

When asked if she liked to attend parties, Gussie's eyes twinkled mischievously as she answered in the affirmative.

"But," she added, "they must be real nice parties, and my escort must promise to get me home by midnight at the very latest. You see, my mother and dad want me to have a good time but they'd worry if I remained out too late, and no good time is worth causing worry to the best parents any girl could possibly have." And Gussie meant it, too.

Gussie is confident that she stands a good chance of being chosen as "Miss America" for 1938. She discusses her chances frankly and there is no effort to assume a shy or self deprecating attitude on her part when talking about the coming beauty pageant. The winner of the title of "Miss America" will be given a trip to Hollywood and a screen test, and Gussie fervently hopes that she can have the chance to take that screen test.

"I believe I'd like to be in the movies," Gussie said. "I've had some experience acting in amateur theatricals at high school and college and believe I could soon catch on. I am thrilled with the prospect that I have a chance of breaking into the movies provided, of course, the judges select me as "Miss America."

Mrs. Nora Short, mother of "Miss Louisiana," plans to accompany her daughter to the beauty pageant at Atlantic City.

Monroe and Winnsboro merchants and the Lions club of Winnsboro, intrigued by the sweet personality of "Miss Louisiana," have consented to outfit Gussie for her journey and her bid for national beauty honors.

Gussie is scheduled to make a personal appearance on the stage of the Paramount theater Monday night at 8:30 o'clock.

In addition to contributions of Winnsboro merchants helping Miss Short prepare for her trip to Atlantic City, the following Monroe merchants and institutions have made presents to Miss Lousiana: City of Monroe $15, News-Star--World $20, Paramount theater $25, J. C. Penney Co., $5 and six pairs of silk hose, Ouachita Coco Cola Bottling Co., $5, Frank's, pair of gabardine and patent dress shoes, Montgomery Ward, complete assortment of lingerie, Dan Cohen Shoe store, pair of silver evening slippers, R. & A. Jewelry Co., a compact, Sears Roebuck and Co., a hat, City Bakery Co., a box of cakes, Liggett's, box of candy. Other contributions will be announced later.

FREE COUPONS WORTH TEN CENTS TO THOSE IN SNOWDRIFT CONTEST

Have you sent in your name for the two little Snowdrift men? The folks who think up the best names for them will share in cash awards totaling $12,500 with a first grand award of $5,000 cash.

Here's an extra added attraction: In appreciation for every complete entry you send in, the Snowdrift people will mail you a coupon good for 10 cents on the purchase of a three-pound or six-pound can of Snowdrift. So you are bound to save money, and you may earn big money.

No wonder everybody we have talked to is excited about the contest. It's a tremendous opportunity for all. You can judge that for yourself when you read the simple rules appearing in the Snowdrift advertisements in this newspaper. Good names for those two famous little Snowdrift men seem to pop into your head. And you too may be one of the 425 happy people who earn cash awards.

Read the rules in this newspaper, then buy a can of Snowdrift—and you're all set to enter. The rules explain how you send in your names suggestion with a strip from a Snowdrift can.

A names suggestion may come to you "just like that." On the other hand, using Snowdrift may give you a bushel of ideas. Snowdrift's creaminess and freshness and pure, white appetizing goodness will immediately suggest names. And then with Snowdrift making all your baked foods and your fried foods so much more delicious and healthful, you will have additional inspirations.

CHAPTER I

Smart attractiveness is no longer uncommon in the great uncharted, unpredictable world of young women. Nevertheless, it is a bit unusual when three very good-looking young women unlike in temperament, choose to share the same apartment. On the card over the mail box in the lobby downstairs was printed neatly, "Dearborn, Howard, and Dunn"—quite as if the combination were a law firm. And that card was really significant, for the three girls were certainly in the nature of a corporation.

Perhaps it worked because Kay was a striking brunet, Melita a dashing redhead, and Priscilla, a fast-talking blonde. Whatever the reason, the trio had roomed together for the past four years. In that time their arguments had been mild and infrequent, their good times many, and their boredom practically nil. Nothing was more natural than that the apartment occupied by "Dearborn, Howard and Dunn" be the goal of a great number of young men. "We get," Priscilla put it one day, "proposals in about equal proportions"

Thus far, none of the three had been interested, Jokesmiths, flictioneers, and movie directors to the contrary, the modern young business woman devotes comparatively little of her serious thinking to men. Kay, Melita, and Priscilla were not different from the rest. They had found the jobs they wanted. They were interested in them, and in the whole exciting, intricate business of living. Each supposed that some time she would fall in love, and that then nothing much else might matter. But they weren't forcing fate to make the play. Nowadays life was too much fun, too breathlessly changing, to make clever plans for escaping into a quiet corner. That, they felt, would come in good time. "Today a woman can keep youthful, in an emergency, anywhere this side of 50—so what's the rush?" That was Melita talking, one lazy Sunday morning when the subject of marriage had popped up over toast and coffee.

Their chief concern at the moment was a seasonal problem—where and how to spend their two weeks' vacations which they had arranged to coincide. The question of "where" was not as immediately pressing as the question "how." For one thing, their rent had been raised by an unfeeling landlord. For another, food prices were making a bigger dent in their household budget. Even then, they had to admit ruefully, they might have arranged it if the new summer clothes hadn't been so tempting.

"My mother used to have a joke about being dressed up with nowhere to go," Kay Dearborn said. "That's us."

"Anyhow," mused Pricilla, "we'll be spared the annual argument as to whether it'll be the seashore, a lake, or the mountains. It's just my luck. Last year you two promised me I could do the deciding this year. And I had a sweet idea."

"What was it?" asked Melita, wearily wadding up a sheet of budget figures and tossing it into the wastebasket.

"A boat trip," said the blonde Priscilla blissfully.

"Of course! On the Queen Mary."

"No, I was really serious about it, Kay. There are some excursion trips that would be a lot of fun for a change. I had it all figured out."

"Except for the matter of money," mentioned Melita.

Priscilla laughed good-naturedly. "My budget's no further off than yours and Kay's. And a blond is supposed to be dizzier than redheads and brunets."

In the end they had decided to take their medicine as cheerfully as possible, and spend their vacation period "resting" in town. They even had managed to convince themselves that it might be amusing.

Today as Kay Dearborn hurried home from the office, she couldn't rid herself of a feeling of disappointment. The lush tone of summer was in the air. It was the season of change, and Kay wanted change, too. She wanted to see new faces and new things. Only her brisk, youthful energy was setting her pace as she strode along this evening. The fact was that she detested the idea of returning to the apartment. No casual passerby could have known this: In her cool, smart summer outfit Kay Dearborn appeared alert and zestful. Tall and slender, she held her firm young chin high as she walked.

When she reached the apartment she found Melita and Priscilla already there. "We've been waiting for you," Melita said. "There's mutiny. We're going to have dinner down town."

"Why didn't you tell me? I didn't need the walk."

"Priscilla tried to telephone you, but you'd left the office. The management decided to defrost the electric refrigerator today, and Priscilla's lovely dessert is ruined."

Kay made a helpless gesture. "How do you always manage to make it on the day they defrost the box?"

"It's a gift," Priscilla said, getting up. "Come on, let's go." She stopped suddenly, went back to the table. "Oh, Kay here's a legal-looking letter for you. Melita and I have been expiring with curiosity."

Kay took the long envelope, looked at the unfamiliar name in the upper left-hand corner. "It's from Aurora," she said. "I've an uncle there I've never seen." She unfolded the letter and read hurriedly.

"What is it?" asked Priscilla impatiently, dropping down beside Kay.

Kay didn't answer at once. She was rereading the letter. Finally she looked at Melita and Priscilla with a comically perplexed expression. "This—this says that Uncle Ben died a month ago. He—he left me a yacht."

"A yacht?" exploded Melita and Priscilla together.

"That's what this says. And it's here. I remember that several years ago Uncle Ben made a cruise from here, but I didn't know that—"

"Well!" Priscilla cut in cheerfully, "I guess I'm psychic. Didn't I say it would be a boat trip"

Kay shot her a scornful look. "With what would we run a yacht?"

Priscilla looked puzzled. "I'm not sure. I think they run with gasoline, like an automobile, don't they?"

"What," Melita wanted to know, "do you suppose it would cost us to use the boat?"

"I haven't the slightest idea. But I remember reading that Mr. Morgan said anybody who had to ask that question shouldn't own one." Ruefully Kay looked at the letter again. "Dear old Uncle Ben! It was nice of him to think of me—but what I really needed was two yachts."

"Anyhow," cried Priscilla, jumping up, "let's have a look at the thing. Maybe we could find a nice sailor who'd run it for us—just for the trip!"

Thought He Was Doomed An Invalid For Rest Of Life

Suffered With Malaria And Complications; Most Severe Stomach Trouble Imaginable, Choked, Dieting Didn't Help, Kidneys Disordered Too; Gly-Cas Action Amazing.

"I had suffered with complications of malaria until I began Gly-Cas," said Mr. J. C. Wilson, Tioga, La. (just outside of Alexandria). "I developed the worst stomach trouble imaginable, could not retain any kind of food and when I tried to force myself to take nourishment it seemed I would almost choke to death. Gas formed in abundance and I bloated until times I thought I would die my heart felt so queer and even the strictest diet would not agree with me. My kidneys became disordered, was terribly nervous and couldn't sleep and thought I was doomed to be an invalid the remainder of my life. But once I began Gly-Cas my health troubles soon began to vanish."

MR. J. C. WILSON

"The first week's doses of Gly-Cas did more for me than the entire 20 years' treatment of other medicines," continued Mr. Wilson. "I am again enjoying all kinds of foods, gaining in weight and strength, kidneys do not trouble me at all, sleep fine the entire night through and feel I have a new lease on life. It is a real blessing to feel so well again after all those miserable years of suffering. I had no idea such wonderful results could be had as this new Gly-Cas gives and I feel it alone has saved my life."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. —Adv.

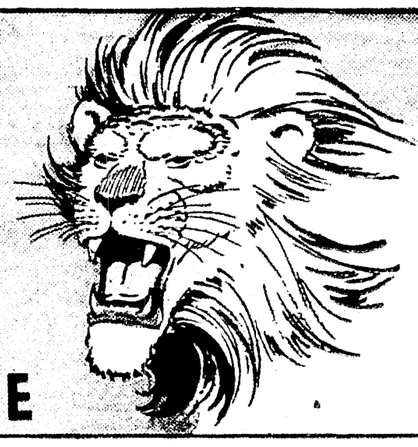
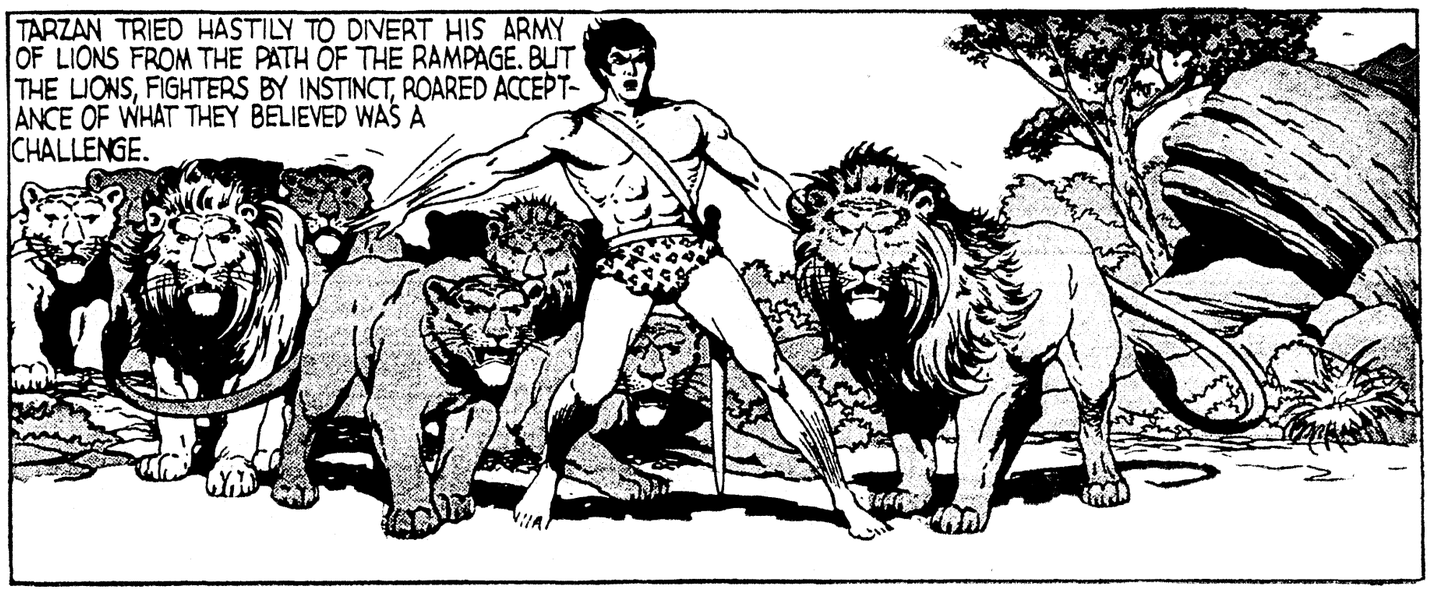
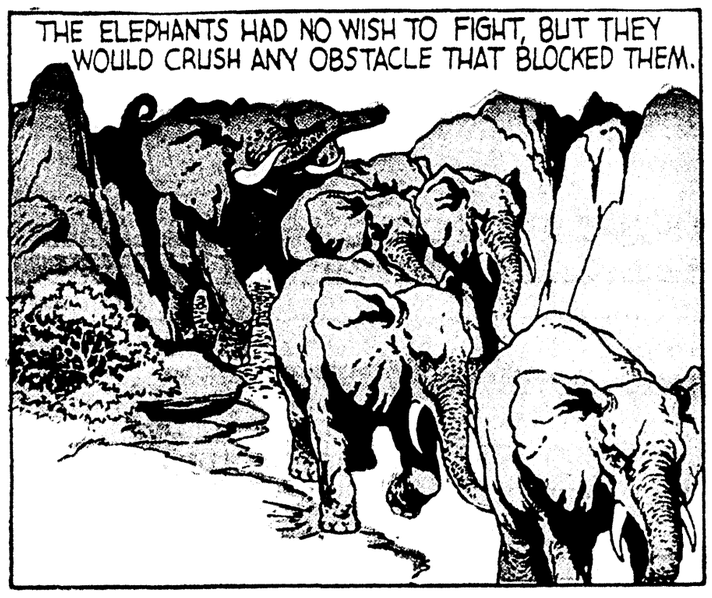
CHALLENGE



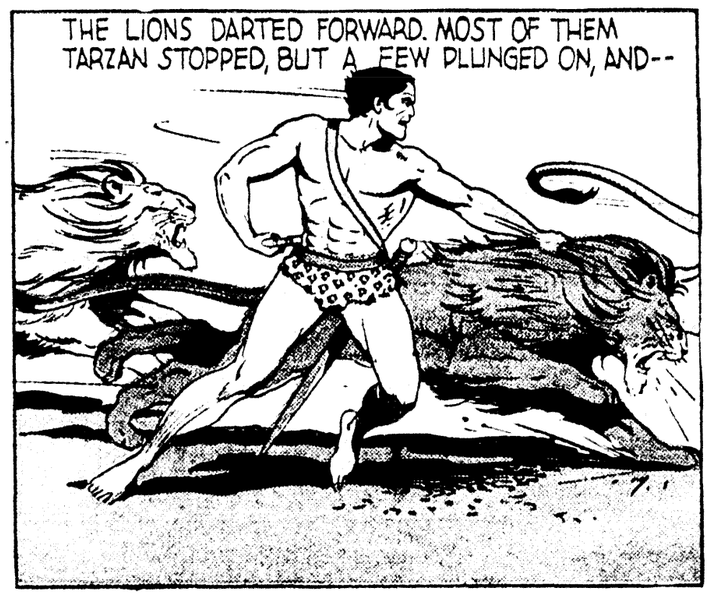
IN FURIOUS STAMPEDE, THE ELEPHANTS SWEPT DOWN THE NARROW VALLEY.



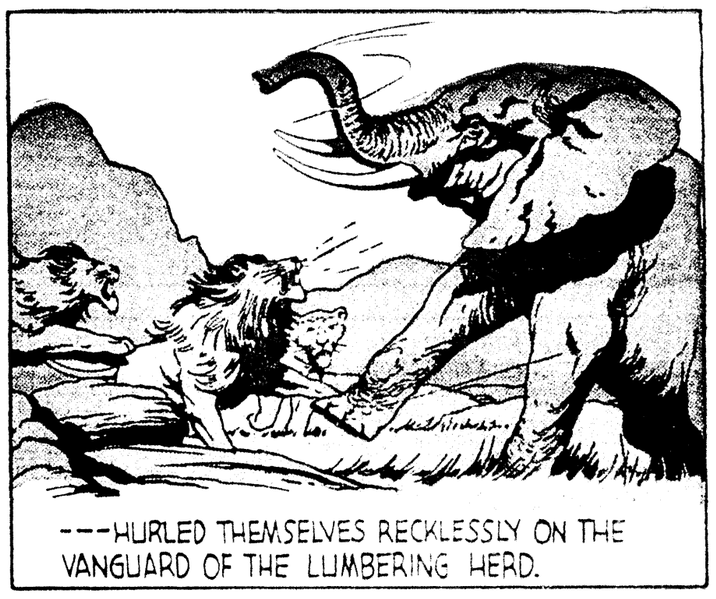
TARZAN TRIED HASTILY TO DIVERT HIS ARMY OF LIONS FROM THE PATH OF THE RAMPAGE. BUT THE LIONS, FIGHTERS BY INSTINCT, ROARED ACCEPTANCE OF WHAT THEY BELIEVED WAS A CHALLENGE.



THE ELEPHANTS HAD NO WISH TO FIGHT, BUT THEY WOULD CRUSH ANY OBSTACLE THAT BLOCKED THEM.



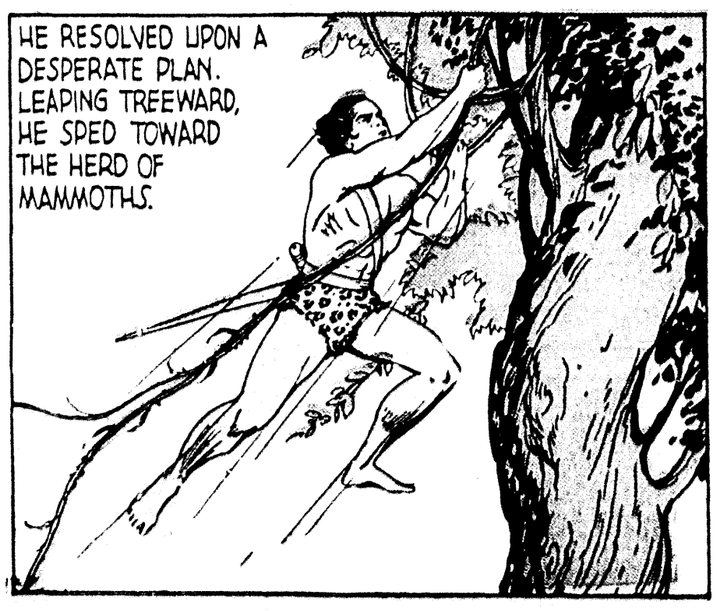
THE LIONS DARTED FORWARD. MOST OF THEM TARZAN STOPPED, BUT A FEW PLUNGED ON, AND--



---HURLED THEMSELVES RECKLESSLY ON THE VANGUARD OF THE LUMBERING HERD.

BUT THEY WERE TRAMPLED AND GORED, AND DASHED ASIDE BY THE IMPACT OF POWERFUL TUSKS. NOW THE OTHER LIONS, MADDENED BY SIGHT OF THE CONFLICT, RACED FORWARD.

TARZAN WAS DISMAYED, FOR HE WAS LOATH TO LOSE HIS ARMY OF SOLDIER LIONS



HE RESOLVED UPON A DESPERATE PLAN. LEAPING TREEWARD, HE SPED TOWARD THE HERD OF MAMMOTHS.

MEANWHILE

WELL, WHAT DO YOU THINK, CORONER?

THERE ARE NO MARKS ON THE BODY - THERE'S NOTHING. WHAT DO YOU THINK TRACY?

DOC, I'VE JUST BEEN DOING A LITTLE WORK IN MY LABORATORY. I KNOW WHAT KILLED MRS. MINTWORTH AND I THINK I KNOW WHO DID IT.

JOE PALOOKA'S BOXING COURSE
By HAM FISHER.
NOW WE COME TO THE RIGHT HOOK. THE HOOK IS MUCH MORE EFFECTIVE THAN A STRAIGHT PUNCH. IN USING A RIGHT HOOK YOU COME UP CLOSER TO YOUR OPPONENT. FOLLOW THROUGH WITH SHOULDER AND BODY. YOUR LEFT KNEE IS BENT INWARD A BIT.
JACK DEMPSEY LANDING A RIGHT HOOK TO THE JAW.
FOR THE RIGHT HOOK TO THE BODY---KEEP YOUR EYES ON THE SPOT YOUR GOING TO HIT. TRY AND LAND YOUR PUNCH JUST ABOVE THE BELT ON THE LEFT SIDE OF YOUR OPPONENT. THE DIFFERENCE BE-TWEEN THE STRAIGHT RIGHT AND HOOK IS THE CURVED ARM. NOW TRY FIRST A HOOK TO THE JAW AND THEN TO THE BODY.
DON'T WORRY ABOUT HOW T'GUARD YET. FIRST YOUSE MUST LEARN THE DIFFERENT PUNCHIS. THEN I'LL SHOW YOUSE HOW T'DEFENT YOURSELFS.

HERE'S A PIECE IN TH' PAPER WHERE A LIFE GUARD SAYS THAT THE WAY MOST ACCIDENTS HAPPEN ON THE BEACHES IS BY GUYS TRYING TO SHOW OFF IN FRONT OF DAMES.
I'LL SAY! I'LL NEVER FORGET TH' ACCIDENT THAT GUY GIVE YOU FOR TRYING TO GET HIS WIFE'S TELEPHONE NUMBER AT THE BEACH LAST YEAR.
HA!
HA!

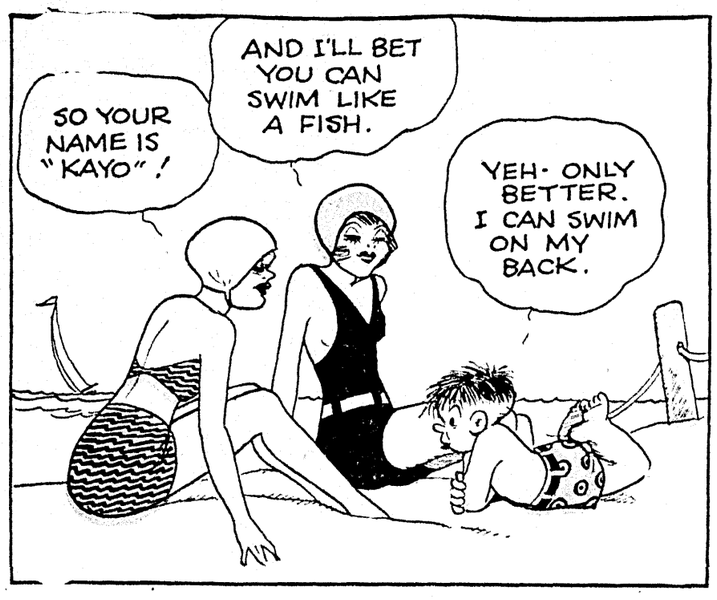
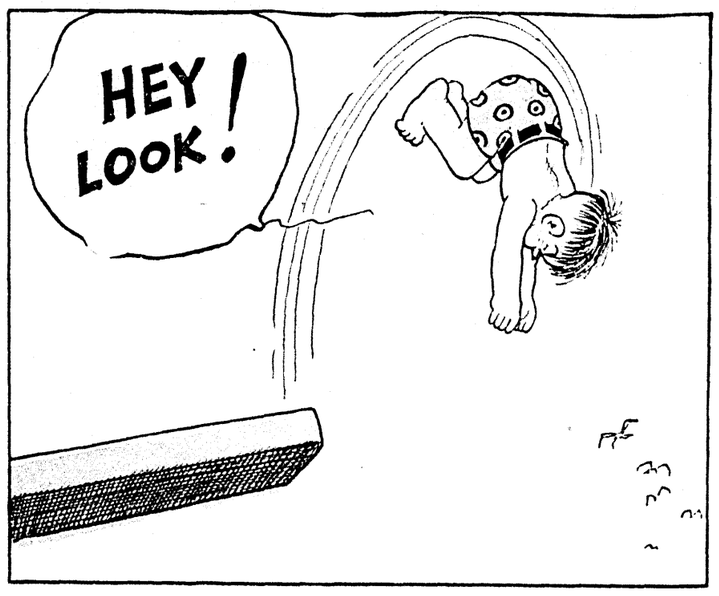
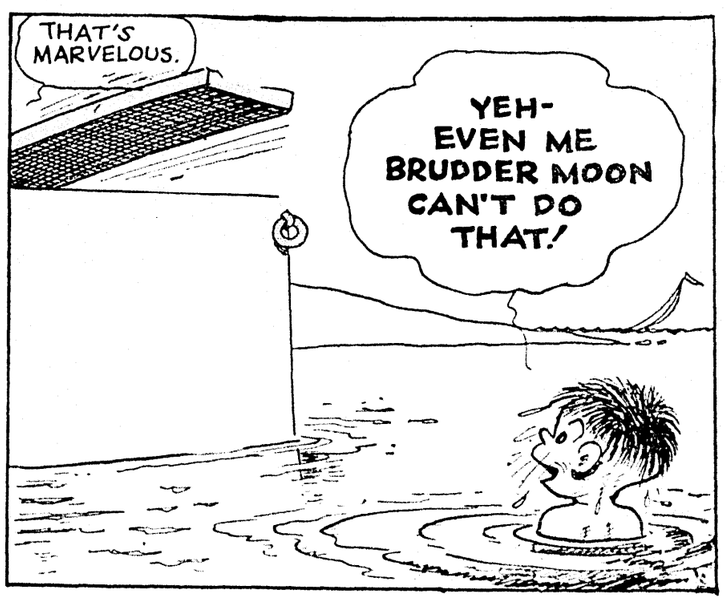
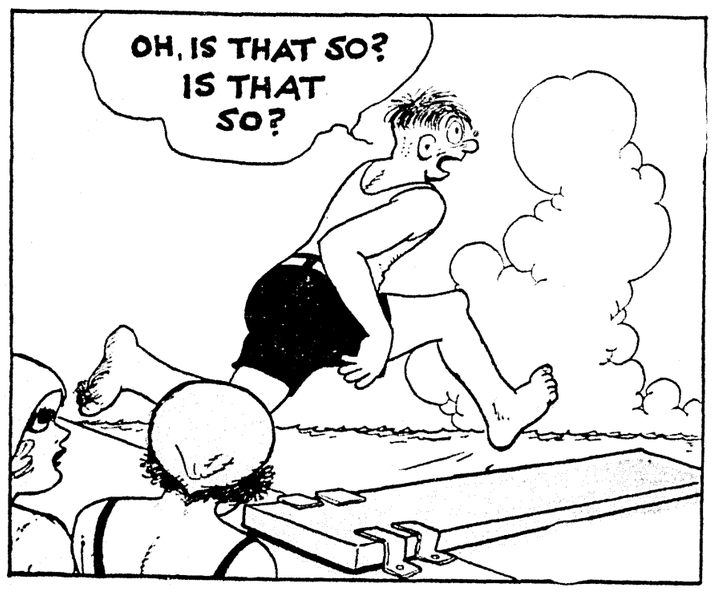
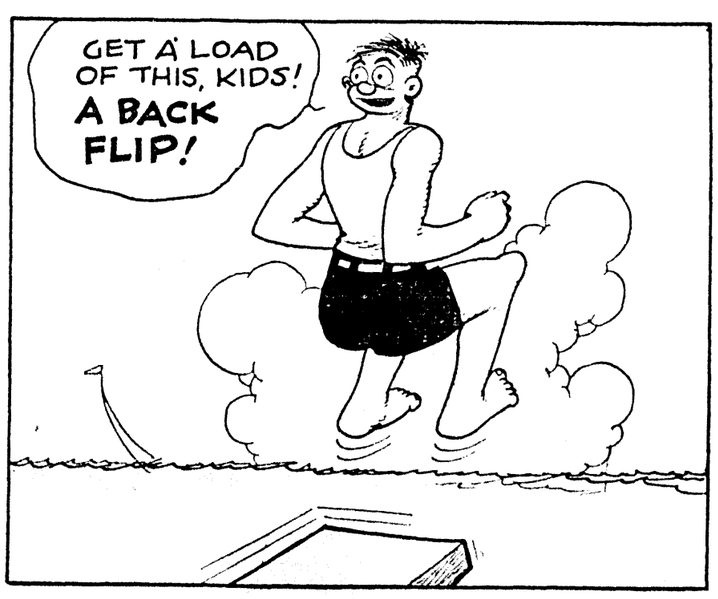
IF A SOCK IN TH' EYE AND A LIFE GUARD'S ADVICE DON'T MEAN NOTHIN' TO YOU- OKAY.

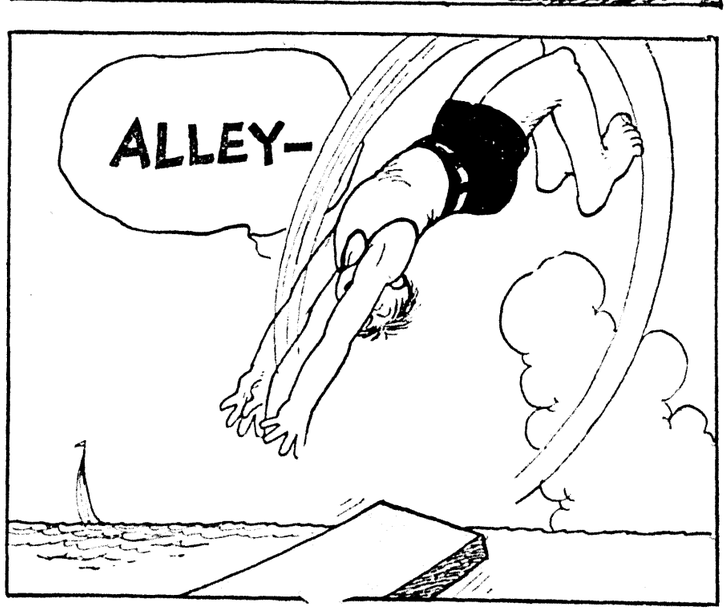


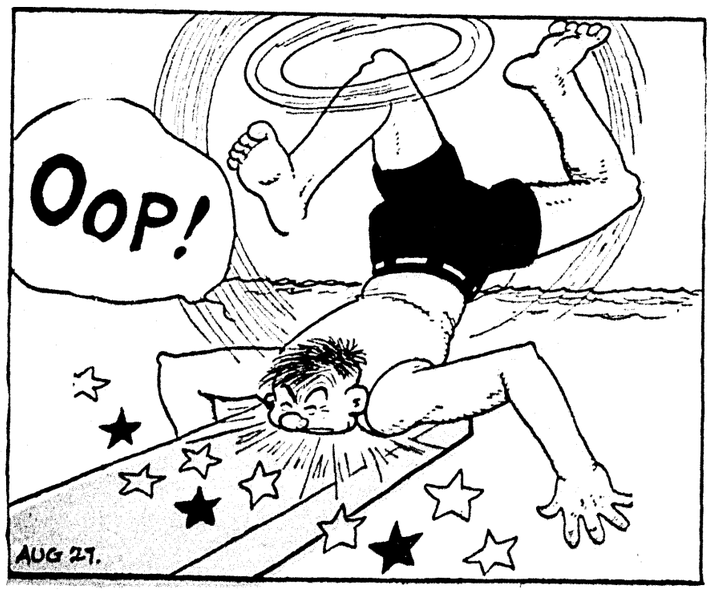


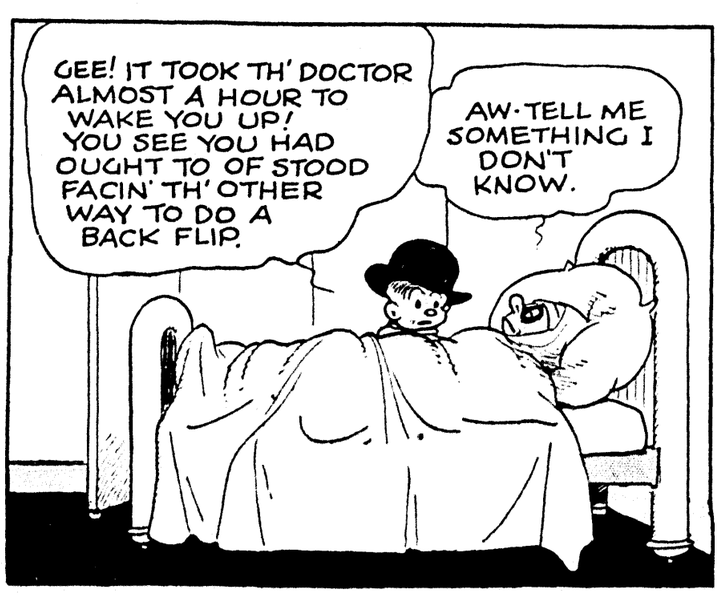












GEE! IT TOOK TH' DOCTOR ALMOST A HOUR TO WAKE YOU UP! YOU SEE YOU HAD OUGHT TO OF STOOD FACIN' TH' OTHER WAY TO DO A BACK FLIP.
AW- TELL ME SOMETHING I DON'T KNOW.

YOU BET I DON'T!

AND WHAT'S MORE, I'M TAKING NO CHANCES

YOU BEAST! I DEESPISE YOU! I HATE YOU! I WEEL KEEL YOU FOR THEES!

TWO DAYS LATER:

NO FOOD, NO MONEY, NO GUNPOWDER, AND THREE FLAT-FOOTED DUKES—ALL GENERALS. HOW THE BLAZES YOU EXPECT TO START A REVOLUTION ON THAT?

DON'T WORRY CHUM. WE ALSO HAVE A PRIVATE. A SPLENDID PRIVATE.

FIVE GENERALS AND A PRIVATE, BAH.

THAT'S A START! AS SOON AS WE OPEN A RECRUITING OFFICE, A MILLION MEN WILL SPRING TO ARMS.

HOO-RAY!

HA! THERE'S SPIRIT FOR YOU! WITH SUCH PRIVATES AS HE, WE'LL CRUSH TH' DICTATOR LIKE A CRUMB OF TOAST.

HUZZAH! HUZZAH!

CERTAINLY, MY GOOD FELLOW. CERTAINLY, WE ARE

ADVENTURE STAMPS

WHEN GREEKS WON INDEPENDENCE

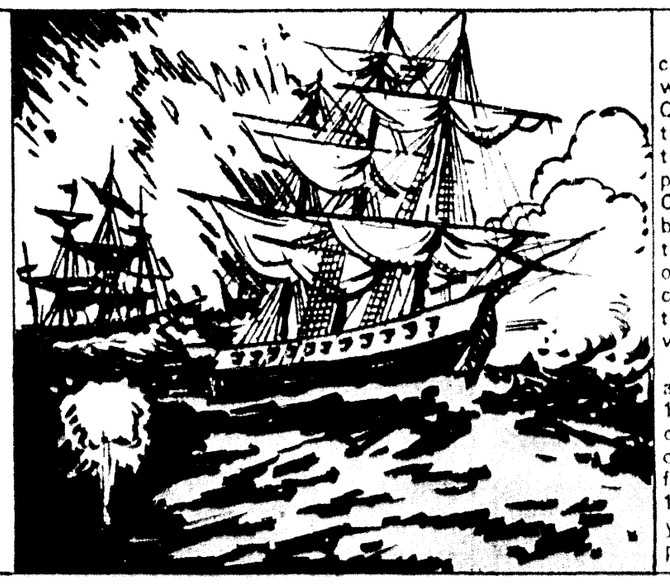
COPR. 1937 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

CENTURIES of intolerable oppression under Turkish rule flamed to a close for Greece at the battle of Navarino. Spurred by the countless atrocities of the Turks, portions of the English, French, and Russian fleets joined the Greeks on the afternoon of Oct. 20, 1827, and moved into the Bay of Navarino. There the combined allied force of 1324 guns faced the Turkish-Egyptian forces of 2240 guns.

Promptly at 2 o'clock, the first shots rang across the waters. Four hours later, the Ottoman fleet had ceased to be. Every armed ship was sunk, burned or wrecked. Fully 7000 men died on the Turkish side, while more than 200 allies lost their lives. Scores were wounded.



Immediately after the encounter at Navarino, influential world powers interested in the Grecian cause pressed the Sultan for surrender of further control over Greece. They were promptly rebuffed. Meanwhile, Count Capo D'Istria, who had been elected president of Greece, took his seat and proceeded at once to issue a proclamation declaring the end of three centuries of Ottoman rule. Thus was Grecian independence won.

There was very little fighting after Navarino, and finally in 1829, by the treaty of Adrianople, Turkey was obliged officially to acknowledge Hellene freedom. A stamp, issued in 1927 to commemorate 100 years of Grecian independence, pictures the Bay of Navarino.

STOP WORRYIN', ROUGH-HOUSE-WIMPY WILL TALK HIM OUT OF IT— ARF! ARF!
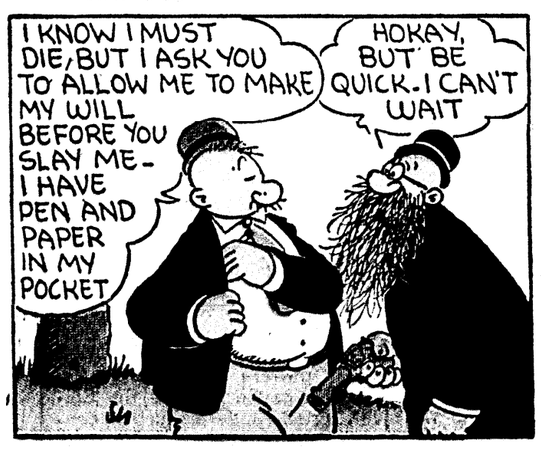
YER WRONG

I DON'T WANT TO WIN YER MONEY, SO I SUGGESTS A BET LIKE THIS— IF GEEZIL SHOOTS WIMPY I'LL STAN' ON ME HEAD ON THIS COUNTER FOR FIVE MINUTES— AN' IF HE DON'T YOU'LL HAVE TO STAN' ON YER HEAD
OKAY



I KNOW I MUST DIE, BUT I ASK YOU TO ALLOW ME TO MAKE MY WILL BEFORE YOU SLAY ME— I HAVE PEN AND PAPER IN MY POCKET
HOKAY, BUT BE QUICK— I CAN'T WAIT

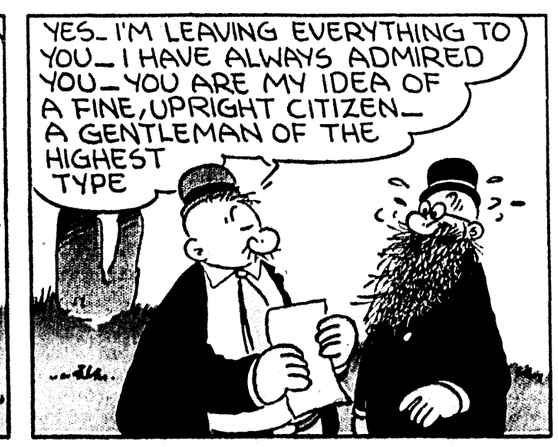
GEORGE W. GEEZIL? THE NAME SOUNDS FAMILIAR— HAH! OH— GEORGE W. GEEZIL! THAT'S ME!!!



YES— I'M LEAVING EVERYTHING TO YOU— I HAVE ALWAYS ADMIRED YOU— YOU ARE MY IDEA OF A FINE, UPRIGHT CITIZEN— A GENTLEMAN OF THE HIGHEST TYPE

MR. GEEZIL, YOU ARE ON A PAR WITH WASHINGTON, LINCOLN, CAESAR, NAPOLEON AND CLEO-PATRA
HMM— AIN'T IT SO? AIN'T IT SO? HAH! I AM UNDERSTOOD!

OR MAYBE I'M NO JUDGE OF PEOPLE
HAH! YOU ARE A FINE JUDGE— YOU ARE ALWAYS RIGHT— YOU SHOULD BE PRESIDENT, I HAVE SAID, AND I'LL VOTE FOR YOU

GIVE TO MY FRIEND, WIMPY BOY, SIX HAMBURGERS AND G.W. GEEZIL WILL PAY
